Corporate Profits Dip 3d Quarter In Succession

Expected Decline In Income Tax Collections Would Increase Deficit

By The Associated Press

Corporate profits dropped in the April-May-June period for the third consecutive quarter, the Commerce Department reported last night.

The impact was recorded immediately in national income figures, of which corporate profits make up about one seventh of the total.

The decline indicated a coming drop in corporate income tax collections that would help widen the mark by which Government income falls short of expenditures.

Department calculations put the total of second-quarter profits, before taxes, at $6,600,000,000, off 12 percent from the preceding quarter and down about 25 percent from the second quarter of boom-time 1948.

The department reported also that the national income slipped to an annual rate of $223,700,000,000 for the second quarter, from an annual rate of $226,300,000,000 in the previous quarter and $224,900,000,000 in second quarter 1948.

Decline Only Fractional

"Falling profit margins" played a big part in the downturn of total profits from the first to the second quarter of this year, the department said, noting that "sales declined only fractionally over the same period."

The extent that tax collections may fall short of previous expectations, due to this and other reasons, is now being circulated by Administration experts with a view to downward revision of earlier estimates of Government revenues for fiscal 1950, which ends next June 30.

And the Budget Bureau is preparing new estimates on both revenues and spending, in the wake of congressional adjournment.

Indications are that bureau figures will:

1. Revise the January estimate of $40,985,000,000 revenue down to the 38 billion dollar to 39 billion dollar range.

2. Boost the spending estimate from $41,858,000,000 to more than 42 billion dollars, and perhaps to 43 billion dollars.

Thus the outlook would be for a fiscal year deficit of more than four billion dollars at the least, compared with the tentative deficit projection of $873,000,000 by President Truman last January.

A 1949 drop in corporate profits would not be felt by the tax collector until March, when corporations start paying taxes on this year's earnings.

The Commerce Department said a part of the 12 percent drop in

Dollar-Devaluing Being Weighed, Rep. Taber Says

Representative Taber (R., N. Y.) said yesterday that Government officials "are considering further devaluation of the American dollar."

Taber said this is part of the Administration's "planned inflation" in the development of the "Truman welfare state."

Taber did not say how this would be brought about. Last Wednesday Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said once more that only Congress can change the price of gold and the Administration has no intention of asking it to do so.

U. S. Shells Out

Peanut Props Cost $35 Million in Year

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

One organization, the GFA (Georgia, Florida, Alabama) Peanut Association of Camilla, Ga., sold the Government almost 77 million dollars worth of peanuts last year.

Another concern, the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association of Gorman, Tex., sold more than 21 million dollars worth.

A third, the Growers Peanut Cooperative of Franklin, Va., unloaded $21,660,343 worth.

These three groups have divided up the peanut country and monopolize sales to Uncle Sam. A peanut grower, to come under the peanut price supports, is almost forced to belong to one of the three.

Most of this 120 million dollars worth of peanuts had been sold by June 30. About half was exported.

The Government picked up the tab for the final loss of about 35 million dollars. This loss is figured: 23 million up to June 30; an estimated $2,127,000 since June 30 and $10,222,000 in payments from Section 32 funds.

Section 32 funds are customs duties set aside to be used to dispose of surplus farm commodities, mainly through school-lunch programs, and contributions to public institutions.

In addition, the Commodity Corporation lent Southern farmers more than 50 million dollars on their peanuts last year, of which

Mo. Pacific And Dockers' Strikes End

By The Associated Press

Two far-reaching strikes were settled yesterday, but the two largest walkouts—in coal and steel—continued to bite into the Nation's economy.

The 45-day-old Missouri Pacific Railroad strike and the 176-day Hawaii dock workers walkout both ended yesterday.

Exact terms of the MOPAC agreement were not revealed. Some trains were expected to move by late today, and full operations were to be resumed in about three days.

The strikers, numbering 5000, were members of the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Enginemen and Firemen and Railroad Trainmen and of the Order of Railway Conductors. Their walkout forced the layoff of some 20,000 other Missouri Pacific employes.

In the prolonged strike of dock workers at five of Hawaii's six ports, the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union ordered its 2000 striking stevedores to return to work Tuesday and Wednesday.

The men struck May 1, demanding a raise of 32 cents in their $1.40-an-hour wage. This main issue was settled October 6 when they agreed to accept a 14-cent-an-hour raise immediately and another 7 cents next March 1. But the strike continued, pending settlement of side issues. These were settled one by one, except at the tiny sugar port of Mahukona.

Union leaders said work would be resumed in Honolulu and the

Supervisors Out After 3 Weeks In Struck Plant

Clairton, Pa., Oct. 23 (AP).—Those 315 marooned supervisors at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. plant were "freed" today.

CIO United Steelworkers Local 1557 and the company agreed on identification methods whereby the supervisiors can enter and leave the plant freely.

Most of the supervisors have been in the plant since the steel strike started three weeks ago. They said they were afraid to go out for fear they wouldn't be able to get back in.

Under today's agreement, the supervisors will be supplied with identity cards and the cards will be recognized at all times by the steelworkers pickets at the plant gates.

The supervisors have been doing maintenance work in the plant.

Police Rookie Kills Attacker On D. C. Street

While a large crowd of passers-by looked on, a rookie policeman yesterday shot and killed a man who was advancing on him with a blackjack.

Killed by a burst of bullets from the policeman's .38-caliber service revolver was Thornton A. Howard, 32, of 2236 11th st. nw., who had a police record dating back to 1936.

The policeman was Pvt. Harold V. Teague, 24, of the Thirteenth Precinct. He was appointed to the force last March.

The shooting took place shortly after 1 p. m. at Sherman ave. and Barry pl. nw.

Police said Howard had been a part-time mechanic at a filling station located on the southwest corner at that intersection.

After Servicing Car

Yesterday, Arthur Spyies, 50, of 437 Elm st. nw. accompanied a friend to the filling station so the friend could have brake fluid put in his car.

Spyies told police that after Howard had put in the brake fluid they were prepared to pay for the service and drive off. He said, however, that Howard insisted the car would have to remain there for repairs to the steering wheel.

Spyies said Howard locked the car and put the keys in his pocket; that in an argument which followed Howard struck him and knocked him down.

At this point Teague, patrolling his beat, approached the corner on the east side of Sherman ave. Spyies ran across the street to inform the policeman he had been assaulted.

While Spyies was talking to the policeman, Howard crossed the street and tapped Teague on the

Rep. Mansfield Reported Choice To Succeed Allen

By The Associated Press

Representative Mike Mansfield, (D., Mont.) a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, has been tapped to succeed George V. Allen as director of the United States propaganda campaign against communism, it was reported yesterday.

Informed sources said the Congressman has not yet decided whether to accept the job as Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs.

Allen is slated to become the new United States Ambassador to Yugoslavia, succeeding the ailing Cavendish W. Cannon, where he will keep a close watch on American interests in Marshal Tito's struggle with the Kremlin.

Remark Then Denied

Truman Reported as Feeling Strikes Will End in 10 Days

By V. R. Montanari
Post Reporter

A prediction that the coal and steel strikes would be settled within 10 days or less was attributed to President Truman yesterday by a close friend, who later denied making the remark.

The friend, Arthur Clarendon Smith, president of the Democratic Club of the District of Columbia, also reported the President told him we are on the verge of two of the most prosperous years in America.

Smith's report of the President's conversation was made at a Sunday breakfast of about 90 members of the Democratic Club. It came after Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's military aide and guest of honor at the breakfast, had made some brief remarks about "investigations."

The District Democratic leader visited the White House on Friday with William Fadler, vice president of the Democratic Club, and Elijah Stewart, vice president of the D. C. Young Democrats.

Reporters at the breakfast agreed that Smith quoted the President substantially as follows:

"I tell you, Arthur, we are on the verge of two of the most prosperous years in America.

"I think both of these strikes will be settled within 10 days, if not before."

In an earlier reference to the conversation, before General

Service Feud Blamed on Wrong Start

Sen. Elmer Thomas Wanted to Begin at Bottom in Drive For Unification

By The Associated Press

Senator Elbert Thomas (D., Utah), who helped referee the opening battles over military unification, said yesterday the current angry uproar will bring agreement nearer—not make things worse.

Thomas, as one of the fathers of the legislation that linked the formerly separate fighting services, is a veteran of interservice bickering and brawls.

Thomas told a reporter that the law got off on the wrong foot, however.

"I wanted to start and put them together at the bottom by joint education and training of the younger men and officers," he said. "What we finally did was jam them together at the top. That's the real cause of our present troubles. But it will work out."

"Real unification will take a lot of time and patience," the lawmaker added. "Actually there has been a lot of progress thus far.

"I've not followed it (the congressional investigation) too closely except through the headlines," Thomas said. "But they read pretty much like the same things we heard when the Navy and Marines and some members of Congress were fighting any unification."

"The real start on unification became possible when Congress reorganized itself and its committees in 1946 and combined the separate Military and Naval Affairs Committees into a single Armed Services Committee," Thomas said.

Leahy Is Confident Unification Will Work

Copyright, 1949, By the United Press

Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, the nation's senior military statesman said yesterday he is confident that service unification will "work out all right in the long run," despite current feuding among Army, Navy and Air Force leaders.

He cited experiences of World War II, during which he presided over the global strategy-planning of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff, as proof that service leaders can work together effectively when they really try.

Leahy retired from his high White House post last March after 52 years of distinguished duty.

The spectacle of active-duty military leaders engaging in a loud public squabble over the Nation's defense strategy wrung from him the remark that nothing like that ever happened during the war.

Never Passed Four Walls

"We had our differences, too, and they were sometimes pretty sharp," he recalled. "But we always managed to adjust them among ourselves. They never got beyond the four walls of the room in which the Joint Chiefs of Staff met."

Bidault Seeks New Cabinet For France

Middle-of-the-Road Leader Is Third to Try Since October 6

Paris, Oct. 23 (AP). — Georges Bidault, leader of the middle-of-the-road Popular Republicans (MRP), agreed tonight to try to form a new French government. France has been locked in a political crisis for 18 days, without a cabinet.

Bidault, who served as Chief of State in the provisional government in 1946 and later as France's Foreign Minister, accepted after party leaders conferred throughout the day under the deepening shadow that the impasse might lead to dissolution of Parliament and new elections.

He is the third to try since the previous government fell on October 6. President Vincent Auriol made the offer to Bidault after Edouard Herriot, 77-year-old president of the National Assembly, tried and failed to reconcile the warring views of his own Radical Socialists and the Socialists. The MRP previously had refused even to try to form a government in this crisis.

Tonight, even among Bidault's own party colleagues, there was scant hope that he could succeed where two others had failed. He said he would not start his actual negotiations until Monday.

In a speech today at Le Mans, in northwestern France, where he dedicated a war memorial Gen. Charles de Gaulle called the present political system in France a "scandalous spectacle" threatening the republic's existence. He described the governmental setup a "regime of parties." He called for reform of the constitution to establish a stronger executive, and new elections.

Yugo Airmen Warned Of Soviet Attack

Belgrade, Oct. 23 (NYHT).—Moshe Pijade of the Belgrade politburo told a group of Yugoslav aviators today that "it is still not known" whether the "madness" of the leaders of Soviet Russia will lead them to invade Yugoslavia to unseat Premier Marshal Tito.

He said that Yugoslavia was not in "direct danger" of attack, but that "we are sailing all the time on danger."

For Maryland

Vivian Simpson of Rockville Slated for Secretary of State

Miss Vivian V. Simpson, Rockville attorney of 241 Park ave., Takoma Park, Md., was reported last night as slated to succeed Bertram Lee Boone 2d, as secretary of state for Maryland.

Miss Simpson, who last month became the first woman president of the Montgomery County Bar Association, refused to confirm or deny the report, saying merely that she would rather refer all questions about the report to Gov. William Preston Lane, jr.

The Governor, attending a reception at the Executive Mansion in Annapolis, was not immediately available for comment but his secretary, Lou O'Donnell, declared that the report was probably not correct "at this time." O'Donnell also would not deny the report, however.

Asked late last night whether he was leaving office, Boone said, "I'm serving at the pleasure of the governor, you'll have to ask him about it."

"I just left the governor a little while ago," Boone said, "and I didn't hear anything about it."

Miss Simpson is a member of the Rockville law firm of Simpson & Simpson. The other member of the firm is her brother, Joseph B. Simpson, jr., former State's attorney of Montgomery County.

In addition to her private practice, Miss Simpson is vice chairman of a commission appointed by Governor Lane to rewrite the workmen's compensation laws of Maryland. She had previously served for seven years, until 1948, as the first woman member of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

A Washington native, Miss Simpson attended the University of Maryland but finished at George Washington University. She took her A.B. degree in 1924 and her law degree in 1927, starting her law practice the following year.

When former Gov. Herbert O'Conor appointed her to the Industrial Accident Commission, Miss Simpson was the first woman in Maryland history to be named to a major quasi-judicial post in the State administration.

Hoffman Again to Seek More Economic Unity In Western Europe

ERP Spending Aid Since April, 1948, Goes Over 7-Billion-Dollar Mark

European Recovery Plan spending went over the 7-billion-dollar mark yesterday.

The Economic Cooperation Administration announced a new procurement authorization of $10,081,000, to bring the total of money spent since April 3, 1948, to $7,008,869,000.

Congress has authorized ECA spending of $9,907,382,000 through the 1950 fiscal year ending next July 1.

ECA said in a special report Saturday that the United States will have to continue this type of subsidy unless it imports more European products and lowers still further its tariffs.

Yesterday, a report was prepared by a special mission headed by Wayne C. Taylor, special assistant to ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman. It said the American dollars were spent for:

Industrial goods, $3,284,354,000; food and agricultural commodities $3,169,598,000; ocean freight, $548,789,000, and technical assistance, $6,128,000.

Great Britan received $1,194,705,000 aid, while France received $1,510,091,000.

ECA Chieftain Off To Paris This Week; Regional Groupings Now Being Discussed

By Ferdinand Kuhn
Post Reporter

Paul Hoffman, the Economic Cooperation Administrator, is off for Paris this week on another quest for greater economic unity in western Europe.

He will try to persuade the Europeans that their only hope of becoming self-supporting by 1952, when the Marshall Plan ends, is to widen the area of free trade among themselves.

He no longer believes—if he ever did—that the whole 18-nation group, from Turkey to Iceland, can become a single trading area within the time-span of the Marshall Plan. The most effective action, he thinks, can be taken by smaller groups made up of neighboring nations.

If, for example, France, Italy, the Low Countries and western Germany could sweep away commercial and monetary barriers among themselves, there would be a trading area of more than 100 million people that could stand on its feet in the modern world.

This is not the first time Hoffman has gone to Europe to preach the gospel of greater unity. Ever since Congress launched the ECA, early last year, legislative leaders have insisted that American help must lead to closer integration of Europe's national economies.

On each of his previous visits, Hoffman has tried to make Europeans understand the depth and seriousness of congressional feeling on the subject. This time his appeals will be more urgent than ever, and for two main reasons:

1. Many of Hoffman's advisers are convinced the needs of western European countries have outgrown the limits of the European national states; that all the billions of American aid will produce no lasting result unless western Europe forms bigger economic units than it now has; and

2. After a nine-month struggle to get the second year's ECA money from Congress, Hoffman is afraid the third year's money will not be forthcoming unless the Europeans bind themselves, before the next session on Capitol Hill, to form tighter economic groupings.

Every ECA official who faced Congress this past session is shell-shocked from the encounter and pessimistic on the next one. For the next session there is not nearly enough evidence that western Europe is really making headway toward self-sufficiency in spite of the

U. N. to Hear Truman at Ceremonies

New York, Oct. 23. (AP)—The United Nations Assembly will hold an unprecedented outdoor meeting on Manhattan's 42d st. Monday to hear President Truman and witness the laying of the cornerstone for the new U. N. home.

The President will make a special trip from Washington for his 20-minute address for the occasion—United Nations Day. With him on the speakers' platform—but silent this time—is expected to be Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky. Vishinsky is one of seven U. N. vice presidents slated to participate.

Ceremonies are to be in the nature of an international love-feast, with both East and West laying aside their political differences for the moment. The day is to be observed throughout the civilized world.

World leaders and plain people will renew their pledges of support for the U. N. which has had extremely rough sailing in the four years since the Charter became effective October 24, 1945.

Carlos P. Romulo, chief Philippines delegate to the U. N. and Assembly president, will call the open-air meeting to order—if it doesn't rain—at 12:05 p. m. EST. He will make a brief speech.

If it rains, the whole affair—minus the cornerstone—will take place in the U. N. Hall at Flushing Meadows. Other speakers on the program are:

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the U. N. and chairman of the headquarters planning committee; Mayor William

Allies May End Formal State of War in Germany

Bonn, Oct. 23. (NYHT)—The United States, Britain and France may end the existing formal state of war with Germany, it was learned in High Commission circles here today as a counter to Soviet establishment of an East Zone government.

The action, which would create for Western Germany at least a situation analogous to that now existing in Austria, is regarded here as a certainty if the Russians go through with reported plans to sign a peace treaty with their east zone creation by the end of the year. Ending of the formal state of war would restore to the West German government certain rights of sovereignty and diplomacy, as well as clarify and simplify questions of property rights.

British Face New Program Of Austerity

London, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—Britain's 48 million people girded themselves tonight for the news that they must pay more for their necessities, buy fewer luxuries and work harder as the price of their economic survival.

Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee goes before the House of Commons Monday afternoon to announce a drastic economy program.

At 4 p. m. (EST) Attlee will appeal to the country for support by telling what his aides call "the grave story" of Britain's financial and economic plight.

Attlee gave a foretaste of the story today when he said at a cotton industry conference at Harrowgate:

"We can only get through our difficulties . . . if all people . . . in whatever capacity cooperate with a firm will to conquer."

Attlee has beaten down opposition in his Labor Party and in his own cabinet to his new austerity program.

It is forecast that he will call for a slash in government expenditures of between 700 million and one billion dollars.

Food subsidies are to be reduced. Higher prices are expected for tobacco and gasoline.

The age at which children may leave school may be reduced from 15 years to 14 years.

It is expected there will be indirect, if not direct, reductions in defense spending.

Lehman Declines Truman's Offer To Campaign

NYHT News Service

President Truman offered yesterday to make a special trip to New York to campaign for former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic-Liberal nominee for United States Senator.

The offer was made and declined as "unnecessary" at a 22-minute meeting of the two at Blair House, temporary presidential residence. When the session broke up, President Truman, in an unusual move, came to the front stoop of Blair House where photographers took his picture with Lehman.

Lehman, who opposes Senator John Foster Dulles, (R., N. Y.) told reporters that the only topic he discussed with the President was the New York senatorial race. He said that he told Mr. Truman that he "definitely expects to win" and the President replied that he "is confident of my victory."

Its Rubber, Tin Vital

Reds Peril Opulent Malaya From Within and From China

By A. T. Steele
(Fifth of a Series)

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (NYHT). Verdant Malaya dangles like a jade pendant from the southeastern extremity of continental Asa. Its rubber and its tin—sold mainly to the United States—make it a major dollar-earner for the British Empire. But Malaya has a Communist problem, too. The Communist-suppression campaign is still costing $100,000 a day. It will cost millions more before it can be brought to a successful conclusion.

To be sure, the insurrection has been reduced to fairly manageable proportions. Terrorism and guerilla raids are showing a progressive decline. The British would have good reason for satisfaction were it not for the upheaval in China and the fear that the Malayan Communists may yet be able to obtain material assistance from the outside.

You don't have to go far from this city to get an idea of the problem. I took a ride with the American manager of a tin mine to his dredge only 6 miles out of town. Before leaving, my friend strapped a revolver to his waist. "It's always smart to carry a gun when you go into the country hereabouts," he remarked.

En route we passed rubber estates. Barbed wire surrounded the compounds and guards stood at the gates. We went through the quiet village of Ampong, scene of a shooting scrape between six guerillas and two detectives a few days before. At the mine the countryside looked peaceful enough.

5 Feared Killed As AF Bomber Crashes in Texas

Midland, Tex., Oct. 23 (AP).—A B-26 bomber crashed and exploded twice on a brushy ranch 20 miles southeast of here today. All five men aboard were believed killed.

Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, the craft's home field, identified the crewmen as: Lieut. Col. Charles J. Lutz, 34, El Paso, commanding officer 2602 Tow Squadron, the pilot; Capt. Thomas Hillmann, 39, Shreveport, La.; Capt. James R. Butler, 31, El Paso, copilot; Capt. Billy H. Miller, 28, El Paso; Sergt. Robert E. Lee, 21, Biloxi, Miss.

2 Crewmen Free Rescue Plane of Takeoff 'Bombs'

Balboa, C. Z., Oct. 23 (U.P.)—The United States Air Force amphibian which yesterday rescued 14 American tourists from the Guatemalan flood zone narrowly escaped disaster on takeoff from Lake Atitlan, crewmen said today.

The jet "bombs" needed to boost the heavily loaded plane off the lake could not be jettisoned after they had burned out, adding dangerous drag to the rescue plane.

Two members of the crew—Sergt. De Layne Lee of South Gate, Calif., and Pfc. Paul W. Gruver of W. Middlesex, Pa., climbed out of the cabin and kicked the jet bottles off the wings.

Iraq Held Warring On Jewish Citizens

In Syria-Iraq

British Acts In Near East Disturb U. S.

By Robert S. Allen

The State Department and Pentagon are very disturbed over Intelligence reports from the Middle East.

According to the reports, a new explosion is brewing in this ancient cockpit of trouble as a result of undercover British manipulations to unite Syria and Iraq.

The move has infuriated the French, Egypt and Israel.

The French are aroused because they view the maneuver as a British attempt to elminate all French influence in Syria. France was booted out of Syria after the war and is seeking to reestablish dominance there.

Egypt is angered because of the belief Britain is trying to create another powerful Arab country to offset Egypt. The latter is the largest Arab nation and wants to retain that status.

Israel is alarmed because it fears being wedged between a powerful Syria-Iraq combine on the north and Egypt on the south. Israel still does not have even an armistice with Iraq.

The heavy cost of maintaining a large military establishment, owing to the unsettled Middle Eastern situation, is a critical burden on the Israeli.

So far, the State Department has done nothing about Britain's maneuvers. Pentagon authorities have urged blocking action but their advice has gone unheeded.

Envoys' Talks Open Today

London, Oct. 23. (AP)—United States diplomats stationed in Eastern Europe assembled tonight for a two-day conference on common problems.

Assistant Secretary of State George Perkins and Alan G. Kirk, Ambassador to Russia, arrived by plane late in the afternoon from Paris. Ambassadors and Ministers came in from other points for talks to start Monday.

"It isn't possible to mention any particular subject that may arise," said Perkins. "But American diplomatic representatives who are facing problems in many respects similar will have a chance to talk things over.

"No decisions will be made—these are naturally made by the State Department in Washington. I don't think there will be any startling news."

It was understood that topics of discussion will include difficulties confronting American missions in Communist-dominated states.

Two Czech Reds Get Long Terms For Taking Bribes

Prague, Oct. 23 (AP).—Two prominent Prague Communist officials, charged with accepting bribes to finance high life in night clubs and resorts, have been sentenced to 8-year prison terms, an official announcement said tonight.

The announcement said the men "faked a devotion to the party in order to obtain important posts." They were purged from the party.

The Communist officials were Dr. Alois Sklenar, commissioner of apartments of Prague, and Josef Pokorny, local commission of security for the committee.

Iraq has "declared a holy war against her own citizens of the Jewish faith," Eliahu Elath, Israeli Ambassador to the United States, declared yesterday.

The Ambassador made the charge at the closing session of a two-day meeting of the United Palestine Appeal in the Hotel Shoreham. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former military governor of the American zone in Germany, and Henry Morgenthau, jr., general chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, were among other speakers.

The Ambassador said Iraq is "treating a whole community with sadism and cruelty. Two thousand Iraqi Jews are now languishing in concentration camps and prisons. Many have died from torture. All are denied recourse to law and are not accorded elementary human rights.

"Like the Jews of Germany, the Jewish community of Iraq will eventually have to be taken into Israel as yet another section of our people threatened with genocide and suffering from persecution."

The Ambasasdor said that "there is no desire on the part of the government of Israel to intervene in the internal affairs of the Jewish community of the United States," but "it is looking forward to the closest cooperation with American Jewry, which has the moral and material capacity" to aid in development of Israel.

General Clay praised Israel for its willingness to accept new immigration, and said that "in helping them you are helping those who are willing to help themselves."

Morgenthau said American Jewry has not "begun to match the sacrifices of the Jews of Israel—even in terms of mere dolalrs, the only form of sacrifice we are called upon to make."

Berl Locker, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive in Jerusalem, said Israel expected to double its persent population of a million persons in the next five years, and without outside aid, this "great venture" could end in catastrophe.

The conference urged in a resolution that local Jewish welfare groups make every effort to aid the United Jewish Appeal, of which the United Palestine Appeal is a major beneficiary.

In another resolution, the conference asked President Truman to "use his good offices to prevent any attempts by other governments to alter or to reduce Israel's rightful boundaries," and to promote a successful conclusion to "the current negotiations for a formal and durable peace between Israel and the Arab states."

Jews Here to Be Asked 300 Millions for Israel

Tel Aviv, Oct. 23 (NYHT) — A delegation of American - Jewish leaders ended their factfinding tour of Israel today and will leave tomorrow prepared to recommend a financial drive without precedent in the history of the United Jewish Appeal.

It now appears certain American Jewry will be asked to contribute in 1950 at least double its donations of this year.

The delegation, it is understood, is convinced American Jewry must be prepared for a program of "austerity at home" in order to solve Israel's financial crisis through the vast outpouring of dollars.

Target for the 1950 campaign might well be set at more than $300,000,000. It will require $2500 to transport and absorb each of the 150,000 immigrants expected next year. This would mean $375,000,000 to complete the job.

Israel Charges Pogram in Iraq

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—The government charged today persecution of Jews had broken out in Iraq and warned it may bring new bloodshed in the Middle East.

The government appealed to both Britain and the United States to intervene. Informed sources said the matter may be brought before the U. N.

A communique, issued after publication of a 1000-word report of eyewitnesses, asserted that:

"Hundreds of Jews have been imprisoned without cause and their property seized by the state.

"A well-known Iraqi Jew, Shaff Adas, was publicly hanged in a market place following the 'trial' in which he faced trumped-up charges and faked witnesses."

It said that some Jews tried to escape to Israel.

"This resulted in unleashing the full vengeance of the Iraqis against the Jewish community," it said.

Greek-Tito Peace Seen

Lake Success, N. Y., Oct. 23 (U.P.). United Nations conciliators in the dispute between Greece and her three Communist neighbors announced officially today that Yugoslavia had opened the door to a possible separate settlement with the Athens government.

The conciliation team, headed by General Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo, said a Belgrade representative had "stated orally that his government did not exclude the possibility of signing a separate agreement."

This was the first official confirmation of authoritative reports early this week that a limited Yugoslav-Greek pact was a possibility.

U. N. to Hear President

O'Dawyer of New York City, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

After Mr. Truman speaks, Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, will go up a ramp to the cornerstone side and put in a lead box a copy of the U. N. charter, of the U. N. declaration on human rights and the program. Then a crane will lower the huge stone over the box, Lie will make a short talk and the ceremony will be over.

Mr. Truman will be guest of honor at a luncheon arranged by Mayor O'Dwyer at the mayor's official residence. Guests will include former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate from New York, and his Republican opponent, Senator John Foster Dulles, former United States delegate to the U. N.

Editorials Indicate Soviet Will Stay in U. N.

Moscow, Oct. 23 (AP).—Pravda, Communist Party newspaper, said today that despite Yugoslavia's election to the Security Council the policy of the Soviet Union will be continued without change in direction of strengthening the United Nations as an instrument of peace.

The paper's United Nations Day editorial declared, however, that the Soviet Union will not recognize Yugoslavia as a representative of eastern Europe in the Security Council.

Western observers here noted both Pravda and Izvestia editorials seemed clearly to indicate the USSR is not going to leave the United Nations.

Archives Reception to Climax U. N. Anniversary Observance

The celebration of the fourth anniversary of the United Nations will be climaxed today by a reception for diplomats of the 59 member - nations and a city-wide illumination tonight.

Hildreth

The reception will be given by the D. C. Citizens' Committee for United Nations Day from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the National Archives exhibition hall, Constitution ave. and 7th st. nw.

At 7:45 o'clock tonight, the committee's slogan, "We blacked out for war—now let us light up for peace," will go into effect.

Outside lights and all visible indoor lights in both homes and business establishments should be turned on at that time for at least 15 minutes, the committee has urged.

Searchlights will be played over the sky and floodlights will illuminate the Capitol dome and the Washington Monument.

All radio stations will give the signal for the illumination.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred M. Vinson will head those who are to receive representatives of the U. N. members at this afternoon's reception.

Others will include Undersecretary of State James E. Webb and Mrs. Webb, Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Charles F. Brannan, U. N. Day Committee Chairman Melvin D. Hildreth and Mrs. Hildreth, Arthur Sweeter, Washington representative of the United Nations, and other officials.

Yesterday, special prayers for the success of the U. N. were offered in many of the city's churches. Flags of the various nations were displayed and a number of pastors devoted their sermons to the progress of the organization.

Dr. James Simsarian, State Department adviser on the United Nations, will speak on U. N. legal problems at a luncheon scheduled for 12:30 p. m. today by the International Bar Association at the University Club.

U. N. programs will be continued in the public and parochial schools, colleges and universities today. Special exhibits will also continue at the Archives, the Smithsonian Institution and the Library of Congress.

Lucas Denounces Senate Isolationists

Chicago, Oct. 23 (AP).—Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) today sharply criticized "an isolationist group of Senators" whom he called "far more dangerous to the security of our democracy than the Communists and fellow travelers under orders of Stalin."

Lucas, Democratic leader of the Senate, did not name the Senators at whom he fired the criticism. But he said he was talking about those who "tried to cripple the Marshall Plan, to scuttle the Atlantic Pact and to reduce the military assistance program to a mere token of little value."

The Illinois lawmaker praised Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.)—"one of the chief architects of our successful foreign policy"—for his help in "turning back the wilful isolationists" by big majorities.

Lucas singled out Vandenberg in saying that in the field of foreign affairs "we were fortunate enough to have the cooperation of a few outstanding Republican Senators."

He expressed his views in a radio speech (WGN, Chicago) reviewing the first-session work of the Democrat-dominated Eighty-first Congress.

Draws Retort From Malone

Lucas' remarks about "isolationists" drew a retort from Senator Malone (R., Nev.) that the criticism was irresponsible.

Malone voted against the North Atlantic Pact and the arms-for-Europe program to back up that alliance. He also battled against Marshall Plan aid, but did not vote when the Senate passed the bill authorizing it.

"I am not against foreign aid if it is handled right, but it is not being handled right," Malone told a reporter. "The first thing we must do is keep America strong. Instead, we are only aggravating Russia and in effect arming her for a third world war."

Tried to Halt Progress

In his attack on "wilful isolationists," Lucas said:

"One of the most astonishing and threatening developments during the entire session of the Congress was the rise of an isolationist group of Senators who attempted to halt our progress in stemming the tide of communism.

"These men turned their backs upon the tragic lessons which most Americans have learned from the Soviet conquest of Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Balkan countries."

Lucas declared the "isolationists" raised a false cry of economy, "but he can thank God that these half-blind and foolish men did not prevail."

War Games

Task Force Meets Heavy Air Attack

Aboard USS El Dorado, en route to Hawaii, Oct. 22 (U.P.).—The invading United States task force, heading for the "enemy-held" Hawaiian Islands, waded through an attack by 25 aggressor planes today in the first large-scale raid of Operation Miki.

The task force's carrier fighters shot down nine of the enemy planes, but not before the carriers Boxer and Valley Forge were damaged.

Three Oahu-based Privateer patrol bombers were downed by the task force's night fighter cover last night and early this morning after one of the attackers bombed the Boxer, inflicting minor damage. Two more Privateers were destroyed this afternoon during single plane raids.

If carrier planes defending the fleet can flash past an "enemy" plane on a gunnery run close enough to read its number, the attacker is counted as destroyed.

The fleet has maintained general quarters from sunup to sundown as the attacking force drew within 400 miles of Oahu, where 15,000 infantrymen will spill ashore in the largest amphibious landing since the war.

The fleet air arm hasn't begun softening the Oahu defenses as yet, but Navy public information officers admit with a grin that Air Force B-36's have been bombing agressor installations from the mainland.

The boxscore to date stands at three United States carriers, five destroyers, two submarines and one landing ship dock inactive, with 12 aggressor submarines and 14 planes destroyed.

Leahy Expects Service Amity

dent Roosevelt often had to step in and "referee" disputes among the wartime joint chiefs, Leahy said emphatically:

"Not once during the war did the Joint Chiefs take a quarrel to Mr. Roosevelt. No matter how far apart we might have been at the beginning of our discussions of a problem, we always ended up by taking a unanimously-agreed decision to the Commander-in-Chief. We gave him our joint recommendations—not our differences of opinion.

"For one thing, among the Joint Chiefs of Staff there was mutual respect, of a very high order.

"Another element—a most important one—was that we were in a war we had to win."

He added with a smile that "if it had been peacetime, and the country could have afforded to let us quibble over our pet ideas, the same group of men might have done some quarreling."

He emphasized he has a high regard for the patirotism and the professional ability of the men who are holding the top posts in the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and that he is "quite sure" they will find a way to settle their differences in the interest of national security.

"Apparently the Joint Chiefs now have some differences which they could not—or would not—adjust among themselves," he said.

"But in the long run it will work out all right, and our preparations for defense will be effective—I'm quite sure of that."

17 Believed Dead In Bitter Political Riot in Colombia

Cali, Colombia, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—Political rioters clashed with troops and police in the streets of Cali last night in a brief but bitter battle which resulted in the death of at least 17 persons.

At least 30 other persons were injured when troops fired into a mob of Liberal Party members which was besieging secret police headquarters. Sources close to the police estimated that 22 persons had been killed and 50 injured.

The riots, which have claimed an estimated 350 lives in all parts of Colombia in recent weeks, are an outgrowth of extreme political tension as the country prepares for November 27 presidential election.

States, Cities Get Big Roles in A-Defense

By the United Press

The Congressional Atomic Energy Committee—getting ready to plunge into the whole problem of civil defense against attack—yesterday said State and local governments will have the "major job of organization."

Committee hearings will be held early next year, Senator McMahon (D., Conn.) said in a statement.

McMahon said the responsibility of the Federal Government will be to furnish information and assistance to the States and local communities in preparing their defense plans.

He said "a point of contact" for them already has been established in the National Security Resources Board.

Plans for committee hearings on civil defense problems were first announced by McMahon soon after President Truman disclosed evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

McMahon said the committee staff needs time to study all the factors involved.

"The scope and complexity of this problem are enormous," McMahon said, "and careful advance preparation for open hearings becomes essential."

In the meantime, he said, members of the committee will inspect atomic energy plants throughout the Nation.

He said a subcommittee headed by Representative Holifield (D., Calif.) will meet at Los Alamos, N. Mex., Thursday "to confer with experts there regarding a phase of our atomic weapons development."

Others in the group will be Representatives Price (D., Ill.), Jackson (D., Wash.) and Hinshaw (D., Calif.).

McMahon said a preliminary look at the civil defense program shows that five or six different executive agencies have been made responsible for substantial parts of the planning, under the coordination of the Securities Resources Board.

Red Scientists Making Study In Antarctic

By the United Press

A group of Soviet scientists, who will conduct "research" in the Antarctic, left Odessa early this month with the Russian whaling fleet, it was reported here.

The group will engage in "considerable scientific research" of an unspecified nature, the report said.

The report was received with special interest here because of previous Soviet public statements that "there is reason to believe uranium is to be found" in Antarctica.

United States officials believe Russia is about to lay claim to a segment of the Anarctic continent.

A British-Swedish-French expedition is slated to sail for the Antarctic next month, for a three-year stay.

Reds Peril Malaya And Vital Resources

but several fortified outposts showed that no chances were being taken. Each day the staff of the mine is brought to work in armored cars.

This is the kind of Wild West flavor that still clings to life in the back-country of Malaya.

The Federation of Malaya and the great base of Singapore, just off Malaya's southern tip, are critical links in Britain's Far Eastern lifeline. They are vital barriers to the spread of communism into an area of immense economic and strategic importance. Before the war, Malaya was a stable and prosperous country. Since the war, the rich peninsula has given trouble out of proportion to its size. Economic difficulties combined with racial animosities have aggravated the British problem.

Of Malaya's six million people, 47 percent are Malays, 40 percent Chinese and 10 percent Indian. The Malayan Union, inaugurated after the war, so irritated the Malays that it had to be replaced by a federation in which the Malays have a predominant voice under British supervision. Only Singapore, with a Chinese majority, stands outside the federation, although Penang—also more Chinese than Malay—is agitating for secession.

Malaya has been deeply affected by the wave of nationalism that flowed through Asia after the Japanese collapse. But it is plain to any one that immediate withdrawal of British rule would lead to bloody strife between the Malays and the Chinese. The British are pledged to gradual expansion of self-rule and eventual dominion status. However, it may be 15 to 25 years before a formula can be realized for interracial cooperation.

Most Malayan nationalists, while continually needling the British, admit the necessity for a stage-by-stage approach to independence. But the Communists are different. They want it today—now!

The insurrection began 16 months ago, in June, 1948. The Communists hoped, in short order, to paralyze Malaya's economy, seize large areas of the country and put the British on the defensive.

The Communists were over-confident and have failed of their main objective. But they are still a seriously disturbing factor over very wide areas.

The main weakness of the Communists has been their inability so far, to win the support of a majority of the population. The insurrection is more a Communist movement. More than 90 percent of the insurgents are Chinese and a high proportion of them China-born Chinese. They have a small following of Malay and Iodonesian extremists.

The only real hope of the Communists is for eventual expansion of Communist influence from China into neighboring areas of southeast Asia. That could bring big changes here. Much depends on political developments in Siam to the north and Indonesia to the south.

General C. H. Boucher, British military commander here, believes that the anti-Red campaign can be reduced to a police action by the end of this year and that it can be wound up two years later. That is an optimistic estimate that is not shared by everybody. The core of the movement has not been destroyed.

Israel Request To Reds for Loan Unsuccessful

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said today that Israel has applied to Russia for a loan, "so far without success."

Answering criticism that Israel is "passing its hat around only in the Western world," Sharett told a mass labor gathering "it is no fault of ours that the Soviet apparently are unable to accede to our demand for credit."

Hoffman to Ask Unity

undoubted gains in production during the past two years.

Congress is sure to insist on convincing evidence, instead of mere lip-service, and Hoffman is out to get it if he can. He will meet first with his own ECA mission chiefs from the 18 countries, and then with the cabinet ministers who are scheduled to meet November 3 as the council of the 18-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation.

Some of Hoffman's chief advisers already are in Paris sounding out the Europeans on a plan for regional groupings, in each of which two supranational agencies might be set up.

One would be a central bank, a kind of Federal Reserve System to control currency and credit policies of member nations and administer a pool of their gold and dollar reserves.

The other would be a regulatory agency, something like the Interstate Commerce Commission, but with wider powers, to control tariffs, quotas and other commercial policies.

It would be wrong to describe these vague ideas as a fully formulated plan. The State Department, in particular, has many misgivings about the wisdom of urging Europeans to surrender so much of their sovereignty to regional agencies.

State Department officials believe recent currency devaluations will do more to break the logjam in intra-European trade than any ambitious new scheme.

They point to the fact that Britain, France, Italy and other Marshall Plan countries already have removed their quotas on imports of a wide range of European goods.

A proposal to set up regional agencies, with overriding powers, might produce also political dissensions among western Europeans. Certainly the British would refuse to surrender any sovereignty in economic matters to an agency made up largely of continental European countries.

I is doubtful even if they would allow formation of a continental group including Western Germany, for the new German Republic is bound to become a troublesome rival of Britain in European and world markets.

Still, Hoffman and his advisers are ready to explore the idea of regional groupings. Regardless of particular ideas, the ECA chief is determined to make Europeans see thedanger looming in Congress next year if they do nothing.

Lee Perri plays an Italian air for his French bride Sylvia

When Lee Perri and Sylvia returned from their honeymoon to their modest apartment here last night they began the normal housekeeping ways of most married couples.

But the courtship and honeymoon that led to that housekeeping was something that gave this romance a special meaning.

For Lee Perrin is a cripple who once felt he could not take care of a wife. And Sylvia is a French girl who last saw Lee more than 20 years ago when she was 4 and he 8 years old.

Their honeymoon was on a trans-Atlantic plane in a violent storm. Lee played a harmonica to bring a wan smile from airsick Sylvia.

Lee sped to France, was married in civil and church ceremonies and whisked his brunette bride back to the United States in just 11 days.

"When I landed at the airport at Marseilles," Lee said, "the whole family was waiting. I was shaking and my mouth was dry. When Sylvia saw me she broke through the ropes that held the people back and rushed to grab me. That's about all I remember until after the wedding."

The affair began in Naples, Italy, shortly after World War I. Lee had been crippled by polio and his father, despairing of seeing his son carried helplessly around, came to America to earn money to aid his child to walk.

While his father was away, Lee lived with his mother at the home of an Italian family named Ferraiulolo. Here he met the 4-year-old Sylvia.

Although he later came to America, walked with the aid of a brace and began to earn a living, he never forgot his youthful companion.

Last night Sylvia had started adding feminine touches to their home at 1536 15th st. se. and deciding what to wear when she meets her husband's family in Pennsylvania this weekend.

Communist Tactics Force U. S. Consul Out of Chinese City

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 23 (AP).—The American consul and vice consul from Russian-controlled Dairen arrived in Seoul today and reported continual harassments by the Chinese Communists had forced closing of the consulate Friday.

Consul Paul E. Paddock, 42, of Marshalltown, Iowa, and Vice Consul Culver Gleysteen, 24, of Jenkintown, Pa., had spent 15 months in Dairen. They said Communist policies prevented their relief at the end of a scheduled eight-month tour of duty.

They came to Korea aboard the British steamer Shansi.

Soviet authorities refused Gleysteen permission to go through Port Arthur to see how the United States consulate in Mukden was faring.

Gleysteen said he once was held for four hours by Chinese Communist police and Soviet soldiers who accused him of "signaling him out to sea."

The Americans said they lived pretty well. They were allowed to buy at a commissary reserved for high Soviet officers.

Their only social contacts were with a half-dozen foreigners, none British or American.

More, Cheaper Meat Is Forecast for 1950

By The Associated Press

More meat at moderately lower prices is in prospect next year, the Agriculture Department said yesterday.

Next year's supply may average 150 pounds for each consumer, compared with 147 this year and the record of 155 in 1947.

Almost all the predicted increase will be in pork. Consequently, most of the price reduction will be in such meat.

The department predicted 1950 production of pork may be 7 to 10 percent greater than this year. This estimate is based on prospects for a larger pig crop this fall—the crop to be slaughtered next spring and summer.

The 1950 spring pig crop—the slaughter supply a year from now—also is expected to be larger than this year's spring crop by at least 5 percent, the department said.

The department said about as much beef and veal may be produced next year as this. A strong demand for beef and an abundance of corn are stimulating cattle feeding. Again next year an unusually large part of the total beef supply will be of the better grades that come from grain-fed cattle.

For 24 Hours

Argentine Packers Face Stoppage

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Oct. 23 (AP).—One hundred thousand meat workers voted today to stop work for 24 hours after midnight tonight in protest against layoffs in the industry. It was one more work stoppage to irk the government of President Juan D. Peron, which came to power with labor backing.

The strike is aimed at the Ministry of Labor, which authorized the Swift Packing Co. of Rosario to lay off 250 men because of a lack of work.

An industry spokesman said the stoppage will slow down shipments of meat to Britain.

The strike of a thousand sugar workers in three northern provinces continued.

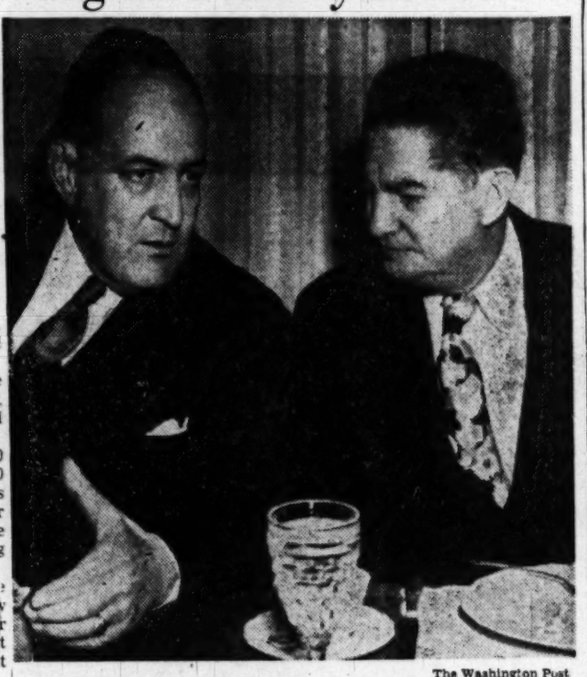
Vaughan Feted by Democrats



The Washington Post

Strikes End Quote Denied

Vaughan spoke, Smith had said that "after seeing the President, I would bet the coal strike will be settled within 10 days."

Reached at his office after the breakfast, Smith said the President had not talked to him about settlement of the strikes.

His Own Prediction

"He was optimistic about prosperity, as I said, and he added that it was a shame to have these strikes, but the prediction about settlement was my own," said Smith.

"I don't know how you boys got the idea about the President's prediction, and General Vaughan and the others didn't hear it the way you did. If that is what I said, it was a mistake, but I don't think so."

In his brief talk, General Vaughan called himself a "shock absorber" in the Senate's 5-per-center probe, as well as an "authority" on investigations.

He said with a grin that it was "not pleasant to furnish the throat" in the Senate investigation, but, he added, "I might as well earn my pay by being a shock absorber as well as being part of the scenery at the White House."

"So many of these investigations have laid an egg," he continued, "it seems they are trying to find things to investigate."

Calls Worry Healthy Sign

The military aide said it was a "very healthy sign" to have critics worry about "trivial things," because then "we know there aren't many serious issues they can complain about."

Along the same vein, the military aide told a story about Mrs. Fred M. Vinson wife of the Chief Justice.

He said she was sitting at a dinner next to a Republican woman who made much of the President's new balcony at the White House. The woman told Mrs. Vinson the balcony would be removed "as soon as we get in."

Whereupon, according to General Vaughan, Mrs. Vinson remarked that she was glad to hear her talk that way because it showed that the Republicans had no real issues to talk about.

General and Mrs. Vaughan, who was also a guest of honor, were made honorary vice presidents of the Democratic Club, as were Col. Louis H. Renfrow, assistant military aide to the President; Mrs. Renfrow and Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, recently appointed District Court judge here.

Among others introduced at the informal club gathering was Vice President Stewart of the local Young Democrats, who is the party candidate for Representative in the Seventh Congressional District of Oklahoma.

British-Made Fords Cut 30 to 34 Percent

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—New prices for British-made Ford automobiles 30 to 34 per cent lower as a result of the devaluation of the pound were announced here today.

Ralph Horgan, Inc., distributor for the line, listed these reductions: Two-door Anglia cut from $1398 to $947.22 four-door Prefect, from $1620 to $1077.22; one-quarter-ton Thames truck, from $1195 to $829.50; one-half-ton Thames from $1626 to $1070.

Local Level Action Asked For Jobless

By the United Press

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin made a new plea yesterday for action on the local level to head off unemployment.

He wrote the 48 Governors that State and community committees should be set up to promote job opportunities and combat unemployment where it already exists. He suggested the groups include representatives of Government, labor, business and the general public.

The plan is a major feature of the Administration's battle to maintain employment stability. It was warmly indorsed last month at a meeting of top Labor Department advisers.

The Administration also is attacking the problem from another angle by channeling Government purchase and construction contracts into critical areas. It uses the yardstick of 12 percent unemployment in the local work force to designate an area as "critical."

Thirty-six communities were on the critical list in the latest report, which is due to be brought up to date November 1.

Tobin told the Governors the Nation's economy is the "strongest and most productive the world has ever known" but needs bolstering in some places. He said much of the Nation's manpower and other resources are not being used "effectively."

Some States already have local committees working on programs, Tobin said—many in critical areas.

Cleveland, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—The top command of the CIO began arriving here today for a series of conferences that may lead to an historic showdown with 11 of its left-wing unions.

The conferences will last throughout the week and could lead to an entire new alignment of American labor, for it has been widely predicted that the left-wing unions may bolt in the face of a showdown and set up shop independently.

The meetings will settle CIO policy prior to the opening of the organization's annual convention next Sunday.

CIO President Philip Murray tentatively is scheduled to arrive here Monday to meet with his nine vice presidents, but the steel strike may delay his arrival.

The big question will be whether to expel the 11 unions controlled by left-wing elements or continue the war of attrition against them for failing to comply with national CIO policy. Murray, however, has kept his strategy thus far a secret.

If expulsion does occur, the left-wingers are expected to form a third labor federation under leadership of the United Electrical Workers, third largest in the CIO.

Corporate Profits Off Again

second quarter profits was due to seasonal factors.

After adjustment for these factors, the decline was only ten percent, dropping the annual rate of profits to $26,400,000 in the April-May-June period from a rate of $29,400,000,000 in the previous quarter.

Manufacturing showed the biggest relative decline—17 percent for the second quarter in comparison with the first quarter of this year, and 30 percent in comparison with the second quarter of 1948.

Declines were widespread in the manufacturing group. Textiles, clothing and chemicals were hit hardest. The auto and food industries broke with the trend and marked up sharply higher profits.

The transportation industry increased in profits from the first to the second quarter of 1949. The department said "both railroads and nonrailroad components advanced considerably even after allowance for the seasonal factor."

Mining took the next heaviest decline after manufacturing. A decrease reported for communications and public utilities was rated seasonal. Trade showed a "larger-than-average rate of contracttion."

other ports without waiting for agreement at Mahukona.

A mililon men remained out of work in the coal and steel walkouts.

Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching wa scheduled to continue talks today in New York with United States Steel. There was no outward sign that either the steel companies or the CIO United Steelworkers was ready to yield on their stands over pensions for the workers.

Negotiations in the coal walkout remained at an impasse. North and West coal operators producing two thirds of the soft coal output walked out of bargaining conferences last week at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., saying it was fruitless to continue.

The dwindling coal supply prompted the Interstate Commerce Commission last week to order a 25 percent cut in operation of coal-burning passenger locomotives on all railroads having less than a 25-day supply of the fuel on hand.

A new strike cut off public transportation in Canton, Ohio., yesterday when drivers and mechanics of the Canton City Lines, Inc., left their jobs in a wage dispute. The drivers and mechanics, who made $1.32 and $1.52 an hour repectively, asked a 20-cent-an-hour raise.

Swimmer Has Trouble

New York, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—Henry Pferr, who announced he would swim the 10 miles to Coney Island with his hands and feet tied ran into trouble today—police trouble—and decided to forget the whole thing until next June.

Peanuts Cost $35 Million

more than six milon still is outstanding.

A group of Government employes in a bull session last week amused themselves by figuring Government price support losses in comparison with other expenses.

For instance, in 1948 the Government lost about 225 million dollars on its potato program. That would have been enough—in one year—to have built the supercarrier, the United States, that Defense Secretary Johnson canceled and have left 36 million dollars over. It was that act that precipitated the row between the Navy and the other services.

This year, it is now estimated, the potato program will cost about 58 million.

In the Senate last Wednesday Senator Brewster (R., Me.) proudly announced that the program is going to cost "only" 40 million. But that was an earlier estimate.

Brewster had made an attack on the State Department for letting a million bushels of potatoes be imported from Canada with "10 or 12 millions backed up and expected to be sent to the United States."

Brewster declared that this importation of Canadian potatoes "will mean the retirement of American potatoes at a cost to our Treasury of 30 million dollars."

Brewster didn't tell about the thousands of bushels of potatoes smuggled across the Maine border last year in an almost steady stream—and that among the best customers for Canadian potatoes were Maine potato raisers.

Majority Leader Scott W. Lucas cut Brewster off.

"One of the chief reasons why the farm program is in disrepute throughout America is the support price on potatoes," Lucas told him.

This year's loss of 58 million dollars on potatoes can be brought close to home. It means tribute of about 40 cents from every person in the country.

The residents of one apartment house, the Dorchester House, for instance—the second largest in Washington, will contribute a total of more than $320.

The employes of the Agriculture Department will make a total contribution to the Nation's potato farmers of about $32,000.

It will cost the Government half as much to keep the price of potatoes high this year as the entire cost of the city of Washington.

It will cost the 6300 employes of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. about $2500; the 5000 employes of Capital Transit about $2000; the 4700 employes of Woodward and Lothrop almost $1900; the employes of Washington Terminal more than $1700.

In other words, everybody is paying his part to keep the prices of his food high.

One result of the high prices the Government has brought about from its terrific expenditures to keep potato prices high is this:

This year potato prices throughout the United States will average 88.1 cents a peck (15 pounds). That is the highest price in 29 years. In 1920 the price hit 93.8 for a brief period. In 1919, however, the price was 56.9 and in 1921 back down to 45.9.

Last year consumption dropped to 108 pounds and to an estimated 110 pounds a person this year—the lowest per capita consumption ever known.

In 1909—the base period for the old parity formula—the retail price for 15 pounds of potatoes averaged 28½ cents, and consumption was 193 pounds for every man, woman and child in the country.

In other words, the Government price support program is pricing potatoes out of the American diet.

In spite of all this, Congress in its dying moments last week passed a farm bill providing for continuation of the present mandatory price supports for potatoes.

For reasons that will be discussed later, it added tung nuts, honey and mohair wool to the list of products requiring mandatory price supports. But it dropped hogs, eggs and chickens. They will be supported only at the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Drive Fights Diarrhea's Toll of Infants

By Sam Zagoria
Post Reporter

Control of diarrhea—historic killer of the newborn—is the goal of a drive by the District Health Department and Washington citizens.

The campaign is directed generally at improving the obstetric and pediatric practices of Washington public and private hospitals.

For a long time the Health Department's Bureau of Maternal and Child Welfare has been asking for appointment of a doctor to work with the hospitals, but the drive got real impetus when a group of mothers became interested.

Some of these mothers lost children during wartime diarrhea epidemics in local hospitals and began studying what was being done.

Mrs. Henry A. Bartlett, 3817 17th pl. ne., a member of the Burroughs Citizens Association, conferred with Dr. Ella Oppenheimer, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Welfare, and learned that year after year, funds have been denied for a doctor to work with hospitals in improving standards.

She got support of her association, then obtained from the Federation of Citizens Associations a resolution backing the fund request. The District Medical Society also agreed to favor the move.

Meanwhile the Health Department bureau is pressing for funds to add a full-time doctor to its staff in the next fiscal year. He would be assigned as an assistant to Dr. Oppenheimer. He "would be a consultant, not a policeman," she explained yesterday.

The physician would be armed with regulations on pediatric and obstetric practices, now being drafted by Dr. Oppenheimer in conjunction with committees of local specialists, but his approach would be advisory.

"Hospitals really care. They don't want their babies to die," Dr. Oppenheimer explained. "There has been real improvement over the years, but that doesn't mean things are as they should be."

The new assistant, who would be paid $7432 a year, would inspect facilities, "see how things are getting along and work with the pediatric, obstetric and nursing staffs and hospital superintendents."

More than 10 years ago Dr. Oppenheimer began meeting with local medical men on the general problem and later a set of regulations was developed, but these were not enacted because of the war. During those years epidemics of infant diarrhea hit Gallinger, Sibley and Freedmen's Hospitals and other institutions to some extent.

In 1945, Dr. George C. Ruhland, District health officer, distributed a list of minimum requirements for care of newborn infants, and urged hospitals to live up to them. These set forth physical facilities, staff organization and procedural standards, and are the basis of proposed new regulations.

Such rules now are being drawn and will be ready for submission to the city's legal authorities in a few months, Dr. Oppenheimer said. They will cover physical examinations, laboratory procedures, standards of care, medical policies, consultation requirements and equipment minimums.

The subject of hospital pediatrics and obstetrics standards was discussed at a District Comsioners' hearing last week by Mrs. Bartlett and Dr. Benjamin Striner, member of the Federation of Citizens Association's health committee.

Dr. Striner's statement that lax practices have given Washington "the second worst record in the country for diarrhea conditions among children" has been challenged by Children's Hospital and Health Department officials.

They agree that much needs to be done, but cite 1948 statistics indicating Washington had 1.7 deaths per 100,000 population for children under 2 years. Other cities in the same population group had as high as 5.3 deaths.

New Fungus Ointment Developed

Development of a soothing ointment for athlete's foot, ringworm and other fungus infections was announced yesterday by Dr. Lawrence M. Ames, of Alexandria, Va., research mycologist at Catholic University's branch school, Fort Belvoir, Va.

The remedy neither burns nor aggravates itching, and has deeper penetrating power than other preparations, Dr. Ames said.

Dr. Ames asserted that tests showed his product, named AFO, attacks even deeply-seated fungus.

The clinical tests, he said, were conducted at an Army hospital here with permission of the office of the surgeon general. With no recorded failures to date, he stated, more than 1500 persons obtained permanent relief from obstinate fungal infections.

The ointment is being marketed by the Alexandria scientist, but has not yet reached drug store outlets.

Man Admits Hoping Car Would Hit Wife

Potosi, Mo., Oct. 23 (U.P.)—A 25-year-old mechanic has admitted he shoved his wife out of his moving car, then sat on a roadside embankment hoping to see another car run over her, Sheriff Thomas B. Allen said.

Bernard Coleman's confession came after Mrs. Della Coleman, 26, died in an Ironton (Mo.) hospital. She died of injuries suffered in the fall from the car.

Coleman was quoted as saying he beat his wife, pushed her out of the car, and waited to see if a car would hit her. It didn't.

Men's Outercoats are Truly Different This Year

There's exciting news in the new topcoats for 1949! There's news in their exceptionally good looks . . . in the longer length, the greater fullness, the richer colors. There's news in the finer fabrics used this year . . . with a clear conception of the word "value." Yes, 1949 ushers in an entirely new look in coats for men—TRULY DIFFERENT. With zip in the air now's the time to visit your favorite men's wear specialty store . . . to see how much better a new coat looks—on you!

Amtorg Indictment

The Department of Justice chose an unfortunate moment to press its charges against the Russian Amtorg Corporation. Following closely upon the conviction and imprisonment of the 11 Communist Party leaders in this country, the indictment of the Amtorg officials gives the impression of a general crackdown. Soviet propagandists the world over will so distort it. The United States will be accused of terroristic tactics similar to those in which the Soviet satellite countries are indulging. Moscow is also likely to retaliate, with the result of further deterioration in the relations between the two countries.

The question we raise, however, is solely one of timing. Of course, the Department of Justice ought not to wink at violations of the law because the violators are Russian agents who will scream persecution if they are molested in their activities. There seems to be no good reason why the Amtorg officials declined to register as agents of the Moscow government. They have occupied that status for a quarter of a century, apparently gathering commercial, economic and military information as well as carrying on business transactions in this country in behalf of Russia. During the war certain agents of friendly foreign governments were exempted from registration under the Act of 1938, and Amtorg claimed such an exemption, listing the Russian government as its foreign principal. Since that exemption expired in 1946 the American authorities have repeatedly advised Amtorg to comply with the law, and no response has been forthcoming.

No doubt the Amtorg officials have been loath to disclose their financial backing by the Soviet government, but that is a poor excuse for violation of the law, especially in view of the fact that the State Department knows all the details of their operations anyway. It is also said that registration has been resisted because the Amtorg officials regard it as an admission that they are spies. But other Russian organizations, including Tass, the Soviet news agency, have registered. A more logical assumption is that Moscow took it for granted that our easy-going democracy would not have the nerve to enforce its own laws. Fourteen months ago the Soviet Consul General, Jacob Lomakin, made a similar blunder when he kidnaped a Russian teacher, Madame Kasenkina, from Reed Farm in New York. The Communists systematically try to break down democratic law and order and then call it suppression or injustice if they are caught in the act. With that technique, of course, there can be no sympathy. All that can be asked is that the law be enforced so as to retain the appearance as well as the substance of justice.

Dissent In The AEC

The report of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy observes that in the course of more than 500 formal decisions by the Atomic Energy Commission, a dissenting vote was cast in only 12 instances. It happens that the minority on each of these dozen occasions consisted of a single commissioner, Lewis W. Strauss. Occasional dissents are, of course, to be expected in a five-member body. Indeed, as the Joint Committee noted:

> Difference of opinion is a symptom of health within the commission, tending to guarantee a fuller and richer analysis of problems. The existence of invariable unanimity would create doubt as to whether the five-man directorate were functioning as Congress intended. The presence of dissent, on the other hand, implies that democratic methods underlie commission management and, not incidentally, that the dissenting commissioner contributes keen and independent thinking to policy formation.

As we have suggested on previous occasions, the publication by the AEC of differences of opinion among its members would contribute very considerably both to public understanding of the issues involved and to public confidence that the majority view is soundly based and has taken cognizance of opposing considerations. Manifestly, there are issues respecting which conflicting opinions cannot usefully be aired. Much that the commission does, however, demands not secrecy but explanation. A public statement of the reasons for taking a decision, together with the reasons for dissent, if any, would be a most effective way of keeping the American people informed about atomic energy problems. This is a kind of information policy we hope the AEC will pursue whenever security permits it in the future.

Jobbing In Judgeships

President Truman's casual attitude in choosing judges has now led him to install on the Federal bench, by recess-appointment, two men whose nominations had long been held up by the Senate. Apparently he acted on the theory that the Senate will be hesitant to pull off the bench men who are actually in service. If so, his conduct is all the more offensive, for it suggests coercion of the Senate against the performance of its constitutional duty. In any event, it seems to us that temporary appointment of men to lifetime positions when their fitness is under investigation by the Senate is unfair to the individuals, to the Senate and to the public.

There are many instances, of course, in which individual Senators insist on dictating the choice of judges in their home States for political reasons. We have been sympathetic with the President when he has rebelled against this practice in the interest of getting the best qualified men on the bench. But the appointment of Carroll O. Switzer to be Federal district judge for southern Iowa involves a very different issue: Still in his 30s, Mr. Switzer is a capable young man of limited experience in the law. His claim to a Federal judgeship seems to rest solely on the fact that he went down the line for the Democratic Party as a candidate for the Iowa governorship last year.

When it was suggested that Mr. Switzer be made a Federal judge by way of reward, Senator Gillette protested against such unprincipled "trafficking in judgeships." In an effort to have the vacancy filled on the basis of merit, Mr. Gillette had all the bar associations of southern Iowa polled, submitting a list of more than 20 potential judges. In the returns Mr. Switzer's name was far down on the list. Senator Gillette sent to the White House the names of the two men who were the choice of the southern Iowa bar. Both were Democrats, but the recommendation was obviously grounded on fitness rather than politics. In defiance of this commendable effort to get the best man for the bench the President has gone ahead with the political payoff.

More shocking is the recess appointment given to Willis W. Ritter in Utah. As a professor of law at the University of Utah and a practicing attorney, Mr. Ritter has acquired a considerable reputation in the law. But the bar in Utah is said to be decidedly unfavorable to his appointment and serious charges involving his fitness to be a judge have been made to the Senate Judiciary Committee. Mr. Ritter's friends denied the charges, and the committee brought witnesses from Utah to testify in his favor. But the committee has not yet investigated the charges, and Senator Watkins has threatened to bring the accusations to light in a Senate speech unless a complete investigation is made.

For the President to install on the bench a man whose fitness is thus still open to grave challenge is a scandalous abuse of power. The immediate question is not whether the charges against Mr. Ritter are true but only whether an honest investigation shall be made before he is clothed in a judicial robe. In our opinion, the President's reckless disregard of the function of the Senate as well as the requirements of the bench leaves the Senate no alternative to thorough investigation in both of these cases.

Teacher Oaths

The Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association some months ago took the position that "members of the Communist Party of the United States should not be employed as teachers." Now the commission has issued a statement saying that while it still adheres to its earlier position, it wishes "to emphasize again that citizens should be especially alert at this time to defend the essential need of their schools for freedom of teaching and learning." At the same time it declared that State laws requiring special loyalty oaths of teachers are a menace to educational freedom.

The essential test of a teacher's fitness should be his teaching competence. If he employs his position to advocate the Communist Party line—or the Republican Party line or the Democratic Party line—he indubitably disqualifies himself. If he keeps his personal political philosophy to himself, then it can no more properly be made a test of his fitness than his religion. The question whether an individual teacher corrupts his function by injecting private prejudices into his teaching is a question that can best be answered by his professional colleagues. It is to their hands, rather than to the hands of trustees or legislators, that the determination of tenure ought to be entrusted. At the university level in particular, it is of the essence of academic freedom that a faculty should be the judge of the qualifications of its own members.

To require teachers whose performance has earned them tenure to swear that they are not members of the Communist Party is to subject them to a test which at once impairs their dignity and limits their liberty as individual citizens. Such an oath (as distinguished from an affirmative declaration of loyalty and devotion to duty) is as offensive to an upright man as an oath that he is not a bigamist or a burglar. And the humiliation it inflicts is exceeded only by its futility. It cannot reach the crypto-Communists or fellow travelers who preach the party line out of sheer soft-headedness. These can be detected and weeded out only by their associates. But "uniform tests and criteria of loyalty," as the Educational Policies Commission now points out, "impair the vigor of local school autonomy and thus do harm to an important safeguard of freedom in education."

The point of this can perhaps best be illustrated by a news story just reported from Japan where General MacArthur has ordered a purge of Communists from Japanese universities. The purge, according to Allen Raymond in the New York Herald Tribune, is being resisted by non-Communist and conservative professors who demand a careful distinction between freedom of thought and freedom of action. Perhaps a purge of professors on political grounds is tolerable in a country under military occupation and until lately ruled by "thought police." It is not tolerable in a society that considers itself free. And it comes a little hard to have this lesson taught to the conquerors by the conquered.

In Re Yamashita

The publication of Mr. A. Frank Reel's history of The Case of General Yamashita has been forestalled in Japan, apparently on orders of General MacArthur. According to Mr. W. T. Couch, director of the University of Chicago Press, negotiations for the Japanese edition were abruptly broken off by the prospective publisher in Tokyo, who is quoted as saying that "to my great regret I cannot explain the reason." A dispatch from Tokyo to the New York Herald Tribune cites Maj. Daniel Imboden, General MacArthur's adviser to the Japanese press, as stating that publication of the book has not been prohibited. Nevertheless, according to the same dispatch, Japanese editors have been given to understand that any mention of the book will provoke the displeasure of the occupation authorities.

General Yamashita, the conqueror of Malaya and commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines in the final stages of the Pacific War, was the first of the so-called Japanese war criminals to be condemned and hanged. He was tried by an American military court, acting under a directive which virtually ordered the verdict of guilty, by instructing the judges to disregard all traditional rules of evidence.

General Yamashita, however, was defended by exceptionally able American defense counsel, of whom Mr. Reel was one. They risked the displeasure of their military superiors by exhausting every effort to save him from what the late Justice Murphy described as a "judicial lynching." As a final resort, they appealed to the United States Supreme Court, which granted them a hearing, although, according to Mr. Reel, a peremptory order from the Secretary of War to General MacArthur had to be dispatched to prevent the execution of the sentence while the case was being considered.

Although the sentiment against General Yamashita, carefully nurtured by the war propaganda, was at the time very strong, some Americans were capable of realizing the tremendous implications of this case. We were not then in possession of all the facts contained in Mr. Reel's book, including the fact that the atrocities committed by members of the Japanese naval forces in Manila, which were the basis of the charges against him, had actually been in defiance of his orders, since he had previously ordered the evacuation of the city. Nevertheless, in commenting on the case on this page, December 20, 1945, we observed that:

> If Yamashita's sentence is allowed to stand . . . the precedent will have been established that commanding officers are at all times mortally responsible for the conduct of their subordinates . . . This means that hereafter the life of any officer who has held an important command in a vanquished army will be at the mercy of his captors. His status as a prisoner of war will afford him no protection. If he is tried, he will be tried, as Yamashita was, in an atmosphere of vengeance and hatred. In short, it will become the privilege of the victors to define war crimes as they see fit, and to designate as war criminals whom they choose. The net effect of this can only be to increase the bitterness, intensity and duration of wars. It is obvious that a defeated commander will be less inclined to surrender, if he knows that by such an action his own life becomes forfeit . . . From the trial and execution of enemy commanders after the cessation of hostilities, it is scarce more than a step to the execution of officers or men captured in battle. The history of the last six years shows how rapidly the world has been reverting to the principle of vae victis which characterized the wars of antiquity . . . Apart from a sense of justice, and the usages which have grown up since the Christian era, there is nothing in the world that prevents us from hanging Yamashita—nothing, that is, save sane, sober second thought and common sense.

On February 4, 1946, the Supreme Court, over the passionate dissent of Justices Rutledge and Murphy, handed down, through Chief Justice Stone, its decision not to intervene. The decision was taken on the technical ground that the military commission's "rulings on evidence and on the mode of conducting these proceedings are not reviewable by the courts but only by the reviewing military authorities."

Nevertheless, Mr. Reel's story seems to us fully to sustain Justice Rutledge's assertion that this case marked a fateful turning point in American jurisprudence, and that the damage to our concepts of justice that might follow from it would be incalculable. It is easy enough, of course, to see why General MacArthur does not wish to have these aspects of the Yamashita case made clear to the Japanese. Nevertheless, since his was the initiative, it seems to us that he must answer to the court of history for it. Meanwhile, the end of the Japanese war crimes trials leaves many Americans wondering if they should ever have been begun.

"Marine Corps Morale"

I am convinced of the necessity for unification—at the world level as at the armed forces level. However, I cannot resist speaking my piece in defense of one of the priceless weapons of the Nation's arsenal which is, it seems to me, in danger of being thrown away.

That weapon is the morale of the Marine Corps. There may be question as to the devastation area of an atom bomb blast, the value of a supercarrier, or the performance of a B-36, but the American people know from past performance the worst of the leathernecks and that esprit de corps which has written their record large across the pages of American history.

I want enforceable world law to control aggression but until I get that I want a Marine Corps ready and willing to take it on the chin the day the shooting starts.

MARY-STUART CHAMBERLAIN.
Washington.

I suggest the following plan for the preservation of the United States Marine Corps:

Establishment of a Department of the Marine Corps under National Defense. Representation by a Marine general on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Strength of 100,000. Two Marine divisions of six battalions each. Two Marine aircraft wings of 12 tactical squadrons each. Necessary supporting elements for the above. Provisions of funds for Marine Corps participation in major fleet exercises during the current fiscal year.

Transit Radio

The idea of having separate radio and nonradio buses just does not hold water. It is difficult enough to determine a bus' destination in time to board it during rush hours, let alone its radio content.

A simple and effective solution remains. Disconnect the two speakers in the rear of the bus. This would primarily allow nonlisteners to relax in the rear and secondarily cause more efficient use of bus space by filling the usually vacant rear.

Chinese Students

Some people in and out of the State Department are complaining about the ingratitude of many Chinese students who, being given the money by U. S. Government for going back to China, became strongly anti-American in China and called the United States imperialist just as the Communists do.

It is not accidental that many Chinese students believe that the United States is imperialist. The idea has been in their minds for about a century. It has been, and is being, widely publicized in China as well as in this country. Communists have repeated the idea again and again in books, pamphlets, newspapers, periodicals, discussion meetings, speeches, etc. In New York City alone, there are now at least two Chinese organizations, two free-of-charge periodicals, and five student organizations spreading the same idea. The idea goes practically without resistance. There is not a single book telling the Chinese students that the United States is not imperialist.

The State Department, which has a function to take care of international information service, is also responsible for the failure to establish a better understanding between the Chinese students and us.

A Comparison Of Pension Plans

The steel strike began on October 1. Every day of strike would pay the social security contribution for 42 working days, because a contribution of 4 cents an hour compares with a wage rate of about $1.68 per hour. After six weeks of strike, the employes will have sacrificed five years of insurance benefits and will have nothing for their pains.

Mr. Murray charges the industry with forcing a strike on the issue of noncontributory pensions. It was Mr. Murray who called the strike and not the industry.

Spokesmen for the steel union point out that a noncontributory pension plan, actuarially sound, has been operative in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (AFL) and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union (CIO). This claim requires analysis.

The ILGWU agreement was made in 1943, and the first benefits were paid in June, 1946, after accumulating a reserve during three prosperous years. Benefits have been paid since 1946, a period of good business. The fund has not been tested by a depression.

The present favorable situation is due to the fact that employers' contributions are about four million dollars per annum and benefits paid are about $850,000. However, of those eligible to retire, relatively few do so. Thus, against 1600 retirees, there are 3250 over 65 who applied for, but postponed their retirement and additional thousands not yet tabulated who did not even apply. However, in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the census or registration shows that for every employe receiving benefits there were eight eligible who continued to work.

At present high wage rates and reasonably full-time work, the eligibles prefer to remain employed. However, with low wages during a depression, the incentive to retire will be great. Actuarial soundness of the ILGWU retirement fund will then be tested.

The ILGWU fund protects itself against such unsoundness but at the expense of the employes. There is no unconditional or unlimited guarantee of retirement pensions. The fund will retire annually as many new applicants as the money on hand makes available, after preserving the rights of those who have already retired. Obviously, if all the eligibles should decide to retire in a depression, the benefits paid out might increase 800 percent and the contributions paid into the fund would decrease by at least 25 percent. Then the fund must either suspend for new beneficiaries or default on the old. On the other hand, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, attempting to cover all potential retirees, set the retirement benefits at low rates of payment, equivalent to the Social Security retirement of $26 a month.

The Steel Board stated that 6 cents per hour would yield $100 per month in pensions including Federal Social Security, or $74 without it. Obviously the board reached its conclusions in haste even though it recommended a study of six months. Without study it could have fixed either the premium or the benefit payment but not both, unless the fund could suspend operations for new applicants as the ILGWU does. The actuarially tested Amalgamated fund receives contributions per hour 50 percent higher than the Steel Board stated but pays monthly pensions 66 percent lower. Can the board's plan be sound?

What are the differences between the ILGWU and the steel union? In the garment industry, wages are related to the cost of living index and the three increases since 1945 were determined by the impartial chairman of the industry, without invoking any outside board. But no wage increase was demanded in 1949. Employer pensions contributions set in 1943 remained constant until a few weeks ago when they were slightly increased. The Amalgamated did not increase them since December, 1945. In both unions, pensions are tied to Federal retirement pay, thus preventing sharp increases of employer contributions. There have been no strikes in either industry for over 20 years. There is mutual trust between the employers and the union. The union leaders have taken the long view and have anticipated important features of the Taft-Hartley Act.

By contrast, the coal and steel unions have been racking the country by strikes or strike threats every year. In 1949 an increase of 30 cents per hour was demanded even though living costs declined. Mr. Lewis forced the pension royalties from the 5 cents a ton in 1946 to 20 cents a ton in 1948 and now wishes to raise it to 50 cents or 55 cents a ton. The objection to the noncontributory pension plan is that under shortsighted and ruthless union leaders, it constitutes a new source of strikes and encourages limitless union demands, as shown in the coal industry.

Mr. Truman, in appointing the Steel Board, circumvented the Taft-Hartley Act for political reasons. Under Section 209B, that act provides that "the NLRB shall take a secret ballot of the employes . . . whether they wish to accept the final offer of settlement by their employers." Perhaps, it is not yet too late to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act as the situation develops into a national emergency. It is hardly conceivable that common sense employes, particularly the younger ones, will make needless sacrifices for the noncontributory feature merely to maintain Mr. Murray's prestige in inter-union rivalry.

Some contribution by employes such as prevails already in several steel companies could end the strike promptly, to the benefit of the employes and all the country.

Matter Of Fact

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

Leadership In A Democracy

LIKE THE PARTS of a puzzle, the basic facts of great national problems are generally meaningless until they are fitted together. Last week, within forty-eight hours, three impressively authoritative Americans gave separate utterance to the three basic facts of the major problem now confronting the United States. Although the pattern formed is in the last degree unpalatable, what these three men said now deserves to be brought together into a single design.

First, Dr. Harold C. Urey, one of the leading American nuclear physicists, warned the country that the Soviet Union "can and probably will" wipe out the American "atomic lead," which has now replaced "atomic monopoly" as the Maginot Line of our fond hopes. Writing in the authoritative Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, Dr. Urey forecast that the Kremlin would possess a decisive stockpile of atomic bombs "in a relatively short time." He suggested further that this time would probably be two years.

Second, Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson, who two years ago defined the Soviet Union as "expanding and aggressive," revised and strengthened this definition. Speaking at a dinner of the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation, Acheson described Soviet Russia as "the aggressively imperialist power of our times," which was "seeking to expand its dominion wherever its grasp and its reach coincide."

Third, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, winding up the lamentable hearings on the complaints of the admirals, publicly admitted what has already been reported in this space—that further great cutbacks in our defense efforts are now planned by the Truman Administration.

THESE STATEMENTS require very little annotation to bring out their full significance. In connection with Dr. Urey's forecast, however, it is well to remember that our highest military planners regarded our "atomic monopoly" as the main deterrent to Soviet aggression, until the monopoly was broken by the explosion of the Beria bomb.

In connection with the remarks of Secretary Acheson, it should be borne in mind that the Soviet Union is making a gigantic armament effort, comparable to the effort of Nazi Germany. By this effort the Kremlin's potential "grasp and reach" must constantly be extended, if no compensating effort is made by the free world.

And in connection with Secretary Johnson's admission that our defense effort is being cut back, it is well to investigate the meaning of the word "economy," which he employed rather freely before the House Armed Services Committee. The implication was left with Johnson's hearers that the "economy" being practiced at the Defense Department is the kind that will give us just as much defense for much less money. Specifically, Secretary Johnson admitted that next year's budget ceiling on the Army, Navy and Air Force would be 13 billion dollars. He admitted further that he was trying to cut the services' expenditures this year, when the budget ceiling was 14.4 billions, down to next year's level. But he failed signally to admit that these reductions in outlay will greatly impair our already inadequate strength.

It is true, of course, that the services have been very wasteful. But a wasteful defense establishment is like a fat man, who can only be safely reduced by a long, slow and careful course of diet and exercise. A fat man cannot lose 50 pounds the next morning, without going to the surgeon and having a leg cut off. Secretary Johnson is commendably trying to cut down Army, Navy and Air Force waste in the right way. But he is also amputating the legs and arms of the services in economy's sacred name.

SPECIFICALLY, the next defense budget may be expected to show substantial reductions in service manpower. What is far worse still, if the budget is honest, it will also show even greater cuts in the programs for equipping the Army, Navy and Air Force with modern weapons. In short, our defense planning is rapidly sliding back into the methods of the 1920s and 1930s, when no one even considered the need for true security against potential aggressors.

This may be quite all right. Perhaps Dr. Urey is wrong, and the Soviets will always be deterred from aggression by their inferiority in the absolute weapons. Or perhaps Secretary Acheson is wrong, and the intentions of the Kremlin are not "aggressively imperialist." Or perhaps there is justice in the humiliating excuse more commonly given by our highest policy makers, that the "American people will not take" the punishment of a serious defense effort.

Yet one point is very clear. A democracy, even more than a totalitarian state, depends upon leadership. A democracy particularly depends upon the willingness of its leaders to tell the people the honest truth about their situation. Without this, the people cannot respond. If President Truman and Secretary Johnson really think it is prudent to impair our defenses in the year of the Beria bomb, it is up to them to explain plainly what they are doing. And it is even more up to them to explain why this is a safe thing to do, in the face of the situation portrayed by Secretary Acheson and Dr. Urey.

Moderator Urges Positive Program

The Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., last night called for an aggressive program with a postive point of view to combat the forces of materialism.

The Rev. D. Clifford Barbour, speaking at the National Presbyterian Church, Connecticut ave. and N sts. nw., declared that the competition to capture men's souls in this generation is almost violent."

On one side, he said, are the pure materialists, "spearheaded by the Communist philosophy" seeking by all means available to capture man's convictions, that they may control his loyalty and direct his behavior to their own ends.

On the other side, Dr. Barbour said, are those who are seeking men's soul that the world may be a better place, and that men may have life eternal.

Has Peculiar Appeal

The materialist point of view, he said, has a "peculiar appeal" to the world, because it offers physical satisfaction, pleasure, and social achievement. The other side offers spiritual well-being, which is "somewhat more difficult to discern" than physical satisfaction and pleasure.

"It takes an adult mind to see the beauty and glory of what we have to offer," he declared.

Dr. Barbour cited the "resurgence of spiritual desire" in all Protestant churches today as evidence that the world is yearning for the satisfactions that religion has to offer.

The churches, he said, will not be successful in their fight to win people to Christ if they continue in an attitude of appeasement toward non-Christian ideas, or compromise with their heritage.

Asks Aggressive Program

He called for an aggressive program and urged those in the church to "use our imaginations" to capture new ideas and techniques through which the Christian gospel can be propagandized and men saved.

Such a program, he said, will be worthless unless the world recognizes that we mean it, that "limited and meager as we are, God and the world are looking to us."

In addition to Dr. Barbour, the following participated in the service: The Rev. Dr. Halley B. Taylor, pastor of Fifteenth Street Presbyterian Church and moderator of the synod of Baltimore, James Sherier, moderator of the Presbytery of Washington City, and the Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of National Church.

Family Ties Stressed on Mission Day

Permanent peace based on Christian principles and the safeguarding of family ties are the great problems of the world today, the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, declared yesterday.

The archbishop made the assertions in a pastoral letter read at Mission Sunday services at all Roman Catholic churches in the archdiocese.

Priests who had served in mission fields spoke at many of the churches. In the afternoon the Palladin medal was awarded to laymen and religious who have done outstanding work for missions during the past year. At a rally at St. Matthew's Cathedral, 1727 Rhode Island ave. nw.

In his pastoral letter, the archbishop called for special ceremonies next Sunday in observance of the Feast of Christ the King.

Archbishop O'Boyle, however, asked for modification of the annual custom here of a public parade to mark the feast. In the future, he said, the parades will be held only on alternate years.

The archbishop urged prayers for peace and safeguarding of Christian family life during the feast.

"Peace," he declared, "is not the exhaustion of warring factions but the harmony resulting from the practice of Christian virtues which comes only from devotion to Christ, their source and exemplar.

"Likewise, the flagrant and ruinous errors which threaten family life in our country can be successfully opposed only by devotion to Christ who elevated marriage to the dignity of a sacrament," he said.

Leaders Make Tolerance Plea At Pa. Village

Aaronsburg, Pa., Oct. 23 (AP).—An impressive plea for world tolerance came from this small central Pennsylvania village today.

Thousands, including a score of national and international leaders, joined with the town's 400 inhabitants to help fulfill a Jewish imgrant's dream of universal brotherhood.

The dreamer was Aaron Levy who came to America from Amsterdam and founded Aaronsburg in 1789 as a living monument to racial and religious tolerance.

More than 30,000 came to hear the story today. They clustered on a grassy slope beside a little red brick Lutheran church—founded on land donated by Levy—to hear a succession of distinguished speakers.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, former United Nations mediator in Palestine declared in a keynote address that all the world "is living on borrowed time."

Bunche said: "In the atomic age, the further cost of continuing bad relations would appear prohibitive. The road of human understanding is the only road to peace."

Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter of the United States Supreme Court declared "the ideal which holds us together beyond any other is our belief in the worth of the individual—whatever race or religion."

The observance is part of annual Pennsylvania week.

Lithuanians Here as DPs Get Together

A group of Lithuanians recently transplanted to the United States got together here yesterday afternoon at a reception of welcome arranged by the American Lithuanian Society of Washington in the Immaculate Conception School Hall, 8th and N sts. nw.

Forgotten for the moment by the newly arrived displaced persons and their compatriots was the recent tragic history of their native land—coming of the Russians in 1940, of the Germans in 1941, and absorption into the Soviet Union in 1945.

Two dozen newcomers mingled with 75 earlier arrivals. They ate spiced food, drank coffee, and talked of memories and experiences.

But there was a strain of pathos. One only had to learn, for instance, the story of the 15-year-old, pigtailed Galinda, one of nine children of the country's former Minister of Justice, Stasys Schillingas.

Her parents and one sister were exiled to Siberia. The rest of her brothers and sisters have been flung about the world, to Canada, Germany and Australia. One sister, Daiba, is living with her at 2869 Beechwood Circle, Arlington.

Church Parley Set Wednesday

The American Council of Christian Churches, representing 15 evangelical christian groups, will open its eighth annual convention Wednesday at Grace Baptist Church, 9th st. and South Carolina ave. se.

President W. O. H. Garman of New York will preside at business sessions at 10 a. m. each day during the three-day convention. Afternoon and evening meetings beginning at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., will be open to the public.

At the afternoon and evening sessions, speakers will outline the council's policy with regard to legislation, radio, evangelism and missionary work.

Founded in 1941 by the Bible Protestant and Bible Presbyterian Churches, the council today claims a membership of over a million and a half persons. The American Council has on several occasions attacked the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America for its "modernist" beliefs.

All Soul's Church Members Fete Its 25th Anniversary

Three moderators, present and past, of the American Unitarian Association yesterday were present when All Souls' Church (Unitarian) celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of its building at 16th and Harvard sts. nw.

They were Dr. George D. Stoddard, present moderator and president of the University of Illinois, Dr. Winfred Overholser, superintendent of St. Elizabeths Hospital, who preceded Dr. Stoddard, and Justice Harold Burton, Dr. Over-Overholser's predecessor. Dr. Overholser and Justice Barton are members of the All Souls' congregation.

At the morning service, Dr. A. Powell Davies, pastor of the church for six years, paid tribute to those who have worked to build the church during its 128-year history.

Dr. Davies read the names of the heads of 27 families who formed the original membership of the church when it was founded in 1821 and of 40 new members received this fall. Total active membership today is 1200.

A hundred of today's active members who were present for the dedication service 25 years ago, were honored at an anniversary tea and reception in the afternoon.

At an anniversary service last night, Dr. Stoddard noted that it was United Nations Sunday, and declared: "We are free in all respects but one. We are not free to tolerate the destruction of our liberties."

Dr. Wallace W. Robbins, president of Meadville Theological Seminary, Chicago, said that in spite of the historic antipathy of Unitarians to the evils of organized religion, the religious institution has a function to perform.

"It is the institution which allows the common man to meet the accumulated heritage of religion, and appropriate to his inner self its life and meaning," he said. "While the minister may, through his human weakness, deform the message, the goodness of the man in the pew will hear it aright."

Sam Lano Derides Stories 'Mobsters' Control Slot Machines

'Good, Clean Kid' Gets 'Business' By 'Hustling'

By Benjamin Bradlee

Rumors of Mobster-controlled slot-machine operators in Prince Georges County bring sneers and laughs from one Sam Lano, "Coin-machine operator," self-styled hustler, flashy dresser and disabled war veteran.

Sam Lano came to Prince Georges eight month ago from Savannah, Miami, New York and points west. "I've been living around since the war," he says.

He was indicted Friday by the county grand jury for allegedly threatened John Duffy, in whose Rhode Island ave., Brentwood, tavern stood two of Lano's "For Amusement Only" console-type machines.

"Let's talk about these mobsters they're telling the people run this place," he said to The Washington Post.

'Get This Straight'

"In the first place, would Frankie Costello (New York underworld king) be satisfied with renting the back end of a little hole in the wall like this store here?" he asked. "Would Costello be satisfied with the $20,000 investment I got here? He leaves that much in taxicabs, they tell me, but I wouldn't know him if he fell through that door."

Lano's office is in the rear of 4302 Rhode Island ave., Brentwood, two stores closer to Washington than Duffy's Tavern. A combination workroom-storeroom in the back of the store houses about 15 "coin-operated devices." They range from pinball machines, which he said cost up to $235, to console-type machines costing up to $859.50.

"Get this straight right now," Lano said. "We distribute coin-operated machines for amusement only. You can't get any money from these machines here. We don't handle slot machines."

The one-armed bandits sell for $150, he said.

Lano was reluctant to talk about cash payoffs by owners of "for Amusement Only" console-type

His assistant said, "Listen, we only distribute the machines. What the proprietors do is no skin off us." But Lano asked the reporter not to ask about cash payoffs, which are illegal in Pringe Georges County.

"Hustle Instead of Muscle"

Lano said he was the sole owner of Maryland Sales, an unincorporated company that buys coin-operated devices, locates them in taverns and splits their take 50-50 with the tavern owner.

"There's nothing difficult about going into this business," he explained, gesturing with thin hands on one finger of which he wore a large diamond ring.

"If you want a machine, I'll get you one in 10 minutes. You don't want to pay me a commision, look in the classified directory under vending machines and you can get one yourself in 20 minutes. They make some machines in Baltimore."

"I'll tell you where this trouble started," he continued. "Just because I hustle instead of muscle and don't drink whisky or take morphine or carry a gun like some of the other operators, they get sore at me and try to run me out of town."

"Also I give my clients a 50-50 split," he said, "and the other guys give only 40 and take 60. We also buy the license for the client and provide him with free service."

"We" consists of Lano, two collectors who gave their names as Joe Parisi and George Marino, and two mechanics. Lano lives with his wife at 1206 Lebanon st., in a part of Silver Spring in Prince Georges County. Parisi, who said he was a Maryland voter, lives with Lano.

Lano said he was born in New York City 37 years ago, and attended St. Agnes School on 44th st. there. "After I graduated I held a lot of jobs, none of them too long," he said.

During the way, Lano said, he was with the Forty-fifth Infantry, 180th Division, for four years, and saw action from Africa to Anzio as a private. He said he now draws a 10 percent disability pension, but refused to discuss the disability.

After the war, he said he had trouble getting settled. "I worked as a sales manager for a grocery concern in Philadelphia, and that took me around the country," he said: "Most of the time, I was just hustling."

He said he came to Washington on a visit from Savannah last win-

SAM LANO, indicted by a Prince Georges County grand jury Friday for allegedly threatening a tavern owner, is one of several coin-machine distributors in the county. Cash-payoff machines were legalized by a county referendum in June but the referendum was invalidated shortly thereafter by a decision of County Judge Charles C. Marbury, who declared the slot-machine law unconstitutional ter, and thought he liked it enough to stay.

"I went back to get my missus," he said, "and started looking for a business. I had some money to invest, my own money, not mobsters'. The coin-operated machine business looked good and so I give it a try. I've never been in any jail, or any trouble.

"You go around to my clients and ask them. Do you want a list? I never lost a client. Sam Lano gets business because he hustles. Because he's a good, clean kid. Sam Lano gets his jobs on merit."

"I never threatened anybody in my life," he said. Pulling aside the coat of his broad checked suit, he added, "Look at me. All they got to do is blow, and I'll fall down."

Lano said some operators offer proprietors as high as $500 for a coin-machine location but he offers them nothing. He said coin-machine operators existed simply because many tavern keepers can not afford the purchase price of a machine.

Marino said many of Lano's clients do try to borrow money from him. "Sam Lano is a good touch," Marino said. "Always has been, and he lends some of them dough."

"If our machines are in a tavern, we naturally want to see that tavern do good business. That's why Sam lends them money with no interest," Marino explained.

Lano said he had lent money to Duffy, but refused to say how much. Marino said the amount was between $1000 and $2000. Duffy denies Lano lent him any money.

"Thursday, I go into Duffy's to ask him for the money," Lano said. "In front of two witnesses, both of them cops, he tells me he'll give me the money the next day, and says I've always treated him right.

'Smallest of the Lot'

"I go into Duffy's next morning, and what do I get? Arrested! How do you like that?"

A two-count indictment charges that Lano "with a view to gaining money from the operation of certain coin-operated devices on the premises of one John Duffy . . . feloniously did threaten to accuse the said Duffy of a crime of an indictable nature, to wit the crime of having obtained money under false pretenses." The second count is virtually the same but omits the threat angle.

Lano said yesterday his activities now were confined to the coin-operated machines. He said that for three weeks during September and October he had acted also as a beer distributor, but "that died a week ago."

He said he was thinking of branching into other machines that sell cigarettes, candy, and perhaps even stockings.

He said that from 50 to 75 other operators distribute machines in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties and Washington. "We're the smallest of the lot," he said. There is an active second-hand market for pinball machines and console-type machines, the salesman explained. Many operators a single type begins "to bore the buy second-hand machines and people in one area," he said. others turn in new machines after Silent Sales System, with offices in Washington, Baltimore, Bladensburg and Annapolis is the largest operator in this area, Lano said.

A salesman for a Chicago manufacturer of coin-operated devices, who was in Lano's store at one time during the interview and who declined to give his name, said many operators purchase "more than five times as much as Sam here."

"About 25 percent of Greater Washington tavern keepers buy their machines directly from us or other wholesalers," the salesman estimated.

You ought to be driving a PONTIAC

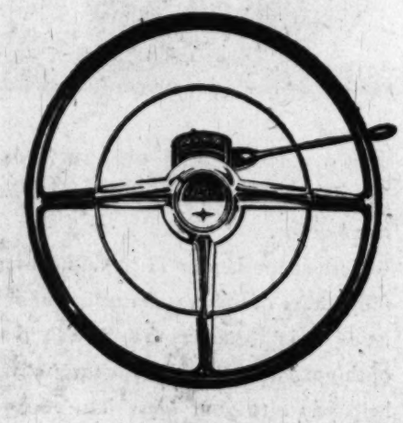
Come In—See How Little It Costs!



Where the new Pontiac is concerned, there are just two kinds of people—proud owners and ardent admirers. And for every owner there are ten admirers!

If you are still among the many who admire Pontiac from afar, we can only tell you this: We are glad you like this beautifully impressive car, but we can't help wondering what keeps you from fulfilling the wish to own one!

The chances are you are missing a lot of satisfaction and pleasure simply because you do not realize how very, very easy it is to own a Pontiac. For Pontiac, in spite of its unrivalled beauty, is a low-priced car. It is, in fact, the lowest-priced straight eight in America, lower priced by far than a great many sixes!

And remember, too, there is much more to admire in a Pontiac than meets the eye. There's no sweeter performing car on the road—and certainly there is no car that will deliver more pleasurable miles with less service attention. Pontiac is famous for its easy-going dependability.

Come in and let us show you just how little money it takes to become a Pontiac owner. You'll be pleasantly surprised—because it's a lot less than you think!

LOWEST-PRICED CAR IN THE WORLD WITH HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE gives you unsurpassed "automatic" driving ease. No clutch pedal. No continuous shifting. You just sit back and drive! GM Hydra-Matic has proved, in millions of miles of driving, the most economical of all automatic transmissions! Optional on all models at extra cost.

Mother Abducted, Child Tells Police

Sought Here By Husband

MRS. LOUIS JEWELL, wife of a Wyandotte, Mich., furniture merchant, was being sought here yesterday by her husband, who said she left home on September 1. Private detectives have traced her here and she is known to have spent two days at an address on 16th st. nw. Her husband said she is 19, around 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has hazel eyes and is five months pregnant. He may be reached at the Willard Hotel

Philadelphia, Oct. 23 (AP).—An 11-State search was launched today for a man 9-year-old Marcy Forstein said slung her pajama-clad mother over his back and carried her away.

The missing woman is 40-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Forstein, blonde wife of Magistrate Jules Forstein.

Mrs. Forstein disappeared Tuesday night. Her husband reported the matter to police Thursday.

Then Marcy told her story. At first police didn't believe her. They took her to a psychiatrist, who reported Marcy "apparently was telling the truth."

Here is Marcy's story:

"I was asleep in the back room. I heard the door open downstairs. I went and looked over the rail. I saw a man come up the stairs. He walked right into mother's room in the front of the house.

"Mother was lying on the floor on her face. She had been resting. The man turned her over on her back, picked her up and put her over his right shoulder so that her head hung over his back. She had on pajamas.

"As he turned the steps I said: 'What are you doing?' And he said: 'Go back to sleep, little one; your mother is all right.'" shoulder. Teague turned and started to talk to Howard. Suddenly Howard lashed out and struck Teague in the face with his fist. Teague's cap went tumbling to the ground.

Police said that Mrs. Forstein was beaten five years ago by a mysterious intruder.

Teague pulled out his police blackjack and in the same motion grabbed Howard's arm and pinioned it behind his back.

Teague, with Howard secured in an arm lock, started to march his prisoner to a nearby police call box. Spyies picked up Teague's cap and placed it on the policeman's head.

As he did this, Howard brought up his arm and threw Teague over his shoulder. Teague landed on his back and when he got to his feet Howard had his blackjack.

As Howard advanced on him swinging the blackjack, Teague put up his nightstick. Howard made a swing with the blackjack and struck the nightstick to the ground.

Teague retreated several steps and pulled out his revolver. The policeman ordered Howard to halt but he continued to stalk forward. Teague fired three or four shots. Three of them took effect.

One slug hit Howard in the right side of the chest, another in the left side of the chest and the third grazed the skin under the right arm. Howard was pronounced dead on arrival at Freedmen's Hospital.

Teague was placed in the custody of his commanding officer pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest at 11:30 a. m. today at the morgue.

Police said Howard's record showed an arrest on June 20, 1936, for unlawful entry. The sentence was $25 or 30 days.

He forfeited $5 each on three arrests in 1945 and 1946 for disorderly conduct, and $10 on an arrest for being drunk in 1943. He was arrested in 1947 on a false pretenses charge but police records show no disposition of the case.

Prayers Fail to Halt Epidemic of Fires

New Delhi, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—A crowd of 2000 gathered today in front of a white concrete bungalow following reports clothes and other fabrics in the building burst into flame spontaneously.

The Hindu occupants said they spent a sleepless night racing from room to room beating out burning clothes, tablecloths, sheets and curtains.

Police were told that a 10-year-old daughter first noticed the flames in garments hung on a hook and that within a few minutes other fabrics in various parts of the house began to smoulder.

A Brahmin priest prayed all night, but residents of the house said the fires continued to break out.

Cigarettes Eyed in Lung Cancer Rise

Chicago, Oct. 23 (U.P.).—A mysterious factor in modern-day living, perhaps heavy cigarette smoking, is causing a "remarkable" increase in cancers of the lung, the Inter-American Congress of Surgery was told today.

Dr. Evarts A. Graham, professor of surgery at Washington University of St. Louis, told 100 delegates from South America, Mexico and Cuba that recent studies showed the lung has displaced the stomach as the most frequent site of cancer in the internal organs of men.

Graham said there was every indication excessive cigarette smoking was an important factor. But he said it was felt other causes, as yet unknown, also were contributing.

He said it was "tempting to assign importance" to the automobile and the use of petroleum and its products in the study of lung cancer. But he said preliminary research showed that while "there may be a somewhat higher percentage of lung cancer in garage men and workers in the oil industry, the incidence is not strikingly different from the general population."

Graham said a study of 400 cases showed it was very rare to encounter a man with squamous cancer of the lung, the most common type, who had not been an excessive cigarette smoker for years. In the study, lung cancer showed up in 18 men for every woman who had it.

The surgeon said that by excessive smoking he meant more than a package a day.

But he said "it should be emphasized that it is not necessary that he be an excessive smoker at the time of the diagnosis. It may be five before the cancer shows up."

"The use of tobacco in other forms, as in pipes or cigars, does not appear to bear any relationship to the incidence of cancer of the lung," Graham said.

Man Kills Wife, Mother-in-Law, Then Wounds Self

Richmond, Va., Oct. 23 (AP).—Two women were shot to death today and a 21-year-old man, charged with the slayings, was in a critical condition in a hospital.

Police said John Wray Smith told them he shot his wife, Carrie, 24, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ada King, 50, then himself, after a quarrel.

Smith gave an incoherent account of the shootings. He used a .22-caliber repeating rifle.

LOWELL THOMAS SAYS, "I WAITED 25 YEARS FOR MY ROUND-THE-WORLD VACATION!"

Official historian of man's first flight around the world, Lowell Thomas points out that today you can do it by Clipper* in less than 82 flying hours . . . Or you can stop over en route as long as you want.

*Trade Mark, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

"In the very last sentence of my book about the U. S. Army's flight around the world in 1924, I quoted a tribute offered to those daring aviators at San Diego, California, by Admiral Robinson:

'Other men will fly around the earth, but never again will anybody fly around it for the first time.'

"Admiral Robinson was right, of course, about mankind in general—but he was wrong about you and me as individuals.

"I have just flown around the world, by Clipper, for the first time in my life! You can do the same, thanks to another important date in aviation history—the first commercial round-the-world flight by Pan American World Airways, which took off from New York on June 17th, 1947.

"It's directly as a result of this second important date and the regular Clipper service which has been operating every week since then, that I've been able to do what I've waited for 25 years to do—fly around the world in luxury.

"By the way—despite what happened to me in Tibet—it was worth waiting for!"

Lowell Thomas

1924—Lowell Thomas flew thousands of miles in a plane which accompanied the U. S. Army flyers on their historic, round-the-world flight. The U. S. Army flight took 172 days in single-engine biplanes . . . regular Pan American service today takes less than a week in big 4-engine Clippers.

You can fly 'round the world by Clipper in 6 days or 6 months, just as you prefer. You can start in either direction, East or West. The fare from any city in the U. S., returning to that city (and including connecting airline to New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle or Portland) is $1700.

For nearer destinations, such as Bermuda and Hawaii, Clipper fares are extremely low and flying times the fastest there are—3 hours from New York to Bermuda—8¾ hours from the West Coast to Hawaii.

Wherever you want to fly in the world, ask first about Clipper service. The World's Most Experienced Airline is now serving 65 countries and colonies, was first around the world and has logged more miles of over-ocean flight than any airline, domestic or foreign.

One on the Aisle—

Nathan Volcano Erupts Again

By Richard L. Coe

AS A PRACTIONEER in the same racket, I naturally am wildly jealous of George Jean Nathan, whose filing system must be an IBM exclusive.

The professor (by editorial courtesy) has just erupted his twenty-eighth volume on the state of the theater and as usual his elephantine chatter is the envy of all working the same not-so-gold mine.

This year, including his "Especially Interesting Performances' listing, he fills 363 pages, as opposed, in his recent annuals, to 370 last year, 380 the year before, 370 the year before that and 342 for '44-'45 season. I throw this in to show that I am striving to collate as impressive a filing system as the multi-lingual M. Nathan's.

For the Nathan statistical ability might well be the envy of Yale's mechanical brain. Pondering that now "a musical with even one or two pretty girls in it is almost a phenomenon," he reels of the names of several hundred attractive ladies he's wolfed through the years, as the body of his review for 1948's "Sally." He belittles early condemnation of budding playwrights by pointing to early failures of the leading dramatists of Sweden, Norway, France, Germany, Russia, England and America with a familiarity no other American critic can approach.

His use of the vertical pronoun, his standards of citicism and his contradictory dicta—all Nathan trademarks—he once more elaborates, using inconsequential or hit productions as springboards. He views "the theater as something a little higher and better and more important than a mere mart of trade." He makes clear once again the impossibility of a reviewer giving anything but his own personal reaction—hence the unabashed and correct "I." Just when his impatience with a generally admired work makes one wonder why must he be so perverse, he tosses off a bouquet for Mae West or musical comedy. Nathan's affection for musical comedy is always my ultimate—and frequently much-needed—assurance that the man is human.

Yes, Dr. Nathan is in his accustomed form. His deceptively titled "The Theater Book of the Year" is more a continuation of the personal mind-dartings of G. J. N. than an informative record of a reason's offerings and why not? He manages to give you an impression of a year at the same time making one regret that John Gunther has preempted that preposition which fits Professor Nathan like a skullcap—"Inside."

"THE THEATER BOOK OF THE YEAR: 1948-49" by George Jean Nathan. Knopf, $4.

NEWEST of the theater annals is now out in both paper and cloth-bound editions, Daniel Blum's pictured-chocked volume, "Theater World."

This is the fifth in the series and a mighty provocative set of pictures it is. The Blum plan is to give you pictures of play scenes and what a batch of memories those pictures can evoke! Short-lived plays may rate only three or four pictures, but a hit logically enough may receive as many as three full pages, with cast, a sentence about the plot, full credits and dates of the run. The printing is invariably clear and sharp and the candid shots are especially interesting.

Blum also expands his coverage, with notes on off-Broadway plays and a summary of summer stock theaters by Vernon Rice. Biographical paragraphs and numberless photographs of players, directors and producers as well as a splendid index complete this grand souvenir of theatrical activity elsewhere during Washington's first theaterless season.

"THEATER WORLD" edited by Daniel Blum. Greenberg. Cloth: $3.50. Paper, $2.

OTHER BOOK notes of a book-filled fall:

Oldest of the theater annuals, the Burns Mantle "Best Plays" series now edited by John Chapman, will be published by Dodd, Mead next week.

Those two volumes about the Old Vic company, of which I've had several queries, are "The Old Vic in Photographs," by John Vickers, and "Old Vic Drama," a 12-year study of plays and players by Audrey Williamson.

The photograph album, a handsome thing indeed, has been published from the Saturn Press plates (London) by New York's new Auvergne Publishers, 63 5th ave. This firm plans to bring out American printings of European theatrical volumes. I've not found it in any of the local shops and suggest you write Auvergne for their catalogue.

Miss Williamson's study is a labor of love, also handsomely illustrated, has an enchanting foreword by Dame Sybil Thorndyke. It's published in England by Rockliff, Salisbury Square, London. The British Book Centre, 122 East 55th st., New York, has this. I picked up my copy in London at Foyle's on Charing Cross Road for a bit over three bucks at the present exchange rate.

COMING CLOSER: Olivia de Havilland and Montgomery Clift as the shy spinster and her fortune-hunting suitor in "The Heiress," Paramount's adaptation of the stage hit from Henry James' novel, "Washington Square." Hailed as one of the year's finest, the film, is slated for downtown shortly

O'Brien

After a buffet supper beginning at 7:30 p. m., the guests will assemble in the ballroom for a discussion of "Old Days in the Club." Lewis Wood, Gridiron Club historian, will give an account of O'Brien's first Gridiron Club dinner, and Washington Evening Star Cartoonist Clifford K. Berryman will offer some old-time recollections.

O'Brien, who is 84, was personal secretary to President Grover Cleveland from 1892 to 1895. He was Washington correspondent for the Boston Transcript from 1895 to 1906, and was that newspaper's editor from 1906 to 1910.

He was president and editor of the Boston Herald from 1910 until his retirement as a newspaperman on December 31, 1928. He was chairman of the United States Tariff Commission from 1931 to 1937.

'Skins Routed by Eagles, 49-14; Pritchard, Thompson Star: Giants Upset Bears, 35 to 28, on Roberts' 85-Yard Dash

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—The Eagles step jauntily onto the field for their battle with the Redskins this afternoon, apparently happy about the whole business at hand. But in the front office you can hear the Eagles scream, with only 28,885 customers in the pews.

POVICH

Hal Sandifer takes an Eagles' punt to the Redskins' 38-yard line, after neatly side-stepping Chuck Bednarik. Then he gets side-swiped by Herb Schoener, his own end, who at this rate will be a 120-minute player today—on offense for the Redskins and on defense for the Eagles.

Clyde Scott of the Eagles takes Dick Poillon's punt in his midriff and also Redskin End Ed Berrang. He gets rid of Berrang nicely and keeps the ball for a 10-yard return.

7-0, Eagles, oh, bosh! Tommy Thompson just lobbed a flat pass to Bosh Pritchard who ran away from everybody, including his own blockers, on a 75-yard hike to the goal. Thompson could retire right now with a 1.000 passing average.

THE REDSKINS lead in fumbles, 2-0. Sandifer just muffed Muha's kickoff on the Redskins' 5, picked it up and fumbled it again. Eddie Saenz very Saenz-ibly fell on the ball. And the Redskins also lead in recovered fumbles.

If you're asking whatever became of Frank Reagan, the old Penn halfback who put in two years with the Marines and five with the New York Giants, he just bobbed up as a Redskin pass receiver on the payroll of the Eagles. After moseying into the path of Baugh's pass to Sandifer, he took the ball back 20 yards.

14-0 Eagles. From the 3-yard line, Steve Van Buren took the ball and Howie Livingston into the end zone. The touchdown counted six points but the Eagles get no credit for Livingston.

Make it 14-7, Eagles. The Redskins just scored. Baugh faked hand-offs to Dowda and Stout, and then Goode wound up with the ball. A big hole at left guard and a clear field on his 54-yard touchdown gallop. The Redskins at this point were looking very Goode and the Eagles were looking for him.

For Admiral Billick Whelchel on the Redskins' bench the only consolation right now is that he is above suspicion as one of the fancy dan admirals General Bradley was talking about in the House Committee. There's nothing fancy about his Redskins.

Harry Gilmer is now running the Redskins' offense and the Eagles are running him ragged. Green grabbed him for a 12-yard loss on one passing attempt to wipe out most of Gilmer's 18-yard gain on the preceding play.

The Eagles just picked up 60 yards with an unrehearsed tactic. Clyde Scott took the ball 40 yards through right tackle, fumbled on the Redskins' 40, and then watched teammate Duke Maronic snare the ball in midair and go 20 more. It was just something they whipped up between 'em.

35-7, EAGLES. Faith, and they must be using a lively ball. Thompson just hit Neil Armstrong in the end zone on a fourth-down pass, and the Redskins' pass defense is beginning to get offensive to Coach Whelchel.

Sammy Baugh misses with a pass, but he picks up 15 yards for getting roughed by the Eagles. It opens possibilities for the Redskins if Baugh can get himself roughed up often enough.

Touchdown, Redskins. Baugh skitters away from the grasping Eagle ends long enough to let Pete Stout get in the clear and then lays one in Stout's lap on a 21-yard scoring play.

42-14, Eagles. Baugh completes another pass, to a comparative stranger identified as Dick Humbert, Eagle end, who takes the ball 37 yards to the 'Skins' 16. Frank Ziegler, of Georgia Tech and the Eagles, scores the touchdown.

MIDWAY IN THE fourth quarter, the Redskins draw their first penalty of the game, on a pass interference play. It's pretty strong evidence that if the Redskins aren't the best team on the field at least they are the nicest.

49-14, Eagles. Rookie Quarterback Bill Mackrides rides again, on a 2-yard smack at the Redskin middle that nets the Eagles' seventh touchdown, and Cliff Patton's seventh extra point. Patton has now kicked 77 in a row.

At this point, you might say the Redskins are pretty desperate. Trailing by five touchdowns, with only 20 seconds to play. They'll have to think up something brilliant pretty quick, because they don't even have the ball.

Late Screen Pass Snaps 28-All Tie

By Austin Bealmear

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Gene Roberts, the Chattanooga Choo Choo took a screen pass from Charlie Conerly and chugged 85 yards for the winning touchdown in the last period today as the New York Giants sidetracked the Chicago Bears, 35-28, in one of the biggest upsets of the National Football League season.

A Polo Grounds throng of 30,587 sat in astonishment as the amazing Giants piled up a 21-0 lead over the Bears, who only a week ago had knocked off the defending champion Philadelphia Eagles.

Bears' Stars Outpassed

For two periods and part of a third, Conerly outpassed both Sid Luckman and Johnny Lujack. But the Bears got organized in the second half and finally tied the count at 28-28 with nearly 10 minutes of the game remaining.

Starting on their own 15, following the next kickoff, the Giants set up the screen pass with Conerly tossing to Roberts near the sideline.

While his mates bowled over virtually every Bear on the field, the speedy Roberts tore straight down the sidelines for the marker that broke the tie and the Bears' backs.

The Conerly-to-Roberts combination also clicked for two earlier Giant touchdowns. The first score of the game came on a 31-yard pass from Conerly to Roberts.

In the third period Roberts snagged one of Charley's long ones and scampered 23 yards on a play that covered 62 yards in all.

The Giants scored their second touchdown on a 35-yard pass from Conerly to Bill Swiacki and the third came when Emlen Tunnell intercepted one of Lujack's tosses and raced 53 yards to the goal.

Lujack to Keane

Chicago scored twice in the third and twice in the fourth. A 2-yard pass from Lujack to Jim Keane brought the first at the end of a 70-yard march and George McAfee smashed 11 for the second.

The Bears drove 80 yards for their third counter, with Lujack passing to George Gulyanics for the last 3. Their last touchdown came on a 5-yard smash by Julie Rykovich after a 35-yard punt return by McAfee set the stage.

Keane caught 14 passes to tie a league record set by Don Looney of the Eagles against the Washington Redskins in 1940.

Patton Sets Conversion Record at 77

By Bill Burnett
Post Reporter

Philadalphia, Oct. 23.—The Redskins over-played their underdog role today.

It was the only playing they did, however, as the Philadelphia Eagles zoomed to a 49-14 triumph without a struggle at Shibe Park.

The whole thing was settled in 10 minutes. The Eagles needed that much time to generate two touchdowns. From then until the 28,855 customers disgustedly began trooping out of the park it was a question of how badly the Washington forces would be mauled.

Thus the Eagles remained in a tie for the Eastern Division National Football League lead with Pittsburgh, while Washington was taking uncontested possession of fourth place. Both positions were well earned.

The Redskins, actually, didn't deserve to be on the same field as last year's NFL champions. They were pitiful. It was even suggested that the Redskins thought a court order denying Joel Williams, Richmond center, the right to play with them today had been issued against the whole team.

Patton Sets Record

Apparently burned up over a loss to the Chicago Bears last week, the Eagles came out and masterfully smashed the 'Skins as well as a pro team has ever been smashed.

They whipped Washington's lads in practically every department except punting, which scores no points, and kept parts of their second team in action from midway of the second period until the end.

The Redskins couldn't even blame Steve Van Buren, their old nemesis, although he helped the Quaker City crowd to a 28-7 lead before retiring in the second quarter.

Van Buren scored only one of the Eagles' seven touchdowns, the other six being divided among five assorted ball players. Bosh Pritchard, the old VMI ace, got the most—two—but the feature of the runaway was the man who kicked the seven extra points.

With those seven Cliff Patton, former TCU guard, ran his string of single-pointers without a miss to 77, four over the record held since 1937 by Jack Manders. Patton also tried two field goals, but neither was good and nobody cared.

Goode Goes 54 Yards

It was variety, if nothing else, which accounted for the 'Skins' third loss in five games this season. The Eagles, in hanging up their fifth straight victory over the Redskins, scored from distances of from 1 foot to 77 yards. Three intercepted passes launched Philadelphia scoring thrusts.

Washington's only retaliation came in the first and third stanzas. Coach Greasy Neale's club was leading comfortably, 14-0, in the opening frame and the Redskins were wallowing around midfield. Suddenly Rob Goode, their 219-pound halfback, was in the open and fans were asking, "What happened?"

Goode had come right through the middle from his own 46-yard

Cardinals Upset; Rams Win Fifth

Lions Hang Up 24-7 Surprise

Chicago, Oct. 23 (AP).—The alert Detroit Lions won their first National Football League victory in five starts this season today with a 24-7 decision over the Chicago Cardinals before 23,215 at Comiskey Park.

After the Cardinals scored on their first play of the game, an 82-yard sprint by Halfback Elmer Angsman, the Lions came up with a first period score of their own and then banged across 17 points in the final period.

The Lions intercepted six Cardinal passes to pave the way to their first league triumph since beating the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17 to 14, on November 21, 1948, seven games previous.

Clyde LeForce, completing 13 of 31 passes for 199 yards, hurled two Lion scoring flips to Bill Dudley and Johnny Greene. Another Detroit touchdown was scored on a 1-yard smash by Fred Enke after Bob Smith returned a Paul Christman pass interception 16 yards to the Cardinal 1.

Dudley connected from the Cardinal 21 on his fourth field goal try of the afternoon with less than three minutes to play. His three earlier tries failed. Dudley also converted after all three Detroit touchdowns.

After Angsman's explosive scoring burst on a quick-opening play the first time Chicago had the ball, the Cardinals were frustrated by the hard-charging Lion forwards and Detroit's air-tight pass defense.

It was the third setback in five league starts for the Cardinals.

Packers Boot Game, 35-7

Los Angeles, Oct. 23 (AP).—The unbeaten Los Angeles Rams won their fifth traight National Football league game, 35 to 7, over the Green Bay Packers before 37,546 in Memorial Coliseum today.

Three Packer fumbles led to three Los Angeles scores.

Late in the third quarter the Packers, off the running and passing of Jug Girard, Tony Canadeo and Ted Fritsch, pounded 74 yards in seven plays for their lone tally.

Bob Waterfield engineered the Rams 53 yards in eight plays in the opening minutes. Waterfield's short flip to Fred Gehrke for eight yards started the five-touchdown barrage.

Soon afterward, Cricket Kalmanir virtually won the game with a sparkling 62-yard punt return down the sideline.

Fullback Dick Hoerner scored the third touchdown after the Packers fumbled on their 23 and five plays had placed the ball on the Packer 2.

Jerry Williams added the other two tallies on the costly Green Bay fumbles o nthe 4 and 7-yard lines.

Pro Leagues On Verge of Peace, Is Report

Chicago, Oct. 23 (AP).—The Chicago Sun-Times said today peace "is on the verge of being declared" in the war between the National Football League and the All-America Conference.

In a dispatch from Hollywood by Irv Kupcinet, Sun-Times columnist, the newspaper said:

"An arrangement has been worked out by interested members of both leagues which will find only three members of the All-America Conference surviving the merger—Cleveland's Browns, San Francisco's Forty-niners and the New York Yankees.

"One National League team, the New York Bulldogs, will be merged with the New York Giants to form a 12-team league.

The Sun-Times story said owners of the Browns and the Forty-niners promoted the peace move to save their teams from crumbling

"George Halas of the Bears, George P. Marshall of the Washington Redskins, and Tim Mara of the New York Giants are known to have put their okay on the merger.

[In Baltimore, Robert C. Embry, vice president of the Colts, had this to say:

["The Conference is outdrawing the National League all over the country. We plan to operate next year, even to add an eighth team. As far as Baltimore is concerned, we plan to have a pro football team here indefinitely."]

Rookie Lost for Season

Steelers Whip Bulldogs, 24-13, For Third Straight Victory

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Steelers won their third straight National Football League game today, 24-13, after turning back a fighting New York Bulldog team that threatened throughout the first half to tie up the game.

Chief casualty of the slambang game before 22,042 fans was Don Samuel, recruit Steeler wingback from Orgeon State. The southpaw passer uffered a dislocated right knee on the eleventh play of the first period. Samuel was taken to a McKeesport hospital where dostors said he was through for the season.

The Steelers took an early lead in what resulted in their fourth victory in five games. The win kept Pittsburgh on top the League's Eastern Division.

The Steelers went 80 yards in five plays for the first score. Jerry Nuzum circled his own left end for the tally. Joe Glamp's kick was good.

New York struck right back as penalties helped it to reach the Pittsburgh 23. The Bulldogs went on to score on Bobby Layne's crack at center. Nick Scollard's placement tied the score.

A 17-yard field goal by Glamp put Pittsburgh ahead again.

Scollard tied up the game again in the second quarter with a 27-yard field goal. Five minutes later, Pittsburgh staged a 71-yard touchdown drive and Joe Geri scored from the 3. Glamp kicked the extra point.

Scollard placekicked his second field goal from the 25-yard line to put New York back in the ball game at halftime, although trailing 17-13.

Pittsburgh required only eight plays to score in the third quarter and sew up the game. Nuzum circled his left end for the final touchdown. Glamp converted.

Yankees Down 49'ers, 24-3

Young Cuts Loose For 2 Touchdowns

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Buddy Young, a football whirlwind, broke loose for a pair of New York touchdowns today that helped defeat San Francisco, 24 to 3, and lifted the Yankees into a tie for first with Cleveland in the All-America Conference.

The Yankees now have won five and lost one, while Cleveland has the same won and lost figures, but also has been tied once.

Young raced behind a Yankee line that held San Francisco to 49 yards on the ground and gave Frankie Albert, the California pass master, the worst afternoon of his pro career.

Joe Vetrano's field goal gave San Francisco a 3 to 0 edge in the first half during which the tackling and blocking rattled the teeth of 36,197 paying customers. But the 49ers couldn't register a single first down in the second half.

During the last two sessions Albert's throwing was so rushed he completed but three of 17 attempted flips. In all he found his target 13 times in 30 tries, had four tosses intercepted and gained 137 yards.

Young carried the ball only nine times but picked up 64 yards. Twenty came in the third quarter when he sneaked through left tackle for a touchdown. The Yankees had gotten the ball two plays earlier when Jack Russell intercepted an Albert pass. Young's second score minutes later came at the end of a 61-yard march. He caught Dan Panciera's toss on the 8 and bumped over.

Earlier in the period Harvey Johnson had kicked a 34-yard field goal.

Just before the final gun Sherman Howard bulled across the goal line from eight yards out for a third Yankee touchdown. A Yankee punt had sailed into the end zone and the Californians took the ball on the 20. On the second play, Albert was thrown on the 3. When the losers couldn't make their yardage the Yankees took over on the 16 and pushed their way to a score.

Yankees Top Giants In "Battle of Gate"

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—The New York Yankees of the All-America Conference outdrew the New York Giants of the National Fotoball League here today in the first direct "battle of the gate" this season between the two teams.

The Yankees and San Francisco 49ers pulled in 36,197 fans to Yankee Stadium and the Giants attracted 30,587 to the Polo Grounds.

Luke Sewell Reds' Pilot

Cincinnati, Oct. 23 (AP).—Luke Sewell tonight was named manager of the Cincinnati Reds for 1950 and 1951.

The former big league catcher was head coach under Bucky Walters in the season recently ended, and was in charge of the club twice—when the manager was under suspension, and in the last three games of the year, when Walters left the team after being notified that he had been released, effective at the close of the schedule.

Managing a big league club is nothing new to Sewell. He managed the St. Louis Browns in the American League from June 5, 1941 to August 31, 1946. In that time he led the club—a financially poor outfit—into the World Series in 1944.

Sewell is the third manager the Cincinnati club has had in two years.

Johnny Neun managed the team in 1947 and through most of 1948. When the "wolves" in the stands got after Neun late in the season, Bucky Walters, for many years a greats Reds' pitcher, took over.

District Rollers Beat Brooklyn

Brooklyn's Bombers lost their Captain Midge 'Tuffy" Brasuhn and a Roller Derby thriller to Washington-Baltimore's Wildcats, 15-14, last night at Uline Arena before 1684 spectators.

Washington-Baltimore now has a three-game-to-one lead as they await the fifth match this evening when Ladies' Night will be observed. Tuffy was thrown out when she spilled Wildcat Mary Mary Gardner. Gardner wasn't hurt but Tuffy was—with a $50 fine after she threw a helmet at the official.

Jimmy Won First Time

Cooper and Titone Battle In Turner Rematch Tonight

Jimmy Cooper, District featherweight champion, and Charlie Titone, Brooklyn Italian, will fight for the second time within a month at Turner's Arena tonight. Cooper ruled a slight favorite.

Cooper and Titone may stage a duplicate of their 10-round main event three weeks ago in which the Washington boy came through with a fast tenth round to win a split decision.

Titone piled up an early lead with his fancy boxing, but succumbed to Cooper's punches in the final round.

The loss was Titone's first in two years and only his fifth in a four-year pro career.

Cooper has the promise of a chance at Manuel Ortiz's bantamweight championship here next May if he keeps his record going good.

Cooper has been promised the title shot by Ortiz, whom he defeated here last August, but two conditions are attached. Cooper must maintain his winning pace and must make the 118-pound bantamweight limit.

Pat Thomas, former Golden Glover who has won seven straight since turning professional, will fight Billy Unk, of Washington, in the semifinal lightweight scrap. Thomas has scored five knockouts.

Preliminaries, all four rounders, have Cy Redman boxing Sammy Kelsey, Jimmy O'Brien fighting Sugar Boy Scott and George Carrigan tackling Tunk Mayfield. First bout is 8:45 p. m.

Hornets Profit by Colts' Fumbles, Turn in 17 to 7 Triumph

Baltimore Loses 7th In 8 Games

Baltimore, Oct. 23 (AP).—Johnny Clement, a refugee from the National League, led the Chicago Hornets in cashing in on Baltimore fumbles to score a 17-7 All-America Conference victory before 23,107 fans in Babe Ruth Stadium today.

The victory bolstered Chicago's bid for a conference play-off berth with a record of four and three. It was the seventh defeat in eight games suffered by Baltimore.

Clement, who jumped to Chicago from the Pittsburgh Steelers at the start of the season, figured prominently in both Hornet scores in the second period. He scored one and his pass, good for 59 yards, set up the other.

Jim McCarthy, who converted after both scores, started the Chicago scoring with a first-period field goal that traveled 42 yards, longest of the season in the conference.

The Colts, frustrated throughout the game by their six fumbles, finally tallied with 6 minutes left to play. Herman Wedemeyer set the stage by running 20 yards to the Hornet 35, where he lateraled to Bob Kelly who went on to the 14. Y. A. Tittle sneaked over from the 1 after he completed a 13-yard pass to Lamar Davis.

Clement collaborated with Albin Collins to spearhead the two Hornet touchdowns. On the second play of the second period they worked one that carried from their own 41 to the Colt 1. George Buksar bucked it over from there.

The Colts, who previously had fumbled on the 20 and lost the ball, dropped another on the Chicago 23. Ray Ramsey scooped up the ball and raced back to the Baltimore 34. Clement then tossed to Collins on the 3 and he took it over himself on the next play.

Chicago recovered five of the six Baltimore fumbles, Bob Jensen falling on two of them.

FINGER-TIP CONTROL—Redskins End Hugh Taylor was all set to haul in Harry Gilmer's third-quarter pass, but End Johnnie Green, of the Eagles, busted into the party and shagged it instead. On the right, Clyde (Smackover) Scott cracks through the middle of the 'Skins line for a 9-yard gain, wiggling out of the grip of Mike Katrishen, 'Skins guard. Katrishen and the rest of the 'Skins weren't on guard on this play and few others and result was a 49-14 cakewalk for the Eagles in Philadelphia

Bogart, Hart Win Second Title in Row

By West McLean
Post Reporter

Ralph Bogart and Jerry Hart marched to their second straight Maryland State four-ball championship with a 3 and 2 win over Bob Morris and Eddie Semmler yesterday at Columbia Country Club. Bogart and Hart represented Annapolis Roads Club, while Morris and Semmler were playing from Prince Georges Country Club.

Hart sank a 10-foot putt for a birdie deuce on the 154-yard sixteenth and Morris and Semmler both missed their shots from 12 and 14 feet to keep the match alive.

Morris and Semmler got off to a bad start, both three-putting the first hole, which Bogart won with a bogey. The Chevy Chase blaster birdied the third and Jerry Hart chipped into the fourth for a birdie deuce. Bogart got another birdie on the fifth. Semmler cut the defending champs' lead to 3 up with a birdie on the eighth and they turned that way.

Bob Morris cut into the Bogart-Hart lead again with a birdie on the tenth, but the Morris-Semmler combination lost 11 to par, before Morris birdied 13. Jerry Hart, however, got his second birdie deuce on 16 to end the match, 3 and 2.

Bogart was even par for the 16 holes played; Hart, two over; Morris three over; and Semmler, four over.

CONGRESSIONAL—Alan B. Mills fired a 39, 39—78 to win the senior championship. Mills took a 9 on the tenth hole and then played the last eight holes in 30 to finish in front. The 55-63 class gross went to E. S. Draper, 41, 42—83 and the net to H. J. Klosner, 80—13—67. J. F. McCarron, 83—76 took the 63 and over net with Mills getting the gross award.

Joan Crampton and C. E. Huntley won the gross in a mixed Scotch foursome event with an 88. Net went to Mrs. H. J. Klosner and F. E. McArdle, 90—15—75.

WASHINGTON—Mrs. H. M. Nelson and G. Dinberg, 94—17—77, won the Hackett Cup in a playoff with Mrs. R. L. Brister and R. H. Rice, 95—14—81.

BETHESDA—Jerry Hart and Wayne McGee defeated Jack Ferguson and R. Oxrider, 1 up, in 25 holes in the first round of the two-man team matches. Ed Roell and Phil Donaldson beat George Winkler and H. Lurton, 3 and 2; Tony Popolaski and George Hopkins edged R. Burney and J. Shearon, 1 up, in 20 holes; Dick Melvin and C. Lacey upset Alan Sherier and Joe Giamatteo, 1 up; Serge Folk and Dick Reasoner trounced W. Hurd and D. Swayne, 4 and 3, and J. E. Williams and F. Donaldson ousted Earl Skinker and Frank Huseman, 1 up.

MANOR—Carl Beley, 91—10—81; C. A. Alber, 86—5—81; and H. E. Davies, 98—17—81, tied for the top spot in the annual turkey tournament. Mrs. Tom Wilber, 108—25—83, won the ladies event.

Harry Ewen, Dick Kane and M. Seligman all carded 73s to tie for the blind bogey award. Terry Corcoran, Bob Hayes, C. B. Hartman, William Gorowitz and Ray Weinberg posted 71s to lock for the second lucky numbers.

Eagles Lace Redskins, 49-14

Thompson, Pritchard Pace Philadelphia

line and there was nobody near him as he reached the secondary. He ran the 54 yards goalward with Frank Reagan at his heels but never near enough.

The only other Redskin touchdown was almost as surprising. Philadelphia's margin had mounted to 35-7 by half-time, and the 'Skins were milling around helplessly with Howie Livingston's interception at the Eagle 23. In three plays they gained just 2 yards and Sammy Baugh went back for a desperation pass.

Fullback Pete Stout was at about the Eagle 7 when he grabbed Sam's toss and battled his way across the goal line. Dick Poillon kicked his second straight conversion to close out Washington's altogether futile attempt at scoring.

Baugh wound up with only four complete passes in 13 attempts and gave over to Harry Gilmer, who ran the team and did the passing for the last period and a half. Gilmer's record was six good ones in 21 tries for 96 yards, but he carried the ball seven times for 53 more yards.

Coach Billick Whelchel's inadequate forces went behind the second time Philadelphia had the ball. Clyde Scott ran a punt back to the Eagle 24, Van Buren made one yard, and Tommy Thompson and Pritchard did the rest. Pritchard accepted the toss on the Eagle 38 and tore away from Clyde Goodnight to make it a 75-yard touchdown play.

Six minutes later, on the end of a 31-yard drive with an intercepted Baugh pass, Van Buren cracked over from the 3. He was pulled back, but too late, by Livingston.

Philadelphia took a breather then, but started up all over as the second quarter opened. In three minutes they hung up two more touchdowns.

The first capped a 57-yard march, in nine plays, with Thompson sneaking over from a foot out. The second was a 77-yard march, all in one play. Pritchard broke between Dan Sandifer and Laurie Niemi in the massed Redskin defense and was all by himself for the last 70 yards.

When Washington threatened to close the gap with its second touchdown, making it only 35-14, the Redskins threw away a break and the Eagles made the most of it.

Niemi recovered a Joe Muha fumble but after two Redskin scrimmages Dick Humbert intercepted another Baugh pass and in four plays there was another Eagle score on the board. Frank Ziegler, Van Buren's replacement, got credit for another 1-foot touchdown on his third carry from the Redskin 10.

Patton Sets Mark With 7 Conversions

The Eagles' final score was managed the hard way. Humbert's interception of Gilmer's toss, this time, gave the hosts possession on their own seven. Bill Mackrides, was quarterbacking the club as it used up 19 plays and a lot of time in a 93-yard advance for the game's final points. Mackrides himself pushed over the Redskin center for the last yard and a 49-14 final score.

Well, there's always next year.

Pantos, Idle Four Weeks, May Rejoin Vikings Friday

Jimmy Pantos, Central's fleet halfback, is expected to return to action this week when the Vikings tangle with Blair Friday afternoon at Central. Pantos injured his shoulder in the Roosevelt game four weeks ago and has been sidelined since except for four plays in the Anacostia game.

Pantos ran into some scholastic difficulty for failure to attend classes and Central Principal Lawrence Hoover has suspended him until he can make up his school work. Jimmy promised Coach Lew Chacos that he will be caught up in time for the Blair game.

Jimmy was used on only four plays in the 13-13 tie with Anacostia and gained 76 yards in his four attempts that day. Against a weak Bell team, the following week, Pantos wasn't missed as Central won, 66-0, but Coolidge almost tied Central before bowing in the final period, 6-0, last week.

"Without Pantos, we're playing without our right arm," says Chacos. "I expect him back for the Blair game, however."

Central, currently tied with McKinley Tech for the northern section lead in the Interhigh League, still has to play Eastern, November 4, before their big game with the Techites on November 19. The winner of that game seems certain to represent the northern section against the southern sectional winner for the Interhigh championship November 25 at 8 p. m. in Griffith Stadium.

Merchants, Eastern Tie, 7-7; Riverside Defeats Casbah

Southwest Merchants battled the favored defending champion, Eastern A. C., to a 7-7 deadlock yesterday in a Metropolitan amateur football league game before 3000 spectators at Jefferson Playground.

Halfback Billy Pickler put the Easterners in the lead in the first period when he ran around left end for 40 yards and a touchdown. Teddy Dyer made it 7-0. Southwest came back in the second period. Bob Decker, fullback, crashed over from the 1-yard line culminating a 65-yard sustained drive and Jerry Osborne tied it up with his conversion.

Riverside Rollers took over possession of first place in the League's western division in the nightcap of a doubleheader yesterday at Gonzaga, beating Casbah Restaurant, 14-0. Fullback Norman Wacker scored in first and third periods for the touchdowns. Puggy King, who also passed to Wacker for the second score, converted both placements.

Anacostia Eagles unlimiteds defeated the independent Silver Spring A. C., 24-0, in the first game of the twin bill.

In other 160-pound Metro League clashes, Arrow Linen and Great Falls fought to a 6-6 tie at Forestville, Md., and Brookland-Woodbridge Merchants swamped the Wasco Bullets, 49-0, at Alexandria Municipal Stadium.

Santa Clara Beats Loyola, 27-19

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 23 (AP)—Fullback Buster Wraith's 87-yard run with an intercepted pass started the Santa Clara Broncos to a 27 to 19 victory over Loyola University of Los Angeles today.

Wraith's run broke a 7-7 deadlock in the second period.

7-Up, Lyon Park Tie

Seven Up and Lyon Park fought to a 6-6 tie yesterday at the Ellipse in an Arlington Recreation League game.

Bills Edge Dons, 17-14; Rough Game

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Buffalo Bills withstood a late rally by the Los Angeles Dons today to take a 17-14 All-America Football Conference victory before 21,310 spectators in Civic Stadium and avenge an earlier defeat.

Los. A.	STATISTICS	Buff.
7	First downs	23
110	Yards gained rushing	325
17	Forward passes attempted	19
6	Forward passes completed	14
78	Yards gained forward passes	138
0	Passes intercepted by	1
0	Yards gained runback of intercep.	1
34.2	Average yardage punts	34.6
67	Yards all kicks returned	12
2	Opponents' fumbles recovered	1
20	Yards lost by penalties	10

Early in the second quarter, the Dons' Knox Ramsey leaped on Ollie Cline with what the Bills thought was unnecessary vigor. After considerable loud talk and milling about, the Bills were set back 15 yards for unnecessary roughness—and then another 15 for protesting.

Burr Baldwin, Los Angeles end, was injured during a goal line stand, also in the second period, and was removed to a hospital, where examination disclosed he suffered a concussion. His condition was reported "very good."

The Bills scored their two touchdowns in the first quarter. They marched 71 yards on 13 plays, Lou Tomasetti cracking over from the 1. Chet Adams kicked his first of two extra points.

Alex Wizbicki set up the second touchdown by intercepting Glenn Dobbs' pass on the Bills' 49. Ratterman flung to Al Baldwin for the final 16 yards.

In the second period Adams booted an 11-yard field goal that provided the eventual difference.

Paul Crowe picked up Vito Kissell's fumble and raced 56 yards for the first Los Angeles score in the third period. Bob Nelson converted. Shortly afterward, rain fell and the lights were turned on.

In the last quarter, Hosea Rodgers smashed into the end zone from two yards out.

Los Angeles	0	0	7	7	—14
Buffalo	14	3	0	0	—17

Los Angeles: Touchdowns—Crowe, Rodgers. Points after touchdowns—Nelson (2). Buffalo: Touchdowns—Tomasetti, Baldwin. Points after touchdowns—Adams (2). Field goal—Adams.

Newcombe, Sievers Rookies of eYar

St. Louis, Oct. 23 (AP)—Don Newcombe, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, and Roy Sievers, the St. Louis Browns' slugging rookie outfielder, were named "rookies of the year" for their respective leagues by the Sporting News today.

The publication named the pair on the basis of votes by sports writers who follow the major league clubs Newcombe was an almost unanimous choice for the National League award. He won 17 and lost 8 in 1949.

In the American League Sievers had some competition, "but not enough to dispute his selection." Sievers finished the season with a .306 batting average with 16 home runs.

Irish Lose

Irish A. C. defeated Greenway, 13-0 as Don Brussove returned an intercepted pass 40 yards for the first score and Malcom Carhart bucked over from the five for the other. Charles Carhart converted.

Coaltown-Capot Duel Features Pimlico Meet

Old Hilltop Track Opens Tomorrow

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

With the famed Pimlico Special as one of a number of top-flight attractions Maryland's fall racing season swings into Pimlico on Tuesday. Seventeen days of the sport under the wing of the Maryland Jockey Club and four days for Havre de Grace have been combined into a 21-session meeting at the ancient Hilltop strip.

The Special, $15,000 winner-take-all classic at a mile and three-sixteenths, will not be jammed with horse traffic. In fact it will be a two-horse race, a renewal of the 1949 feud of Calumet Farm's Coaltown and Greentree Stable's Capot.

While this hardly shapes up as another Seabiscuit-War Admiral battle, it has enough angles to please turf fans and Friday afternoon should find the old stands creaking at the seams.

Coaltown will be out to gain revenge over Capot, for a beating in the Sysonby Mile. Marching postward for that race, Coaltown seemed to have a lock and key on the "Horse of the Year" title. Then up popped Capot.

Coaltown not only will have his own reputation to defend but he also will be out to aid Ponder, his 3-year-old stablemate. Capot, generally considered second to Ponder in the sophomore ranks, could gain a lot of votes as the year's best 3-year-old should he repeat over Coaltown.

Calumet's handlers, B. A. and H. A. Jones, deserve a hand. If they had named both Coaltown and Ponder the race would have gone to the table without opposition. J. M. Gaver, Greentree trainer, had announced he would not allow Capot to take on two Calumet stars, mindful of course that Calumet could give his colt the one-two punch.

Two other major stakes are scheduled for the first five days. Tomorrow the Governor Bowie Handicap at a mile and six furlongs will be contested with some eight or 10 distance stars expected to see action.

The first weekend show will be topped by the Marguerite Stakes, for 2-year-old fillies. It will be another test for Alfred G. Vanderbilt's fleet Bed O'Roses. In addition to meeting some of the opposition encountered in the Selima, the Vanderbilt miss will tackle possibly Calumet's Duchess Peg.

Pimlico will have a 1:15 p. m. post time.

More Volume-More Value

REASONS FOR CHEVROLET LEADERSHIP

More- CHEVROLET OWNERS

There were more Chevrolets sold in this area and there are more Chevrolets owned and operated in this area than any other make car. Consequently, never before has there been such sweeping demand for authorized Chevrolet parts and services. The best place to get both is your Chevrolet Dealer!

More- CHEVROLET TRUCKS

*More Chevrolet Trucks have been sold this year than the next two makes combined! No doubt about it! With people who know trucks, people who insist upon getting the most service for the least cash outlay, it's Chevrolet Advance-Design Trucks—two to one! Chevrolet leads the field in overwhelming majority. Your Chevrolet Dealer specializes in servicing and repairing trucks.

More- OK USED CARS . . .

Chevrolets are the most popular of all make used cars. More in demand, consistently low-priced, sold by your Chevrolet Dealer with his guarantee to be conditioned with typical Chevrolet care and thoroughness. A Chevrolet OK Used Car is always a top value. Buy it with confidence.

More- 137,899 CAR OWNERS

can't be wrong! They had their cars serviced by Chevrolet Dealers last year! More proof that when Chevrolet Owners want the best, they go to a Chevrolet Dealer. His service never costs more, often less. He has the parts, the experience, the interest to see that you get the best!

More- SERVICE FACILITIES

The combined service facilities of your Chevrolet Dealers offer a half-million square feet of space dedicated exclusively to Chevrolet service, backed by their combined experience of 175 years. If you own a Chevrolet . . . or two . . . or a fleet of them, you have the world's leader back of you!

More- 3,970 GENUINE PARTS

It takes that many parts to make a Chevrolet, exactly that many parts to keep it in perfect running order. And only your authorized Chevrolet Dealer keeps a complete stock of them on hand. When you take your Chevrolet to him, you never need worry about what went into it when you get it back . . . you never get a substitute.

Chevrolet Leadership is undeniable . . . and constantly increasing! Every time a car owner becomes a Chevrolet Owner, repair and service facilities always keep pace with increased demand! Your Chevrolet Dealer regards it as his responsibility to the owner and to the car to be ready to meet any Chevrolet service requirement. That is his creed. Responsibility to the owner, respect for the product he sells, regard for the satisfaction that every Chevrolet Owner expects and justly deserves.

Your Chevrolet Dealers in the Washington Area have combined their facilities to meet the unprecedented demand for genuine Chevrolet service parts and repairs. Never before in automotive history has any group offered collective strength and convenience of such vast proportions. No matter where you bought your Chevrolet, take it to your nearest Chevrolet Dealer for attention (listed below). Truly the men who make Chevrolets . . . the men who sell them . . . the men who constantly work on them . . . know your Chevrolet best! Why settle for less?

The Federal Diary

by Jerry Kluttz

Lobbying by Workers And Some of Leaders May Be Investigated

LOBBYING: An inquiry into lobbying by Federal workers and their representatives has been debated in off-the-record sessions on Capitol Hill.

At these meetings, it was learned, charges were made that Government employe union officials are violating the lobby law by failing to register under it. Two possible steps were suggested which are:

1. To urge the special congressional committee set up recently to look into the charges, and,

2. To request the Justice Department to prosecute the employe leaders who are charged with lobbying and who have not complied with the lobby law.

The legislative representatives of most employe unions and groups are registered as lobbyists. In many cases, the elected officials of the unions aren't registered and they are accused of lobbying in behalf of bills to benefit Federal workers.

It's no secret that an influential congressional bloc resented the pressure from Federal workers and their representatives to enact the pay-reclassification bills. The successful campaign for these bills inspired the check on employe leaders to determine how many of them had registered as lobbyists.

However, no one member of Congress will assume the responsibility for initiating the check-up. A member who asked not to be identified told me:

"It was the spontaneous wish of many members of Congress. The lobbying for the pay bills is only part of the story." And then he added: "You weren't supposed to know anything about it."

PENTAGON: A change may be made soon in the administration of the cafeterias and snack bars in the Pentagon. The objective is to give the employes there a better deal and to offset criticism of the cafeterias and other business concerns in the Pentagon by the General Accounting Office.

A Chicago firm is paid a fee for managing the cafeterias. A renewal of this contract isn't likely. Instead, the Government is slated to take over the operating job. Pentagon officials are reported to have rejected an offer of Government Services, Inc., and other concerns to take over the eating places. GSI operates cafeterias in many Federal buildings.

"Whatever we do about the cafeterias," a Pentagon official said, "the arrangement must have the approval of the General Accounting Office, Treasury, and Public Buildings."

NO PAY CUTS: The Civil Service Commission has handed down an important ruling on the classified pay-reclassification bill which the President will sign into law this week. It decided that the salaries of more than 75 Federal employes who are now paid more than the $14,000 maximum provided in the bill won't be cut by it.

Involved are these among others whose salaries have been fixed by special laws: 45 civilian scientists in the military agencies, 10 in the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, five Agriculture employes, and three in Central Intelligence. Salaries up to $15,000 are being paid these employes.

Civil Service has ruled that the new classification bill won't supersede the special laws even though most of the employes paid up to $15,000 are under Civil Service.

RFC: Its employes are covered by the classified pay bill but it will be several months before their salaries are affected by it. The bill gives the Civil Service Commission six months to reallocate RFC jobs to the classified pay scale.

RFC employes are now paid under a so-called executive order pay scale, and the corporation itself is converting its job to the classified scale. Some few officials are unhappy about the change-over because they are fearful of lower ratings and salaries under the classified system.

JOBS: Civil Service has exams open for window washer, $2152 a year; foreman of laborers, $3024, and patent adviser, $3727 to $6235.

Police Seize Two Boys in Stolen Car After Chase

Inmates of Training School Out on Pass Sideswipe Two Cars In Escape Effort

Two 17-year-old boys, inmates of the National Training School, were arrested by Montgomery County police yesterday after a three-block chase in Silver Spring. Officers said they were driving a stolen car.

Pvts. Paul Jackson and Coy Moorefield said they noticed the auto on the wrong side of an island in the Georgia ave., underpass, and began to pursue it. They said the boys in the car sideswiped two others and attempted to wreck the police car in their efforts to escape. They finally were forced to the curb and seized.

At the Silver Spring station, the officers said the boys admitted being on a one-day pass from the institution. They admitted, the officers said, that about 2:30 p. m., they broke into the Handley Motor Co., at Piney Branch rd., and Georgia ave. nw. There, the officers said, the boys took 40 cents from a filing case, the automobile, and two sets of license tags.

The two officers said the boys admitted they are serving sentences for housebreaking, and were due back at the Training School at 6 p. m.

2-Year-Old Run Over by Father's Car

A 2-year-old boy was in Providence Hospital yesterday as result of head injuries suffered, police said, when his father accidentally backed a car over him in the yard of their home.

He is Robert, son of Cecil Mosier, 5401 Belt ave., Bradbury Park, Md. He was reported not in serious condition. His father took him to the hospital, then reported the accident to police.

One of five students at the University of Virginia, was removed yesterday to Georgetown University Hospital from Fredericksburg, Va., where the five were first taken after their car crashed off a road near Orange, Va., Saturday night.

Rukeyser Is Hurt

He is Merryle Rukeyser, jr., 18, of New Rochelle, N. Y., son of Merryle Rukeyser, financial writer. He was reported in good condition at the hospital last night.

The others, all at Mary Washington Hospital, Fredericksburg, were James C. Miller, 19, son of Maxwell V. Miller, Larchmont, N. Y., in serious condition; Timothy Sheahan, jr., 23, of Deal, N. J.; William Fusco, 19, son of Joseph R. Fusco, Upper Montclair, N. J., and Alan D. Reinach, 18, son of Samuel A. Reinach, jr., of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Two persons were injured yesterday in a collision of two cars at Worthington dr. and Newport st., in the Westmoreland Hills, Md., area. They were Eugene C. Densen, 43, of 5305 Marlyn dr., Glen Mar Park, Md., taken to Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, suffering from a concussion; and Irene L. Hall, 58, 5516 Worthington dr., taken to Georgetown Hospital suffering a possible leg fracture, cuts, and bruises. Miss Hall was a passenger in the auto of Gertrude Misel, 52, of 4617 Chesapeake st. nw., who was uninjured in the collision.

Mrs. John Hopkins of 4301 Mahan rd., Silver Spring, an expectant mother, suffered head injuries in a three-car collision yesterday. She was taken to Suburban Hospital. Montgomery County police said the three cars crashed when a bus ahead of them stopped to discharge passengers at Georgia ave. and August dr., Wheaton, Md.

Three-Car Collision

A car was overturned and five persons were injured in a three-car collision last night on Route 1 near Dumfries, Va., State police reported.

In car No. 1, northbound, were four soldiers from Fort Belvoir. That car upset. The driver, Corpl. Joseph Reynolds, suffered a fracture of the left arm and after treatment at Fort Belvoir Hospital was transferred to Walter Reed Hospital. The others, Corpl. John W. Evans, 26; Pfc. Sanford Johnson, 40, and Pvt. Huialpha Terry, 24, were treated at Fort Belvoir for cuts and bruises.

In car No. 2, driven by Marine Sergt. William Page, 25, of Quantico, were his wife, Carolyn, and her father John Stanfier of Baltimore. Page suffered a fractured right arm and cuts. He was taken to the Naval Hospital at Quantico. The other two were uninjured. State troopers said. Driver of the third auto, they reported, was William A. Shelton of Wytheville, Va., also uninjured. Cars Nos. 2 and 3 troopers stated, were southbound at the time of the accident.

'So Off Went Peter Into the Woods to Shoot the Wolf'

By Jack Lartz—The Washington Post

REACTION—A trick double-exposure shows 9-year-old John Hagan's reaction at two points as he listens to the Arlington Civic Symphony play Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," along with the story of Peter's daring venture. At left, Jan Tomasow, guest conductor, quiets the strings as Peter sets out

TUNING UP—Three sisters, Marylyn, 10; Jeannette, 5, and Verie Colby, 7, of 1830 N. Quebec st., Arlington, listen as 'Cellist Bernard Hanshew tunes up before yesterday's concert for children. 'Cellist Leon Saylor is in the background

Big Bad Wolf All Tied Up By Our Pete

By Seymour Fishbein
Post Reporter

The wolf came snarling out of the forest, big and gray and hungry. He was a bad 'un.

And there was the little duck, helpless and succulent.

The wolf pounced, swallowed hard and the duck was gone. Just like that.

But that old wolf wasn't through yet. He cornered the cat and Peter's buddy, the bird, in a tree and man, were they ever as scared. It was a rough spot for our side, sure enough.

Because, there was Peter locked in his yard by his cautious old grandfather, helpless to rescue his pals.

But he'd fix that ol' wolf's wagon yet, you just knew it.

Now we're getting some action. Up Peter shinnies to the tree's overhanging branch, carrying a rope with him.

While the bird flies temptingly around the mean beast's head, flip goes the rope and that wolf's tail is lassoed tighter'n a rusty nut. That's our boy, Pete.

Well, pretty soon the hunters come raging out of the forest, all loaded down with guns.

But they're just a little too late because Pete has that wolf in the bag.

It's all smiles with pretty music when Peter marches Mr. Wolf down to the zoo.

But wait, can't you hear that poor duck quacking in the wolf's belly? Gee, that's too bad—

And that's the way it was yesterday at Washington-Lee High School where some 2000 children sweated out the adventures of Peter and the Wolf during the Arlington Civic Symphony's first children's concert this season. Jan Tomasow conducted.

Two Candidates For Arlington Race Air Views

DeLashmutt, Cox State Stands for Women Voters but Bechtel Is Silent

By Judy Spivak
Post Reporter

The stands taken on major issues by two of the candidates for Arlington's pivotal county board seat were made public yesterday by the Arlington League of Women Voters.

The Democratic incumbent, Basil M. DeLashmutt, and his nonpartisan opponent, Robert W. Cox, answered in detail questions asked them and Independent Jacob Bechtel by the league on various issues. Bechtel has not replied, the league said.

The seat at stake in the November 8 election will spell either Democratic control of the board, if DeLashmutt is reelected, or a shift of power to the nonpartisan group, if Cox wins. The four board seats not at stake are divided evenly between the Democratic and nonpartisan members.

Questions posed by the league and excerpts from the replies follow:

Improvement Needs

Q. How do you favor financing the longrange capital improvement needs of Arlington?

COX: "Most general improvements such as . . . purchase of park and playground land should be financed by voter-approved long-term bond issues . . . Certain other types of improvements such as swimming pools and a stadium should be on a self-liquidating or revenue bond basis."

DELASHMUTT: "The people turned down a bond program for capital improvements (two years ago). As a result, Arlington is currently having to carry out its capital improvement program on a pay-as-you-go basis . . ."

Q. To what extent should the county board participate in assuring equalization of tax assessments?

COX: "A board of equalization should be established (by the county board) and a professional assessor employed. . . ."

DELASHMUTT: "The county board is currently providing for an equalization of taxes by the employment of experts from the Department of Taxation who are reviewing . . . county assessments."

Q. What method do you favor of financing construction of a sewage disposal plant in Arlington?

COX: "Financing of our water and sewage disposal systems should be combined . . . (in which case) current operating requirements and financing of capital expansion (of both systems) could be carried by receipts of the water fund. by receipts of the water fund."

DELASHMUTT: "Whether or not (sewage and water) departments are combined, I believe issuance of bonds to provide for sewage disposal expansion will be necessary."

School Operations

Q. What methods do you propose for meeting additional costs of operation and maintenance of new school buildings? If additional taxes are needed, would you vote for an increase?

COX: "If I found, after considering all possible sources of revenue, that a property tax rate increase would be necessary (for school funds) I would vote for such an increase. . . ."

DELASHMUTT: "My policy (is) meeting all necessary costs by increases in the school tax rate."

Q. What land acquisition policies for parks and playgrounds do you favor?

COX: "I favor immediate application of a program of land acquisition for parks and playgrounds."

DELASHMUTT: "I favor the long-range recreational program now being developed by our recreation division . . . (and) . . . acquisition of land while still available to carry out a program of neighborhood and area playgrounds."

Utility Regulation

Q. What can the county board do to help regulate public utilities in the citizen interest and should the County Public Utilities Commission be given sufficient funds to carry on continuous studies of public utility rates and structures?

COX: "The county board . . . should . . . continuously seek to find out . . . the facts with respect to gas, electricity, telephone, bus and milk rates and service . . . should publicize these facts (and) institute proceedings to obtain relief where needed. (It) should employ a utility rate expert on a regular basis."

DELASHMUTT: " . . . I favor continuation of (county board's) initiating action for the review of public utility rates, whenever recmended to the board by its Public Utilities Commission.

Q. Can the cost of operating and maintaining the county government be reduced and at the same time provide first class services?

COX: "The village or semi-rural governmental facilities and services we currently enjoy should cost less than they do . . . First class governmental services would cost more than we are spending now—but we are a long way from such services."

DELASHMUTT: " . . . The cost of operating and maintaining county services is already at an irreducible minimum . . . "

In Arlington

Candidates Face Heavy Calendar

Candidates in the Arlington races for one seat on the County Board and two in the House of Delegates will continue a lively schedule of political talks this week.

For the county board seat, incumbent Democrat Basil M. DeLashmutt is challenged by nonpartisan Robert W. Cox and independent Jacob Bechtel.

Registration Set In Montgomery

New residents of Montgomery County, or those not previously registered may make themselves eligible to vote, in the next 12 days, through services of supplementary boards of registration.

The boards will register eligible persons at the county buildings in Bethesda and Silver Spring, beginning today, and continuing through November 5. Office hours will be from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m., and 6 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Persons who register must be 21, American citizens, must have lived in Maryland one year and in the county for six months prior to the next general election in November, 1950. To take part in the primary election in September, 1950, a voter must designate his party affiliation.

Suspect Faces Trial Today in Cell Beating

An Alexandria man who allegedly assaulted his cellmate shortly after his arrest as a robbery suspect will be tried in Alexandria Police Court today on charges of robbery and assault.

Detective Inspector Russell A. Hawes said Douglas Pearson, 27, of 304 N. Alfred st., attacked a fellow prisoner Saturday after his arrest on suspicion of robbing Army Sergt. Bohdad Sabkiv of Fort Belvoir, Va., earlier the same day.

Shortly after Pearson's arrest his cellmate, Randolph W. Rogers, 24, 1317 King st., was found dazed and bleeding during a routine check of prisoners. Rogers told Pvt. Robert Harlow that Pearson had attacked him for "no reason whatsoever."

Rogers, who had been jailed on a drunk charge, was treated at Alexandria Hospital, where three stitches were required to close a wound over his right eye.

To Speak Tonight

Dr. Kurt Friedrick Leidecker, professor of natural science and philosophy at the Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia in Fredericksburg, Va., will address the D. C. Anti-Vivisection Society at 8 p. m. tonight at the Raleigh Hotel.

Bullis Prep Boys Arrested After Brawl

Seven Bullis Preparatory School students, five of them reportedly members of the football team, were arrested on disorderly conduct charges early yesterday after what police termed a "free-for-all" outside a Silver Spring restaurant.

The boys, according to Montgomery County Police Pvts. James Ebess and Donald Dement, were arrested around 12:30 a. m., after they became involved in an altercation with Milton E. Stottlemyer, 20, an ex-Marine, of 12 E. Franklin st., Silver Spring.

No charges were placed against Stottlemyer who, police said, was thrown to the ground during the fracas.

The Bullis students claimed, however, that no blows were struck, and that Stottlemyer actually had been annoying them. The students said they had obeyed police orders to move, but had halted to look at Stottlemyer when he fell.

Each of the youths posted $27.50 collateral with Justice of the Peace William Jobes, at Bethesda, for a hearing in Silver Spring Police Court November 1.

The students were identified as Bradley A. Bassett, 18, of New Haven, Conn.; Paul F. May, 18, Brookline, Mass.; Irvine K. Hayward, 18, Charleston, S. C.; Nelson Shugart, 18, Morton, Pa.; Norman W. Brandeberry, 18, Kansas City, Kans.; Joseph D. Foley, 18, Coronado, Calif., and John V. Garland, 19, Norfolk, Va.

Police said Bassett, May and Shugart told them they were members of the varsity football team, while Brandeberry and Foley said they were members of the "B" squad.

In Hotel Room

Sleeping Pills Held Cause of Man's Death

John J. Rooney, 32, of 3424 B st. se., died at Gallinger Hospital early yesterday after, police said, he apparently had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets in a downtown hotel room.

Mrs. Anne Rooney, his wife, said he telephoned her from the hotel shortly after he registered there Saturday night. She called back the hotel, and a house officer went to the room, entered, and found Rooney unconscious. A note to his wife, and a partially emptied bottle of sleeping pills were nearby.

Mrs. Rooney said her husband had been in ill health since 1945, and recently was operated on for a brain tumor. Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, District coroner, withheld a death certificate pending completion of chemical analyses.

Mrs. Rooney said her husband was born in Brooklyn, but reared in Washington. He attended Roosevelt High School and later worked for a time in executive positions with the Loew Theater Chain here and in Richmond. He served as treasurer of the Capitol Theater and assistant manager of the Palace theaters here at various times. Later, he was with the Remington-Rand organization, she said, but has not worked since 1947.

Beside his wife, Mr. Rooney is survived by a daughter, Patricia Anne, 6; his mother, Mrs. Romaine Rooney; and two sisters, Mrs. Grace Via and Mrs. Romaine Newman, all of Washington. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

County Seeks Cause in Man's Fire Death

Prince Georges authorities last night were continuing investigation into the death of James Gordon, 31, who was fatally burned in a fire Saturday night.

Gordon was found after firemen extinguished a blaze in a two-story frame and cinder block house at 6227 Lee pl., Cedar Heights, Md., which was wrecked by the flames.

Volunteer firemen from Seat Pleasant, Capitol Heights, Hillside and Boulevard Heights fought the blaze more than half an hour.

Gordon, truck driver, ordinarily sleeps at the West Brothers Brick Yard, but was occupying a room belonging to another man.

An unidentified motorcyclist attempted to pull Gordon through a window, but was forced back by the flames.

Prince Georges County Policeman A. J. Lindsay last night was questioning friends of Gordon in an effort to determine whether there was foul play. Dr. John T. Maloney, county medical examiner, withheld the certificate pending the completion of the investigation.

Paul Anderson, 26, who jumped from a window to safety, said he was awakened by smoke.

D. C. Restaurant Group To Hold Open Meeting

The Washington Restaurant Association invites the general public to its one open meeting of the year tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Roosevelt Senior High School Auditorium, 13th and Upshur sts. nw.

Featured will be a film, "America's Heritage of Hospitality," which describes the restaurant business from the early days in colonial Williamsburg. J. Willard Marriott, president of the Hot Shoppes, will speak.

Man Arrested On Woman's Attack Charge

Police arrested a 33-year-old man early yesterday on complaint of a 36-year-old housewife that he had attacked her in an alley when he ostensibly was showing her the way home.

The woman lives in the 100 block of 4th st. ne. and said that about 2 a. m., she became lost near B and 4th sts. ne. She said she inquired directions of the man and he volunteered to guide her to her home. Instead, she said, he took her to an alley in the rear of the 100 block of 3d st. se., where the alleged attack took place.

A passerby, attracted by the woman's shouts, pursued but lost the man. Police subsequently picked him up. Detectives said the woman showed no signs of violence having been used and that they will present the case today to the United States Attorney's office for decision on possible charges.

Society Plans Service Awards to Youth Again

The District of Columbia Recreation Society will present gold trophies again this year to the boy and girl who have given the most outstanding service to recreation in the District between October 1, 1948, and September 30, 1949, it has been announced.

The awards were made last year for the first time, and winners participated in the lighting of the national community Christmas tree on the White House lawn, an honor which society officials hope to duplicate for this year's winners.

The trophies will be presented at a special luncheon meeting of the Recreation Society next month.

Georgetown U. Gets Papers From Wagner

Navy Creates Forrestal Fellowships

The memory of the Nation's first Secretary of Defense will be honored through a series of research fellowships at the United States Naval Academy for the study of the relation of sea power to air and land power.

The academy is launching a campaign to finance the James Forrestal Fellowships for this study, Rear Admiral J. L. Holloway, academy superintendent, has announced.

The fellowships are intended, according to Admiral Holloway, to attract scholars to Annapolis to draw conclusions from the wealth of records there and in Washington.

Fellows will be encouraged to publish the findings from their studies, he said, but added there will be no pressure for quick results.

Academy heads envisage the project as an opportunity for stimulating exchange of ideas between its permanent faculty and scholars from other institutions.

The academy is glad to lend its facilities because of the worthiness of the project and also in order to share in the results of the research, said Rear Admiral J. L. Holloway, jr., superintendent. It is hoped that the academy will become a recognized research center for military history, he said.

Since no Government funds are available for the fellowships, the Navy is asking public contributions. The sum of $75,000 was said to be required to provide for one fellow for five years.

Contributions to the fellowship fund should be sent to the superintendent at the Naval Academy, Annapolis. Checks should be drawn to the Treasurer of the United States.

Fellow New Dealers, Government and labor union dignitaries joined in tribute to former Senator Robert F. Wagner yesterday as his private and public papers were formally presented by his son to Georgetown University.

Several years of illness forced Wagner's retirement earlier this year after 23 years of pioneering social legislation as a Democratic Senator from New York.

At ceremonies in Georgetown's Gaston Hall, the Senator's son, Robert F. Wagner, jr., turned the papers over to the Very Rev. Hunter Guthrie, S. J., president of the University.

Also taking part in the ceremonies were former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews, George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the AFL James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Myo.) acted as chairman.

More Than 300 Files

The collection consists of more than 300 file cabinets of letters, speeches, memoranda, cartoons, movie film and recordings, Wagner said.

In accepting the papers, Father Guthrie said: "It is our desire that the full and beneficent fruit of these documents be made freely available to qualified researchers irrespective of race, creed, color or institutional affiliation."

Meany saw the papers as "the historic record of a legislative revolution — the priceless source material for students who will want to learn how Senator Wagner and the great liberal leaders associated with him emancipated the masses of the American people from economic bondage and social serfdom."

Great Contribution

Carey called the career of the former New York Senators, who came here as a German immigrant in 1885, as "typical of the tremendous contributions which the countries of Europe and other continents have made to this country."

Governor Lehman recalled his association with Senator Wagner and said "even if these papers dealt with the Wagner Labor Relations Act alone, they would be an invaluable source of information for students of the role of labor in a free society—but they are far more than that—they are the life record of a great and beloved public servant."

In a letter to Father Guthrie, Senator Wagner stated, "I deem it appropriate that the documentary evidence of a sincere and constant effort to implement, in our times, the principles of the Bill of Rights, should reposed in the Archives of the university which was founded in the year of the ratification of the Constitution."

Cathedral Fund Group To Hear Talk by Grew

The Hon. Joseph C. Grew will address members of the Washington Cathedral fund campaign organization at their second luncheon report meeting Tuesday at 12:30 p. m. in the YWCA, 17th and K sts. nw.

At their first official report luncheon last Tuesday, $21,151 of the $50,000 area goal was reported. The drive is for $375,000. Mr. Grew is cochairman of the national drive.

3000 Alumni Due at Md. U.

The University of Maryland's annual homecoming celebration this Saturday is expected to attract about 3000 alumni.

The day will be highlighted by the Maryland-South Carolina football game and the Homecoming dance in the evening.

Meetings and reunions of alumni associations in the various schools and colleges will start at 10 a. m. Activities will include reports of the year, and the election of new officers.

A parade, made up of the University band, the South Carolina band, two high school bands, a score of floats, and convertibles carrying Homecoming Queen candidates, will make its way through the campus at 11 a. m.

Governor W. Preston Lane, jr., will be the guest of honor, and will crown the Queen between halves of the game.

Autographing Party

An autographing party for Mrs. Veronica Dengel, author of "Personality Unlimited," "Hold Your Man," and "Figure Fitness in Fifteen Days," will be held from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in Brentano's Pentagon bookshop.

Ewin L. Davis, 73, Succumbs; Funeral Services Set Today

Trade Commission Member Suffered Stroke in July

Ewin L. Davis, 73, a member of the Federal Trade Commission and a former judge and Democratic Representative from Tennessee, died yesterday at the Naval Hospital in Bethesda.

He had been ill since July, when he suffered a stroke.

Commissioner Davis, whose home here was at 2150 Wyoming ave. nw., was first appointed to the Trade Commission by President Roosevelt in 1933. He was reappointed by Roosevelt and again by President Truman in 1946. He served as chairman in 1935, 1940 and 1945.

A graduate of Columbian Law School here, now the George Washington University Law School, he was a judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit of Tennessee from 1910 to 1918.

He then was elected to the House of Representatives for seven consecutive terms.

His death has made the third vacancy on the Trade Commission which President Truman will have to fill this year.

A native of Bedford County, Tenn., Commissioner Davis was the brother of the late Norman H. Davis, former ambassador and one-time head of the American Red Cross.

He was admitted to practice in the courts of Tennessee and the District of Columbia, as well as the United States Supreme Court, and was a member of the American, District, Federal and George Washington bar associations.

Commissioner Davis received the George Washington University Alumni Achievement Award for notable achievement in law in 1945.

He was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He was also a thirty-second degree Mason.

. . . FTC member dies

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today at his Wyoming ave. nw. home, with Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, officiating. The body will be taken to Tullahoma, Tenn., where burial services will be held at 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Carolyn Windsor Davis; five children, John Windsor Davis of 1201 Woodside pkwy., Silver Spring, Md., Mrs. Margaret Davis Taylor of 1612 34th st. nw., Mrs. Ewin Davis Williams of the Wyoming ave. address, Latham Shoffner Davis of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Carolyn Davis Parrish of Washington, and 12 grandchildren.

Also surviving are three brothers, Paul Maclin Davis of Nashville and Thurman Jefferson Davis and Lamont Davis of Tullahoma, and a sister, Mrs. Christine Davis Goetz of Nashville.

In Memoriam

A booklet of 101 "In Memoriam" tributes suitable for publication is now available without charge. Remembrances for all members of the family and for friends are included. The booklet may be obtained at the front counter in the Post building, by telephoning your request, or by writing to the Washington Post Classified Advertising Department, Washington 4, D. C.

Crispin Oglebay

Cleveland, Oct. 23 (AP)—Crispin Oglebay, 73-year-old industrialist, banker, philanthropist and sportsman, died today.

Oglebay, who began his career as a clerk in Kansas City, Mo., after graduating from Yale, was chairman of the board and director of Oglebay, Norton & Co., one of the largest operators of iron ore properties, Great Lakes vessels and lakes dock facilities.

He had about two dozen horses the best known being Lock and Key, Noble Impulse, Air Hero, Level Best and Courtney. Lock and Key won the $10,000 Chevy Chase Handicap Thursday at Laurel, Md.

E. S. Purse Rites to Be Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Edward S. Purse, 77, salesman for Lansburgh and Brothers department store for many years, who died Saturday, will be held at noon Tuesday at Foundry Church (Methodist), 16th and P sts. nw.

Mr. Purse, who had been a salesman in the fabric department of Lansburgh's for 26 years, died Saturday night at Gallinger Hospital after a brief illness. He lived at the Albemarle Apartments, 1830 17th st. nw.

A native of Columbia, S. C., he came here about 35 years ago. He was a member of Foundry Church and of Pentalpha Lodge No. 23, F. A. A. M.

Surviving him are a brother, Lewis P. Purse and a niece, Mrs. Margaret McDonald, both of Columbia.

Gunman Robs Taxi Operator; Flees in Cab

District police last night were seeking a heavily mustached gunman who robbed a cab driver of $19 and also took his taxi late Saturday and then abandoned his victim in Arlington near the Shirley hwy.

William L. Towles, 23, 1318 Saratoga st. ne., reported he picked up the "fare" at 14th and L sts. nw., and after driving to a restaurant on the Virginia end of the 14th st. bridge, was forced at gunpoint to proceed along the Shirley hwy. to the Dolly Madison School. After ordering him to drive behind the school, Towles said, the gunman took his money, forced him out of the cab and drove away.

He described the holdup man as being about 30 years of age with brown wavy hair, a ruddy complexion and having a bushy mustache. The missing taxi, one of the Diamond fleet, is numbered 582, Towles said.

2 Boys Witness Armed Holdup At Delicatessen

Two boys got the thrill of their lives last night as witnesses at an armed holdup of the West End Delicatessen, 2007 M st. nw.

Milton McDonald, 7, of 2018 M st. and James Johnson, 11, 1150 20th st., were in the store, watching a television show and munching candy. A customer, who had asked for soda pop and ice cream, stuck a blue steel revolver into the stomach of Albert B. Steerman, proprietor, and said, "Give me your money, or I'll blow you in two."

The bandit scooped up the contents of the cash register, and told Steerman not to follow him or call the police. But he didn't tell the boys, who tailed him up the street, and saw him board a southbound bus at 20th st.

Pvt. Phillip N. Wagoner and Pvt. Robert V. Carr, who investigated, said the bandit was a Negro, about 24, more than 6 feet tall.

Peace Prayers Said by 1500 at Cross Service

Prayers for peace in Palestine and the world were offered by more than 1500 persons at services in the crypt of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at Catholic University last night.

The services were held in connection with the end of a five-day visit here of the Cross of Jerusalem, containing what is said to be a piece of the True Cross. An estimated 15,000 persons have venerated the relic here. It will be taken to Chicago today.

In a sermon at the service, Dom Thomas Becquet, Belgian Benedictine monk who is accompanying the cross on a tour of the world which began in Jerusalem, called for help for Palestinian refugees.

Forum for Laymen

For the third successive year, Dominican priests will conduct a school of theology for laymen at 8 p. m. on Tuesdays, beginning this week, at McMahon Hall, Catholic University. Such subjects as faith, justice, fortitude, and vocations will be discussed at the forums.

Mrs. Emily Hughes Collins, Pioneer Army Nurse, Dies

Mrs. Emily Hughes Collins, 78, a pioneer Army nurse, died yesterday evening at Doctors Hospital after a short illness.

She was one of the first nurses sent to Cuba in the Spanish-American War in 1898. When the regular Army Nurses Corps was organized, she transferred to that organization, and served in the Philippines until 1904 when she married Col. Robert L. Collins, now deceased.

In World War 1, she served in Washington.

Mrs. Collins, a resident of Washington for the 15 years, lived at 2701 Connecticut ave. nw.

Funeral services will be announced later.

Novaes Gives Chopin Fine Treatment

By Richard Keith

Guiomar Novaes, veteran concert pianist, opened Patrick Hayes' piano series yesterday afternoon at Constitution Hall with an all-Chopin recital.

Chopin's music has such personal and intimate qualities that it is almost impossible for any one individual to be completely satisfied with any other individual's interpretation of it. Realizing this, Mme. Novaes played as if she were playing for herself alone; she eschewed any attempt to put herself over by force or fireworks. As a result, she seemed to draw the audience to her music instead of sending the music to them.

The first half of the program was devoted to the Impromptu in F sharp, the Fantasie Op. 49, and the 24 preludes. To the deeply introspective Impromptu, Novaes gave a delicate intensity which at times was almost too beautiful to endure.

The Fantasie Opus 49 wins first prize among fantasies for aimless wandering. Yesterday's artist did her best to make it hold together and certainly did better than most.

The preludes of Chopin contain some of his finest writing and most of them show off his unsurpassed genius for saying something briefly and yet profoundly. Mme. Novaes brought out the distinct and peculiar individuality of each of them, taking plenty of time with the brooding ones and tripping deftly through the rapid ones.

The Sonata in B flat minor made up the second half of the program. This was played [illegible] and in good taste although in bravura passages, a little more bravura would have been welcome. She managed beautifully with the lyric section of the Funeral March which can so easily descend to the maudlin depth of "Hearts and Flowers."

Esther Crane Law Review Editor at GW

Esther Crane, of 1724 Lamont st. nw., has been appointed editor-in-chief of the George Washington University Law Review, the second time that a woman has succeeded to the post.

Miss Crane

Selected from seniors with the highest scholastic average, Miss Crane was named from a student body of approximately 1600 at the George Washington University Law School.

On her staff are four other women, one of them a Wave veteran who is the mother of three sons.

As editor of the Law Review, Miss Crane will carry on its traditions of being the only law school publication in the United States devoted exclusively to State and Federal Public Law.

Has B. A. Degree

Miss Crane, who received her B.A. degree from the University's Columbian College in February, was enrolled at the same time in the Law School under the combined degree program.

She was graduated from the Aztec (N. Mex.) High School in 1939 and was employed by the New Mexico Bureau of Internal Revenue and the Office of Price Administration.

In 1945, she was transferred to Washington as assistant to the National Director of Local Boards of OPA, a position she resigned when she enrolled at George Washington University.

The other woman officer on the Review is Mrs. Ruth C. Breslauer, of 1204 Mississippi ave. se., who will be taxation notes editor. She is a graduate of Calvin Coolidge High School.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Freret of 2 Accotink rd., Alexandria, Va., is one of three other women on the staff. A former Wave officer, she has three sons, Payne, 4; Charles, 3, and Norman, 2. Her husband, Julian Freret, is an attorney with the Federal Communications Commission.

The other women on the staff are Mrs. Kitty B. Frank of Hagerstown, Md., and Miss Mary Alice McConnel of Jacksonville, Fla.

Austrian Art Arrives for Exhibit Here

The Washington Post

PRECIOUS CARGO—Discussing plans for unloading the collection of Austrian paintings and art objects which arrived here yesterday aboard the U. S. S. Malabar, are left to right: Comdr. Keith Merrill, in charge of bringing the collection to America; Lieut. Comdr. John D. Garland, commanding officer of the Malabar; Dr. Ernest H. Buschbeck, of Vienna, curator of paintings, and Dr. Erich V. Strohmer, also a curator

With probably the most precarious cargo of art ever brought to the United States at one time, the refrigerator ship USS Malabar arrived yesterday at the Naval Gun Factory.

The treasures aboard are to have their first American showing at the National Gallery of Art for two months starting November 20. From Vienna, the paintings and other art objects are being shown here through the courtesy of the Gustrian government.

On hand to greet the vessel when she tied up at 1 p. m. were Col. Harry A. McBride, administrator of the National Gallery; Hans Thalberg, secretary of the Austrian Legation; Mrs. Keith Merrill, whose husband was aboard, and Naval Gun Factory officers.

Cargo Caused Anxiety

On the Malabar were Commander Merrill, in charge of transporting the collection from London, where it was shown at the Tate Gallery; Dr. Ernst H. Buschbeck, curator of paintings, and Dr. Erich V. Strohmer, curator of sculptures and other objets d'art, both of Vienna.

"Wonderful trip," everybody said. "Three storms, but he skirted them."

"We had a maximum roll of 32 degrees and a maximum wind velocity of 40 knots," supplemented Lieut. Comdr. John D. Garland, the skipper. The vessel, 330 feet over all, with a 50-foot beam, left Portsmouth October 7.

Asked if he was nervous about his cargo, Garland said, with a twinkle, "Well, considerable thought was given to it.

'University of Shoring'

"The shoring up of the cases in the hold is really the highest degree of shoring up I have ever seen in my life," said Buschbeck happily. "It is really the university of shoring!"

Buschbeck and Strohmer have been traveling with the collection during its exhibition in various European capitals, and previously have taken it across water to Stockholm and London.

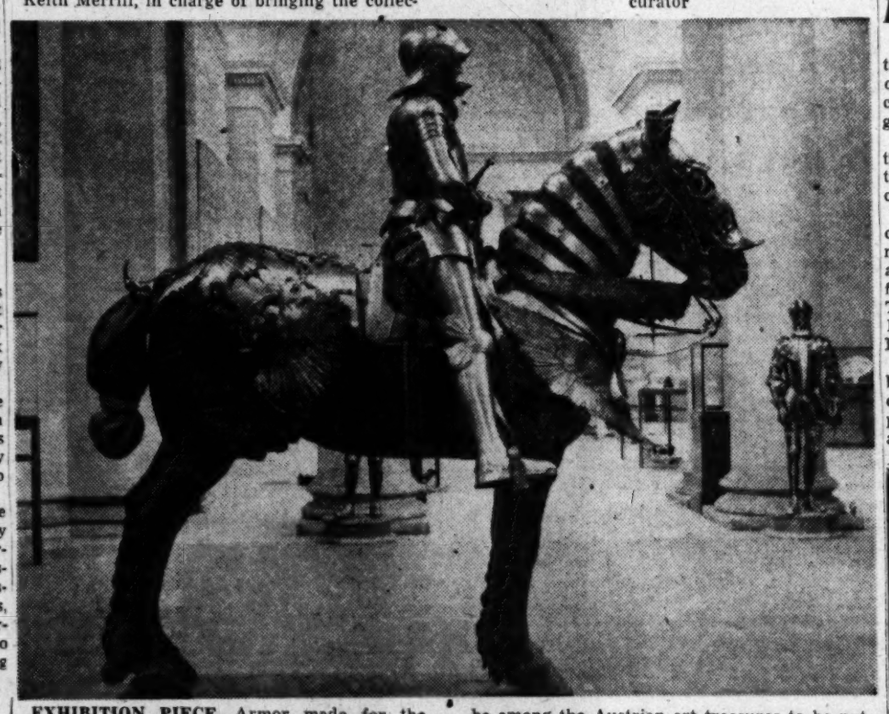
In the hold of the Malabar are 101 cases containing paintings by Rubens, Tintoretto, Titian, Vermeer, Giorgione and other old masters, as well as sculptures, tapestries, Greek and Roman antiquities, work of goldsmiths and silversmiths and armor. Only other cargo is some household effects belonging to Naval personnel.

Brother-in-Law of Patton

Unloading is expected to be completed today, when the cases will be transported to the national Gallery in vans.

Transportation of art treasures is not new to Commander Merrill, brother-in-law of the late General George Patton. Merrill, who has a home in Prides Crossing, Mass. and another in Fairfax County, superintended transportation of the Michelangelo's "David" from a Florentine museum to the National Gallery of Art, where it was shown in January, and also the German-owned old masters shown at the gallery in March and April, 1948.

Nearly a million persons saw the 1948 exhibit. The Austrian-owned collection is considered richer in interest.



EXHIBITION PIECE—Armor made for the Emperors Frederick III and Maximilian I will be among the Austrian art treasures to be put on exhibit at the National Gallery Nov. 20

Gets Reply From Women's Congress Red Front Charge

New York, Oct. 23 (NYHT).—The Congress of American Women, in a statement issued tonight by its president, Mrs. Muriel Draper, said its sole aims were promotion of world peace and economic welfare and announced its intention to continue that work.

The congress was called a Communist front organization Saturday in a report by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The report characterized the congress as "another Communist hoax . . . to ensnare idealistically-minded but politically gullible women."

The statement, which Mrs. Draper said was made on behalf of the entire organization, did not undertake to reply specifically to the charges in the House committee report. It bitterly condemned the manner of public release of the attack, maintaining the organization did not even know it was under scrutiny and was given no chance to reply.

Area Bridge Teams Win Two Trophies

By Marian Barre
Post Reporter

Two major bridge trophies were won by Washington area teams in the 19th annual District of Columbia Bridge Tournament which wound up last night at the Shoreham Hotel.

Winners of the team-of-four contest for the Eynon Bowl were James G. Stone, 1924 Park rd. nw., Col R. H. Skinner, 707 Tennessee ave. Alexandria, Va., Comdr. W. A. Poissant, 1427 Martha Custis dr., Alexandria and David Murray, of Washington.

Saturday night, the major District title for open pairs was taken by Col. R. H. Skinner, 707 Tennessee ave., Alexandria, and Lewis G. Tubbs, 846 Oakland st., Arlington.

In second place were two Philadelphia stars, Mrs. R. C. Young and David Warner. In third position were Fred L. Karpin, 1435 Montana st. ne., and Ralph Spritzer, 1731 New Hampshire ave. nw.

Brief to Oppose Segregation In Dining Cars

The National Lawyers Guild today will file a "friend of the court" brief in the Henderson case involving segregation of Negroes on railroad dining cars.

The Guild takes the position that "complete equality of facilities and segregation can coexist only in fiction not in fact."

The Government already has called on the Supreme Court to reverse the 50-year-old doctrine approving "separate but equal" facilities for Negroes and whites. The case is due to be argued in December with a decision not likely until next spring.

The Guild declares the separate but equal doctrine is "a product of fallacious reasoning and an improper approach to the fourteenth amendment.

Brazilian Pianist Feted at Embassy; Editor Fleur Cowles Visitor Here

By Marie McNair

BRAZIL'S Ambassador, bachelor Mauricio Nabuco, entertained at a reception yesterday for a distinguished compatriot—Mme. Guiomar Novaes, famous pianist, following her concert at Constitution Hall. And he also introduced to his friends yesterday his sister—Miss Carolina Nabuco, who arrived only a day or two ago, and will be hostess for her brother as long as Washington can persuade her to stay.

Like Mme. Novaes, she's one of her country's outstanding women. Her recently completed biography of her father, the late Joaquin Nabuco, one time Ambassador to the United States, is now in the process of being translated into English from her native Portuguese.

Mme. Novaes took no time to rest after her program at Constitution Hall, but came on immediately to the embassy, in the black satin gown and purple orchid on her shoulder that she had worn when she played.

Not a large party—there couldn't have been more than 100—I could look around the dining room for what's new in hats.

There was tiny Senora de Dillon, wife of the Ecuador Ambassador, with the new gamin haircut topped with a tiny black velvet hat set far back on her chestnut locks. There was Rosa Ponselle in brown with a brimmed brown hat covered in a fish net veil, which wrapped about her throat. Miss Ponselle came came over from Baltimore with Mrs. Ral Parr, in severe black; and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rosoff, dividing themselves up as weekend guests of Mrs. Thomas R. Cowell and George Williams. Mrs. Rosoff's pert face was framed in a maize colored felt bonnet tied with a draw string at the back. Margaret Cowell was more on the tailored side, so was Mrs. Philip Strong in dark blue with wings shooting heavenward from her little blue hat.

A white bird trimmed Mme. Vladimir Rybar's black hat which she wore with a trim black velvet suit, and Mrs. Rahel Fitch's wide brimmed number moved with difficulty through the crowd.

Saw Mrs. Constantine de Stackelberg, just back from Paris, with a hat she had just unpacked—the brim slashed and dipped down at the side. And Mrs. Edgar Morris in a silver blue mink cape over her dark frock wore a high pale blue hat with matching feathers tipped in silver beads.

Joaquin Elizalde, Philippine Ambassador was there and, Joseph C. Grew, our former Ambassador to Japan; Gen. and Mrs. Philip Fleming.

Howard Mitchell, conductor of the National Symphony, and Mrs. Mitchell, made a foursome with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Snow, and others were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rediker, just back from their honeymoon; Col. George Howard, conductor of the Air Force Band; Miss Bertha Joseph who prefers to go hatless, and Paul Murphy of the Pan American Union.

Mrs. Paul C. Daniels, wife of the United States Ambassador to the OAS, was there with Mrs. Du Wayne Clark, whose husband is Chief of the Division of Brazilian Affairs of the Department of State.

And then—Behren Dryber and Walter Wilds, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State, with Bonnie Wilds pretty in a blue hat; and the Robert LeBarons—he's just been appointed chairman of the Defense Department's Military Liaison Committee to the Atomic Energy Commission.

FLEUR COWLES—Mrs. Gardiner Cowles, jr.—whose magazine "Flair" is to make its debut in January, is weekending in Washington, will speak to members and guests of the Women's National Press Club today.

A success at everything she touches, Mrs. Cowles was once a partner in a New York advertising firm, was in Washington three years ago as adviser to President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee. Last night Mrs. Cowles gave a supper party at the Carlton Hotel for old friends and she herself was entertained by Drew Dudley at dinner at the Sulgrave Club on Saturday.

Paul Hoffman, Administrator of ECA, and Mrs. Hoffman, were at the party last night and also guests were the Swedish Ambassador and Mme. Boheman, the Swiss Minister and Mme. Bruggmann, Justice and Mrs. Felix Frankfurter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Senator and Mrs. Clinton Anderson.

With Mrs. Cowles is her houseguest in New York, Miss Barbara Ward, foreign editor of the London Economist who was awarded honorary degrees at both Smith College and Fordham University last week.

And—more guests were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Graham, the Richard Wilsons and Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Riefler.

Georgetown Concert Group Sets Series

The Georgetown Concert Group, Washington's newest musical organization will give its first concert November 17 at Western High School. Mrs. Gerhard van Arkel is chairman of the committee; Mrs. George Oakes secretary, and Miss Peggy Glassford treasurer. Other committee members are the Countess Jellicoe, Baroness Alwina de vos von Steenwijk, Mrs. William Castle, Mrs. Philip Alonso, Mrs. de Sparre Tait, Mrs. John Warwick Daniel 3d, Miss Mary Park Clemmins, Mrs. Mortimer Thompson, Miss Terry Thompson, Mrs. John Kelly, Miss Judith Knight, Joseph Foster, John Corcoran, Ross de Matteo, Everett Stevens, Brian Stonehouse, Lieut. Col. Lyle Brookover and Lieut. George Williams.

The concert group, a nonprofit, tax-free organization, composed of budget-minded music lovers, plans a series of 12 concerts. Although membership at $12.50 is open to anyone interested, once the series starts, the concerts will be closed to the public.

The idea is a brainchild of Martin Hiden, graduate of the University of Virginia, who launched successful evening concert groups in Charlottesville and Waynesboro last year, and who is following up with series in Richmond and Middleburg this year.

The plan is to make outstanding artists available to everyone for less than the price of a movie. Artists include an instrumental trio of Reginald Kell, world-famous clarinetist and two members of the Albeneri Trio. Giorgio Crompi, violinist, and Erich Itor Kahn, pianist, on November 11, Alexander Schneider and Ralph Kirkpatrick, violin-harpsichord duo; Shura Dvorine, pianist; Stefan Auber, cellist; the Juilliard string quartet; Barbara Troxell, soprano; Esther Glazer, violinist; Howard Jarratt, tenor; Margaret Tolson, pianist; John Jacob Niles, folk singer, and the National Gallery Orchestra in a concerto program with Stanley Weiner, violinist.

Concerts will start promptly at 8 p. m.

COMING over from Baltimore for the concert and reception in honor of the famous Brazilian pianist were left to right, Mrs. Ral Parr, Miss Rosa Ponselle, former Metropolitan opera star, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rosoff

Sacred Heart Convent Alumnae To Give Benefit Dance at Sulgrave

The Alumnae of the Convent of the Sacred Heart has issued invitations to a supper dance to be given at the Sulgrave Club on Friday evening, November 18. Proceeds will go toward the scholarship fund. The Washington Sacred Heart Alumnae group is unusual in that it is not limited to those who attended this convent. Since the population of the District is so transient it is open to all who have attended a Sacred Heart Convent anywhere in the world.

Mrs. Peter Grogan is chairman of the committee, which consists of Mrs. Robert Coffee, Mrs. Joseph Dugan, Mrs. L. Howard Kerns, Mrs. Joseph Stanley, Mrs. Raymond Clark, Miss Lois Gannon and Mrs. August Kramm.

Last year's supper dance was a huge success and was enthusiastically attended by Washington society.

Among the many patrons for this year's affair are Gen. and Mrs. William E. Cole, Judge and Mrs. Richard Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Murphy, Dr. Raymond Holden, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Dent, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Cotter, Mrs. David J. Dunigan, Col. and Mrs. James Totten, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phelan, Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Smith, jr.—she's president of the Alumnae—Mrs. Alberto Lais, Mr. and Mrs. John Dabney Morris and many others.

TO HUSBANDS whose Wives are going through "CHANGE OF LIFE"

No question about it! A woman going through "the change" is often a real problem. Nervous, tense . . . depressed one day, cranky the next . . . it's enough to drive a man almost crazy!

But take hope, Mister! If your wife is just a "bundle of nerves" because of functional upsets, tell her about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Developed by a prominent doctor, this famous uterine sedative has been used by over 7 million women, often with remarkable results. Taken regularly, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts as a tonic to help build up resistance and calm jittery nerves. It may be just what your wife needs to make her feel "like herself" again.

Ask your druggist today for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. 36 tablets, 50¢. Liquid, $1.00.

Mlle. de Saint-Didier To Marry Baron

Of interest to Washington is the announcement of the engagement of Mlle. Ghislaine de Saint-Didier, of Paris, to Baron Gilbert de la Chapelle d' Uxelles. The bride-elect is the daughter of Maj. Gen. A. M. Brossin de Saint-Didier, head of the French Military Mission in Washington during the war, and Mme. de Saint-Didier.

Margarita Spencer Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Spencer of Bethesda, Md., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margarita, to Joseph K. Emmet, son of Mrs. J. K. Emmet, jr., of Tarrytown, N. Y., and the late Mr. Emmet.

Miss Spencer is a graduate of Dunbarton College of Holy Cross and received her M. A. degree in Greek at Catholic University where she taught as a graduate assistant. At present she is a member of the faculty of the classics department at Howard University.

Mr. Emmet is a graduate of La Salle Military Academy. After serving in the Army Air Force he attended St. Peter's College and studied with the speech and drama department of Catholic University. This winter he will tour with the University Players in "Much Ado About Nothing."

MRS. JOHN FRANCIS PALMER HILL, whose wedding took place October 8 in the Chapel of the Centurion, Fort Monroe, Va., is the former Miss Joan Whitney Arnold. She is the daughter of Maj. Gen. (retired) and Mrs. Archibald Vincent Arnold of Cranberry Lake, N. Y. The bridegroom, an Army lieutenant colonel, is the son of Mrs. John C. Hill of Brookline, Mass., and the late Mr. Hill. General Jacob L. Devers was best man for Colonel Hill, his former aide.

Miss Whitehead, Maxwell Mayo, To Be Married

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Whitehead of Plainfield, N. J., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Anne Whitehead, to Maxwell Garfield Mayo, son of Mrs. Maxwell Garfield Mayo, of Erie, Pa., formerly of Washington, and the late Mr. Mayo.

Miss Whitehead is a member of the Plainfield Junior League and is a graduate of Smith College.

Mr. Mayo served overseas with the Seventy-first Infantry Division. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Princeton University, Class of 1945, where he was a member of Cap and Gown. He is now at the Princeton University Graduate School of Architecture.

AAUW Urges Curricula Reforms

FUTURE college training should be more closely related to post college living. It should be broader, more rounding, more flexible. These are the two main advisory recommendations of 30,000 members of the American Association of University Women.

The suggested improvements came as the result of a survey conducted by AAUW to determine the value of college education in later life. It was a poll of individual opinions and will be followed up by group reports.

Questions posed were "In what way do you feel that your college education is of value in your life today? In the light of your later experiences, what kinds of improvements or changes would you suggest?"

Study of Present Stressed

LESS THAN one percent said their college training was of no value. Some courses were criticized as "too academic" and "too far removed from reality." Many answered that they would prefer "less high-powered theory," "less studying of the past, more of the present." "In my opinion, the day of learning for the sake of learning seems clearly in the past," said one woman.

One who majored in French commented, "I think too much emphasis is put on the classics and not enough on the problems ahead in life." A course in child care with real children would have been more helpful than reading Chaucer, opined another.

Still others averred, "My training did not prepare me to earn a living and I think it should have."

According to the report AAUW members think skills for community leadership should be developed such as how to lead a discussion and preside over a meeting; how to write different ways to suit different purposes.

Other Opinions

SEVENTEEN percent of those who made suggestions urged broad, flexible training, more freedom in the selection of courses. and 12 percent of those mentioning limitations in their own college training wish they had "a more rounded background" and a chance to take the courses they really wanted.

"As I see my children return home each vacation I am reminded more and more that we are living in a machine age and colleges have taken on a factory attitude," wrote many members. "There is no time to develop reason or time for planning for the future. Every ounce of energy goes into memorizing the textbook . . . the student comes out in a daze."

Answers further revealed that AAUW members believe the development of the student's whole personality is vitally important along with the academic side. College women should not be unprepared for careers as wives and mothers. They should have some opportunity to elect a course in nutrition entailing some chemistry, without majoring in chemistry. Some opportunity should be offered for courses in child hygiene, without majoring in child study. Also, there should be more emphasis on courses that would help us live in this world with others.

Where to Buy Cans for Shipping

We are wondering if you might know of some place in town where we could obtain metal cans with air-tight screw lids, about 2 quarts in capacity, which would be suitable for shipping powdered skim milk overseas. J. G. R.

I have not been able to find any store where screw top metal cans can be purchased. Perhaps you could put the milk powder into the sort of metal can in which molasses is purchased. After the lid has been tightly pushed down, you could pour melted paraffin around the crack to insure an airtight seal. Or, you could seal the crack with colorless finger-nail polish.

I wonder if you know that some health food stores sell whole powdered milk already sealed in metal containers especially for shipment overseas? One store which sells it can be reached by calling Columbia 2980.

I have recently purchased a rug in a very light green shade. I have been cleaning it periodically with a product on the market but find that in rubbing it into the rug, as directed, it tears the rug loops. Is there a liquid cleaner which would satisfactorily clean the rug? What is the best cleaning method for light colored rugs? Please give me some pointers on the care and cleaning of rugs. B. S.

I am inclined to think that the appearance of loose ends in your rug is not due to the rug cleaner, but is a condition occasionally found in new rugs called "shooting." When a loose end appears in a new rug just cut it off even with the surface of the pile. It will not injure the rug or shorten its life. If, however, the problem persists after 6 months to a year I suggest you discuss it with your rug dealer.

Also, all new carpets shed little balls of wool fluff for the first 6 months to a year. This is nothing more than the loose fibers from the manufacturing process working out of the pile. Sometimes it seems so heavy that one thinks all of the pile will eventually work loose, but actually it has been estimated that not more than one hundredth of the wool is lost by fluffing. As with "shooting" this fluffing should disappear when the rug is 6 months to a year old.

I would not advise attempting to clean a room-sized rug with a liquid cleaner. Since the rug is light, if it is very soiled it would be difficult to clean it without leaving spots and streaks. And to get it thoroughly dry is a real problem. So when the rug needs a good all-over cleaning, I suggest you turn the job over to a professional.

For the regular cleaning, use a good vacuum sweeper. Once a week, spend 10 to 15 minutes vacuuming the rug completely to remove sharp grit which sinks down in the pile and cuts the fiber. At this weekly cleaning be sure to go over every inch of the rug, especially in dark corners and under furniture. By thoroughly going over the rug every week you will remove any moth eggs and larvae which may be present and prevent damage from that source.

With a thorough cleaning once a week, over the rug daily with a carpet sweeper to remove surface dust, crumbs and threads will probably be all that is necessary to keep it in good shape. It should not be necessary to clean the rug with a powder more often than three or four times a year.

Onetime Post Carriers on Football Trip

Allen Sturges, Shot in Head, Clings to Life

Houston, Oct. 23 (AP).—Allen Thomas Sturges, 26, New York cafe-society figure, clung to life today many hours after he was found shot through the head in a bedroom here. His condition was critical.

Detectives said Sturges attempted suicide.

Four hours before police say the shot was fired—at 5 p. m. (CST) yesterday—the New York Journal-American called the Associated Press in New York and reported it had been tipped that Sturges had tried suicide. The Journal-American declined to say where the tip came from.

Brownsville, Tex., officers had been seeking Sturges on charges of removing a mortgaged automobile and of check swindling.

Los Angeles court records showed Allen T. Sturges was fined $500 in 1945 after pleading guilty to robbing the home of Actor Bruce Cabot of $1500 in jewelry. He was placed on five years probation and ordered to leave California.

Sturges was found in the bedroom of pretty Miss Marion Yturria, 23, airline employe. Officers said he apparently broke into the house in Miss Yturria's absence. Miss Yturria said she met Sturges only last Tuesday.

One of three notes was addressed to Miss Yturria. It expressed endearments and regrets. A second named his mother as Mrs. A. T. Sturges of New York, stated he was born at Midland Park, N. J., March 3, 1923, and that he was "known by all newspapers in New York."

The third purported to be a will, leaving all of Sturges' possessions to his mother and directing his body be cremated.

The family attorney in New York City, Elmer M. Olson, said Sturges' mother is Mrs. E. N. Taveniere, widow of a former New York banker.

Olson said Sturges was a wartime flier in the Pacific, but was given a medical discharge for mental and nervous disorders.

Oldest Post Carrier Sees 'Skins Lose

At least one of the several thousand Washingtonians who travelled to Philadelphia for the Eagles-Redskins football game yesterday "wasn't particularly disappointed in the Redskins' showing.

Frank W. Vedder, of 231 Massachusetts ave. ne., is 82 years old and was seeing his first football game. He admitted his lack of disappointment as the Redskins lost, 49-14, may have been because he "couldn't tell one team from another."

Vedder and six other old-timers, winners of a contest by The Washington Post to ascertain its oldest living carrier boys, in connection with National Newspaper Boys Day, were guests of The Washington Post on an all-expense paid trip.

With them on a special train were between 700 and 800 present-day carriers of The Washington Post, most of them more familiar with football and all of them noisier than their elders.

Vedder delivered The Washington Post in 1884 when he was 17 years old and thus ranked as the oldest carrier. His companions, all over 60, were:

Edward J. Taylor, 64, of 624 F st. ne., a retired Federal employe.

Samuel W. Taylor, 69, of North Beach, Md., who served The Washington Post about 1890.

William E. Fowler, 67, of 4502 Emerson st., Hyattsville, a carrier from 1889 to 1896.

Charles Hettinger, 63, of 428 Pershing dr., Silver Spring, Md. He started as a carrier in 1898.

A. M. Friedrichs, 77, 3625 Ordway st. nw., a carrier for The Washington Post from 1886 to 1889.

S. L. Duryee, 69, of 129 6th st. ne., an employe of the Army Engineer Corps.

"I find that football is an amazing game," Vedder said last night. "A great deal of skill seems to be attached to the game. But the thing that astonished me most of all is the size of the young men who participate in it.

"Never in my life have I seen so many huge men gathered together in one place. I will wager that there are no vegetarians among them."

As the patriarch of the occasion Vedder felt that he could speak for every carrier, past and present, of The Washington Post.

"We feel," he said enthusiastically, "that The Post was most generous to all of us. Little did I anticipate this trip 65 years ago when I delivered The Post."

Norse 'Relic' In Minnesota Called a Fake

Moorhead, Minn., Oct. 23 (U.P.).—The never-ending controversy over the Kensington Runestone, which the Smithsonian Institution accepts as evidence Norse explorers discovered America before Columbus, flared anew today.

J. A. Holvik, Concord College professor has concluded the relic is a fake. He said he has real evidence to substantiate his claims.

In a letter to Dr. Harold Cater of the Minnesota Historial Society, Holvik contended evidence supports the conclusion that the stone was blank when unearthed near Kensington, Minn., in 1898 by a farmer clearing land.

He says the farmer, Olaf Ohman, carved the Runic inscription purportedly dating the stone back to 1362 He says Ohman was a man "of unusual learning and interests" and carved the stone "for motives which can only be guessed at now."

Holvik has submitted to the society a scrapbook and history book he says he received from Ohman's widow. Both he contends, were in Ohman's possession in 1898 and contain two Runic alphabets with all the Rune characters appearing in the stone's inscription.

Holvik says the society has on file a document that is supposedly the first copy of the stone's inscription, but actually is an early draft of the one Ohman intended to put on the stone.

A defrocked Swedish pioneer pastor, Sven Fogelblad, may have helped Ohman Holvik believes, although he is not sure just what part Fogelblad played.

Dr. Whipple to Speak

Dr. Dorothy Whipple, author of "Our American Babies," will address the second of a series of seven weekly lecture-discussions to be presented at the Jewish Community Center, 16th and Q sts. nw., Thursday at 8:30 p. m., in conjunction with the Washington Board of Rabbis.

Radio 'Hams' Contact Member in Africa

Though approximately 4000 miles separated them, several members of the Washington Mobile Radio Club had a reunion by air yesterday with another member who is in French Morocco.

The group consists of amateur radio enthusiasts who have transmitting and receiving sets in their automobiles. They held an outing along Skyline Drive in Virginia and made the contact from there.

It was intended to hold a tactical exercise on a simulated communications emergency in Washington, but atmospheric conditions interfered.

The member now working in Africa is Walter H. Johnson, formerly of 1609 30th st. se. First to contact him by air was Thomas Bohon of 3249 23d st. se. Others who talked with him later were Lieut. Comdr. G. P. McGinnis of Kensington, Wilbur C. Nyberg of 608 Woodlawn ave., Falls Church, and F. I. Phippeny of 647 Carroll ave., Takoma Park. During the trip, members also reached radio amateurs in Puerto Rico and England.

Robeson Bust Placed

Moscow, Oct. 23 (AP).—The Soviet Youth newspaper Komsomol Pravda said today a group of Kirgizian mountain climbers has placed a bust of American Negro singer Paul Robeson atop the 13,000-foot central Asian peak the Russians named for him earlier this month.

"Don't be silly . . . I'm not crowded at all!"

The Lyon's Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK.—Marion Hargrove, who bought a New City country home with the profits from his "See Here, Private Hargrove" book and movies, is selling it to another eminent former GI, Bill Mauldin. "I had too much land, and Mauldin had too much money," Hargrove explained, "so we swapped. Maybe in 10 years or so we'll swap back." . . . Hargrove, who has rented the former home of Oom the Omnipotent at Nyack, was describing the expense of owning a country home. A friend who saw him operating the new jeep station-wagon he had bought asked how it worked. "Fine, fine," said Hargrove. "I could turn this around on a dime—if I only had the money."

There's a "No Politics" sign up at the rehearsals of "The Father" because Raymond Massey, star of the show, is campaigning for Newbold Morris and coproducer Robert Joseph is an O'Dwyer commissioner and son of the Democratic candidate for controller . . . Moses Hyman, the 79-year-old artist who started with Dana's Sun, where he illustrated Richard Harding Davis' stories, is having a one-man show at 12 E. 88th st. . . . In Beverly Hills last week Jack Warner, Sam Goldwyn and Harry Kurnitz were given a testimonial dinner by a charity group to which they had contributed. "What kind of an award would you like?" they were asked, and Kurnitz suggested: "My idea of an award is to give me my money back."

When Nehru visited the United Nations, Carleton Smith asked how long he thought the present international crisis would last. "Not long," said Nehru, "not more than a generation or two" . . . Then Nehru said: "The conflict will be won by those who deliver the goods. And by The Goods, he added, "I mean the spiritual and cultural goods" Nehru mentioned his hopes for an art program involving the interchange of artists. "There is a vast ignorance concerning people in other lands," he said, "the differences in temperament and psychological approach. I do not believe that all people should eat and dress and live alike. And I'm for any endeavor which recognizes and explains these differences."

Philippe Halsman, whose photographic interview of the French comic, Fernandel, in "The Frenchman," is climbing on the best-seller lists, spent only 50 minutes with his subject.

Miracle Match Box

A quarter, one of those small matchboxes that hold the small Swedish-type matches and a youngster who likes to mystify his friends and relatives are the three ingredients of the simple trick known as the Miracle Match Box.

The quarter is slipped in between the bottom of that part of the box that holds the matches and the part that slips over it. The performer, with the proper spiel about the magic qualities of his box then assures his audience that no matter how the box is thrown, it always will land right side up.

It is possible that if the box is thrown too high, too often the quarter will slip out and give the trick away. A drop of glue put on the coin just before slipping it in between th two parts of the box usually will take care of this problem.

RARE DUCK

Q. Because a particular species of duck was growing scarce, the United States and Canada specified in a treaty that this kind of duck would not be fair game during certain months. Congress enacted a law putting in effect the treaty. Hunters in State A contend that the Federal law is unconstitutional and that they have a right to hunt the ducks anytime they wish, because their State law says so. Are they correct?

A. Exclusive power to make treaties is delegated to the Federal Government by the States. The making of the treaty does not in itself establish law. The treaty has to be ratified by the Senate, and laws passed by Congress executing the agreements of the treaty. Here, the treaty having been approved and the requisite laws having been passed, they take precedence over the laws of State A, if the subject of the treaty is valid.

Since the subject is one of national interest, requiring joint action of two or more nations, the treaty is valid, and the citizens of State A must bow to the Federal law . . . F. L. D.

Cases discussed illustrate general principles. They should not be construed as legal advice in particular cases. Take your local problems to your lawyer.

In Every Way

I want to be your special friend . . . In every way I know . . . And do the most I can for you . . . Wherever you may go . . . To comfort you in sorrow and . . . To praise you in success . . . And multiply the moments that . . . Provide your happiness . . . I want to change your sky of gray . . . To one of gold and blue . . . And in so many other ways . . . To help your dreams come true . . . For that is what a friendship means . . . To those who are sincere . . . Beyond the portion of a day . . . Or part of any year . . . To be unselfish in our hearts . . . And, by each word and deed . . . To recognize each glory and . . . To serve in every need.

Boy's Ambition Changes With the Times

When I was small my Daddy said:
"Be smart, and stay in school;
"Some day you may be President;
"Don't shirk and be a fool."

Who wants to be a President?
No fun; just work and sleep.
I'm fond of kissing pretty girls;
I'd rather be a Veep.

M. O. Kerr,

"Two adorable housebroken 9-week-old kittens; their mother was pure-bred Siamese." (Glebe 6613.)

"Four adorable Maltese kittens, 5 weeks old." (Appleton 0922.)

"Year-old mother cat, excellent ratter, and five Persian kittens." (Tuckerman 0368.)

"Two male kittens, 3 months old; one light gray, one striped tabby." (Lockwood 5-8455.)

ACME

WRC Announcers Holly Wright and Kennedy Ludlam were standing at 14th and New York ave. nw. about 7:20 the other morning when President Truman strode by, accompanied by three weary Secret Service men.

The President gave the boys a cheery hello, and continued on his morning constitutional.

That evening, Holly came home itching to tell somebody the big news. He was met by his 9-year-old daughter, Jessica, and her 8-year-old playmate, Joann Miller, of 1527 Fort Davis st. se.

"Guess who said hello to me today," began Holly. But the girls couldn't guess. So the quizmaster gave them a typical radio hint.

"A very important man," prompted Holly. "Who is a very important man?"

"No, no," said Holly, "much more important than Mr. Lewis. In fact, the fellow I'm talking about is the most important man in the whole country."

"Oh," thrilled the girls in unison. "Hopalong Cassidy!"

MAIL BAG

Dear Bill:

If Tony Wakeman calls Gulf Stream "Golf" Stream this year, I'm gonna commit mayhem or something.

As a former resident of Florida, it irks me when a radio announcer who is supposed to be an authority on pronunciation persistently mispronounces a simple word like "Gulf."

Elisabet M. Stone
Churchton, Md.

Dear Liz:

Tony should be duly grateful to you for supposing that he is an authority on pronunciation. I suspect that his listeners will accept either Gulf or Golf, so long as he pronounces those mutuels properly. Bill

P. S. It looks like the Lizzy Stone League for the Abolition of Long Skirts finally made its weight felt, eh?

QUITE A DIFFERENCE

M. O. Coleman of 520 7th st. se. wonders why the dictionary says that "satisfied" and "content" mean pretty much the same thing. He points out:

"My wife is satisfied that she won't get as much money as she'd like to have on my next payday; but she is not the least bit content about it."

VAGRANT THOUGHT

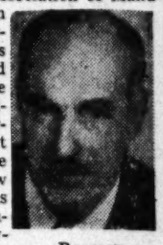
NAM Finds Brannan Plan Good

By Drew Pearson

The last pressure group you would ever expect to support President Truman's Fair Deal is the National Association of Manufacturers. In fact, if the powerful NAM says anything good about the White House, it's headline news. However, believe it or not, but the NAM is now sending its members a confidential analysis of the most controversial feature of the Fair Deal—the Brannan farm plan—putting it in a favorable light.



Pearson

Though not yet off the press, preview copies have been sent to several NAM members along with a letter explaining: "Many, even though they recognize the importance of the Brannan plan, nevertheless found it too abstruse for ready understanding. To help remedy this, the NAM research department has done a painstaking analysis of the plans, objectives, operations, etc."

Here then is what the NAM says about the Brannan plan:

"Qualified persons have pointed to several apparent advantages in using the Brannan plan to support farm income. They emphasize its directness and simplicity of method, fairness of the period 1939 to 1948 as a starting point for an income base or 'yardstick,' encouragement to continued high-level production of nutritional foods, logical classification of storable and nonstorable farm products, 'orderly marketing' provisions, financial coverage of farm groups hitherto inadequately provided for in farm programs, and its importance to national security.

Brannan Weaknesses

"On the other hand, several weaknesses in the plan are apparent. These shortcomings mainly concern the objective of trying to narrow the gap between farm and nonfarm income, the price distortions present in the period of years selected as the starting point for an income base or 'yardstick,' the unsoundness of attempting to project these distortions into the future, the discretionary power to alter prices dictated by the pricing formulas of the plan, the lack of built-in flexibility in the pricing formulas, and the practicability of again resorting to subsidies, production controls, marketing controls and other techniques of manipulation designed to implement the support of farm income . . ."

Then the NAM proceeds to answer some of these criticisms.

"From the standpoint of those who believe that agricultural prices must be maintained at near wartime levels in order to keep agriculture healthy," the NAM diagnosis continues, "the choice of the base period 1939 to 1948 is a logical one. Considered from this viewpoint, it must be pointed out that only with the price relationships existing in these years were farmers as a group in a position to lift their social and financial standards from the depths to which they fell following World War I.

"It was the level of income from 1939 to 1948 that enabled farmers to correct many of the maladjustments that were said to be depressing agriculture in the preceding 20 years. With this income, mortgage debt was reduced, housing and living conditions improved, more machinery and efficiency in farming operations were introduced, the number of tenant farmers was substantially reduced, schools, roads and other transportation facilities serving farmers were expanded and improved."

More Farmers Helped

The NAM report also points out that past price supports have chiefly aided a few basic and storable commodities. The Brannan plan, on the other hand, would help a much broader group of farmers.

It would support, the NAM continues, "income of the producers of most of the nonstorable commodities such as meat, dairy and poultry products and fruits and vegetables. Thus, the plan would extend financial assistance in times of stress to a large and important segment of the agricultural industry that has so far probably not been adequately provided for in the basic farm programs of the country. In this respect, the Brannan plan would probably be more closely integrated with the entire farm problem than has been the case with the farm programs in past years."

The NAM report also points out that "the Brannan plan would likely encourage and perhaps expand the operation of several farm enterprises important from the standpoint of national security. . . . It should be noted that if national security is to be an important part in the farm program of this country, the Brannan plan would, if operated as designed, provide a more integrated program for directing the use of this country's soil and farm resources, than has any previous farm program, even in times of war."

On the $64 question—cost of the Brannan plan—the NAM is cautious, but believes the cost "would approximate three and one-half and four and one-half billion dollars exclusive of administrative costs. . . .

"Although the Brannan plan so far does not contain a defined limit of cost within which it would operate," says the suprising NAM report, "Congress could, through appropriations, exercise a continuing control over the expenditures made under this or any other program for supporting farm prices and income."

Do YOU Brush
121,630 HAIRS
Each Morning?

NATURE provided your scalp with the structure necessary to grow 121,630 hairs (average). You kept this amount of hair until dandruff, scalp itch, or other local scalp ills made it difficult for your scalp to replace hair which was lost.
Your scalp needs sound help if it is to maintain its "quota." For 25 years The Thomas' have been helping others to get rid of dandruff, stop abnormal hair-fall, and promote natural hair growth. Thomas can help you, too, to retain your hair or stimulate hair growth. Call today for a free scalp examination.

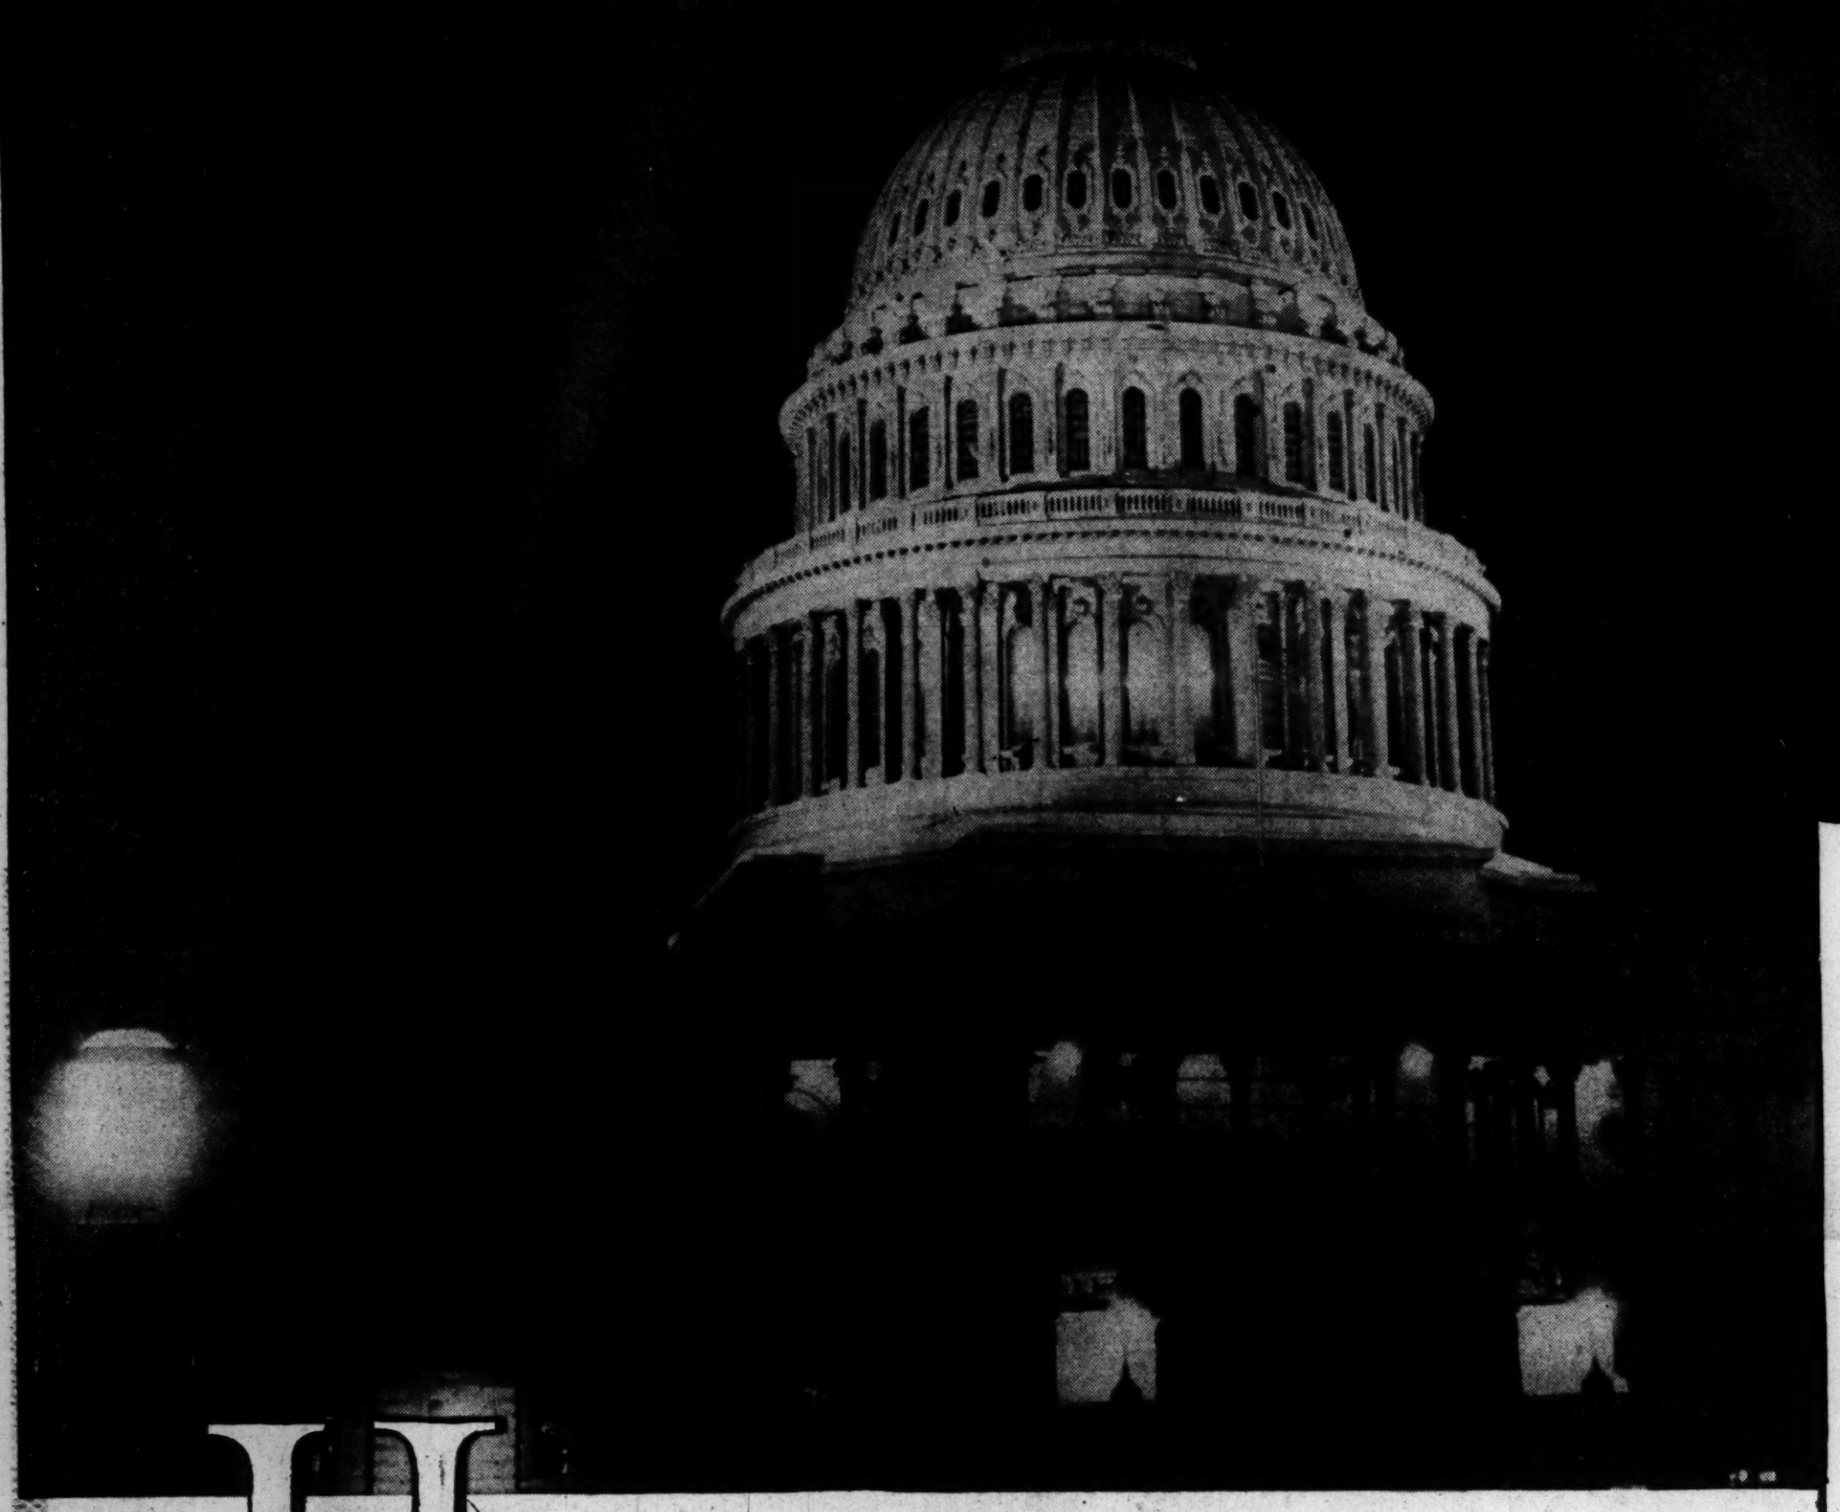
LIGHT UP FOR PEACE



TODAY IS

United Nations Day

IN COMMEMORATION OF THE FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE UNITED NATIONS

THE LIGHTS YOU WILL SEE in the sky tonight are for peace and freedom. They're a reflection of the new hope that stirs in the heart of mankind . . . a hope born of the United Nations' efforts to create a better life for everyone . . . a larger freedom so that peoples the world over can worship God as they see fit, speak their minds without fear, print the truth without censorship . . . make peace the normal condition of the world, and banish force as a means of solving international dispute.

TONIGHT AT 7:45 P. M., in accordance with proclamations by the President of the United States and the D. C. Board of Commissioners, the city will be ablaze with lights to climax Washington's salute to the United Nations. Join this celebration by turning on all lights visible from the outside . . . in your homes, offices, your places of business. We were blacked out for war . . . NOW, let us LIGHT UP FOR PEACE.
